

FRANCE SEEKS REALIGNMENT OF THE ALLIES TO CURB HITLER

Foreign Minister Laval Makes Statement to Deputies Who Vote 555 to 9 for Italian-African Accord.

PARLEY OF THREE POWERS TOMORROW

Officials to Discuss German Rearmament on Eve of Departure of Sir John Simon for Talks With Hitler.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.) PARIS, March 22.—Pierre Laval, Foreign Minister, told the Chamber of Deputies today that France "seeks to regroup the Allies" to curb Germany.

The Deputies followed his statement by approving the Franco-Italian African accord by the unusually top-heavy vote of 555 to 9. (The accord, signed on 9 in Rome by Laval and Premier Mussolini, exchanged certain colonial territories in Africa, provided for a purely lateral accord on Central European questions, and included a consultative pact.)

"France is strong and will not give up," Laval told the Deputies. "France is not the whole deck but it is the principal card in the game."

Laval, with Premier Flandin and most of the other Cabinet members present, turned the ratification of the treaty into a kind of Franco-Italian fiesta to celebrate the end of "15 years of misunderstanding."

Deputy Franklin-Bouillon sharply attacked the Government's settlement as "too generous" but Laval defended it with the assertion that nothing important had been surrendered.

Laval called Mussolini "his friend" and said co-operation between the two countries was necessary for peace, but Franklin-Bouillon reproached the Government for allowing the country to think that "England had failed to keep her word," saying that the truth was that the declaration of London, entered into by France, "legalized German aviation" and England was merely seeking to get Germany back into the League of Nations.

The French note to Berlin, said Franklin-Bouillon, "makes that return to the League impossible," adding, "the restoration of conscription is Germany's declaration of war to the civilized world."

Laval said: "Nothing in the Rome accord infringes the sovereignty of Ethiopia which is guaranteed by the Franco-Anglo-Italian treaty."

Three-Power Parley Tomorrow. Laval in constant consultation with the British and Italian Ambassadors in preparation for tomorrow's tripartite conference in Paris. The conference is expected to provide an opportunity for a thorough review of the elements of the Franco-Italian-British policy on the eve of the departure of Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, for talks with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Berlin.

It is understood the projected conference in Northern Italy among Laval, Simon and Premier Mussolini will be held earlier than originally planned. It is said the ministers are not likely to await the return of Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, from Moscow and Warsaw, which he will visit after accompanying Sir John to Berlin.

Anxiety to draft a common plan of action before the extraordinary session of the Council of the League of Nations to consider France's charge that Germany's action "threatens to disturb international peace" was given as the reason for advancing the parley.

French Troops Moved. Louis Felix Maurin, Minister of War, told the Chamber of Deputies' Army Committee yesterday that the general staff was prepared to cope with an outbreak of hostilities, although no such eventuality is immediately expected. Maurin said adequate garrisons had been assembled at forts near the Rhine; that troops from other frontiers had been moved to strategic points to facilitate quick movement, and that the manning of vital places was assured.

Maurin said Germany was speeding up the production of war materials and had purchased large stocks of foodstuffs abroad to be stored for military use. He said the Reich's military program would be completed in the spring of 1936.

The Chamber of Deputies, meanwhile, passed a bill authorizing a supplementary appropriation of 10,558,000 francs (about $1,200,000) to increase enrollment premiums for long-term soldiers.

Powers the right to a navy at least equal to the size of Italy's and possibly comparable with that of France, according to reports naval circles received today from Berlin. The present German navy totals about 150,000 tons with 26,000 tons now building. Italy has about 370,000 and France 350,000 exclusive of vessels now being built. The reports were that the Reich desires a fleet of at least 375,000 tons, possibly more.

Great Britain leads in naval tonnage with 1,160,000, with the United States in second place with 1,000,000 tons.

The information received here is that Reichsfuehrer Hitler will inform Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, and Capt. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, when they confer with him in Berlin next week that Germany must again become a major sea power.

Simon's Speech in Commons. "A system of select and special combinations, for assistance against the danger in our midst," Simon said in the House of Commons last night, was certain to be the alternative if it proved impossible to return Germany to the councils of Europe.

Simon added, however, he had strong hopes such a necessity would not arise as the alternative was one for which Great Britain has no enthusiasm since it is opposed to special pacts of the sort.

"It is scarcely necessary to say," he said, "that we are not contemplating any special agreement between this country and any other."

If the Berlin negotiations succeed, Simon said, he hoped Germany would be persuaded to participate in a general conference of the Powers for conclusion of conscription security pacts guaranteeing peace.

Eden Going to Paris Tonight. Capt. Eden will fly to Paris tonight to represent Great Britain at the three-Power conference with France and Italy tomorrow. His mission will include an attempt to mollify French wrath over what was termed England's "capitulation" to Germany following Reichsfuehrer Hitler's thunderclap announcement of German conscription.

Eden will ascertain the French and Italian views on the current crisis and at the same time pave the way for his and Simon's interview with Hitler starting Sunday.

The seriousness and difficulty with which Simon views the task of discussing European security with Hitler was made plain by him in the House of Commons when he said: "Nobody is less tempted than we are to magnify in advance the possibility of good results."

The attitude with which news of Germany's refusal to entertain the French and Italian protests against her armament policy first was received was alleviated somewhat today.

The Times editorially chided France for her ire against Great Britain's more moderate policy, noting with profound satisfaction that Great Britain "should be pursuing a strong independent policy of mediation" and commending Simon's determination to carry out the original plan of conferring with Hitler.

"It is highly desirable," the Times said, "that the tragic blunder of drifting into a one-sided settlement should not be repeated."

The Morning Telegraph likened Simon's Berlin visit to the "momentous visit of Lord Haldane in 1911."

"On that occasion," the newspaper said, "the secret of the new German fleet law was first confided to the British representative."

RICHBERG NAMED ACTING CHAIRMAN OF N.R.A. BOARD

Appointed to Succeed S. Clay Williams in Reorganization Increasing Personnel to Seven.

PHILIP MURRAY IS NEW LABOR MEMBER

William P. Witherow, Steel Man, Also Is Added—A. D. Whiteside Tenders Resignation.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Donald R. Richberg was appointed acting chairman of the N.R.A. late yesterday in a reorganization by President Roosevelt. He succeeds S. Clay Williams, whose resignation became effective today.

The appointment was announced after President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and other labor leaders visited the White House.

Green said the power of the administration appeared to be back of the campaign to extend NRA's life and that labor would give a "full measure of support." Though Federation officers have been critical of administrative acts and interpretations under the Blue Eagle, they said they stood with President Roosevelt in insisting on keeping NRA.

Two Members Added to Board. The reorganization increased the N.R.A. board's membership from five to seven, adding one labor leader and one industrialist. Besides Richberg, the board now includes Philip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, and William P. Witherow, Pittsburgh steel manufacturer, were named to serve with Richberg.

Murray's associate, John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers, charged before the Senate Committee only a few days ago that Richberg, who was a lawyer for the railroad brotherhoods in Chicago before he became a leading figure in the New Deal, had "sold labor down the river."

Richberg already was director of the National Emergency Council, co-ordinating agency of New Deal activities, and to some extent—general counsel of the N.R.A. He still holds the latter post, although Blackwell Smith is listed in the congressional directory as acting N.R.A. counsel.

Witherow, the new industrial representative, is a Yale graduate, identified with a number of civic organizations and member of half-a-dozen clubs. He has been a director of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., a Mellon interest.

Whiteside Intends to Resign. President Roosevelt made public a letter from A. D. Whiteside, president of Dun & Bradstreet, New York, expressing his desire to resign as a member of the N.R.A. governing board "because of outside obligations." The President promised to appoint a successor soon and asked him to continue until then.

Walton Hamilton and Leon Marshall, college professors, remain on the board, as does Sidney Hillman, labor representative.

President Roosevelt in announcing Richberg's appointment issued a statement urging new NRA legislation. It said:

"The President expects the national recovery administration will carry on its present duties vigorously and effectively, with due consideration of all interests involved while legislation is pending and shall assist in every way possible in the enactment of legislation urgently needed to retain and to advance the industrial recovery program, as embodied in the present law, with the anticipation that by the action of the Congress he law will be materially improved and strengthened."

Adequate machinery outside the N.R.A. for enforcement of Section 7-A was advocated today by Richberg.

Meeting reporters and photographers, he said there should be "no question of the wholehearted determination of the administration to carry forward the industrial recovery program."

His statement on separation of 7-A was in response to questions. He said he was not commenting on the Wagner labor disputes bill which he said he had not read.

"I am personally convinced," he said, "that you need adequate machinery for the enforcement of 7-A, and I think that machinery outside the N.R.A. should be set up. When you get into disputes, an administrative body such as the Recovery Board is not workable."

"In the broad way I would assent to the general principle of having a board with ample authority to bring about compliance. Such is absolutely necessary."

"As to the urgency of such legislation, I would say that it is as urgent as other parts of our industrial recovery program."

$1,000,000 REPORTED MISSING IN BROKERAGE INVESTIGATION

Securities Board Unable to Find Severer Witnesses for New England Inquiry.

BOSTON, March 22.—Seven witnesses and nearly $1,000,000 were listed as missing today as State and Federal investigators pressed their campaign against violations of the securities law in New England.

One missing witness, Beatrice Best of Springfield, was characterized by John L. Flynn, New York, attorney for the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission, as "the queen of the bucket shops." A witness before Edmund J. Brandon, regional administrator for the commission, requested armed protection at his home. He was Laurence S. Winchester, president of the Winchester Institute of Finance. Flynn ordered a Deputy United States marshal to guard Winchester's wife and 15-year-old son.

WOUNDED OFFICER KILLS MAN. Policeman Shoots Ex-Convict After Chicago Auto Chase.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Although seriously wounded, Policeman Alvin Eckhardt of suburban River Grove shot and killed a man identified from his fingerprints as Anthony Ignatius, an ex-convict, following an automobile chase last night.

Eckhardt, chasing a speeding car, overtook it after it collided with another machine and crashed into a fence. One of the two occupants fled, but the other opened fire, a bullet striking Eckhardt in the neck. Eckhardt fired three shots, all of them taking effect. Police said Ignatius had a police record dating back to 1919.

Colt's Arms Co. Includes Them in Plan.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 22.—The board of directors of the Colt's Patent Firearms Manufacturing Co. has voted a bonus to all employees, including 1000 now on strike, equal to 5 per cent of their wages during the first three months of this year.

Two years ago the first of such payments was voted by the directors. During 1934, the distribution of special payments to employees amounted to 6 1/2 per cent of their earnings.

Senate Action on State Bonus. By the Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The Senate today passed a House bill which extends for two more years the time for which application for the railroad brotherhoods' bonus adopted in 1922. FRISCO DESCRIBED AS FIRST BEGGAR ON RFC DOORSTEP

Attorney of Minority Bondholders Asserts Road Got $9,000,000 on Bonds of $7,500,000 Face Value.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee heard today the story of the struggle between President James M. Kurn of the Frisco Railroad and the New York bankers who controlled the finances of the line, over how a railroad should be run.

This story, as told by Jack Lewis Kraus, attorney for a minority group of Frisco bondholders, was substantially the same as that told by Kurn himself in the course of receivership proceedings two weeks ago in St. Louis. Kraus told the committee that Kurn had testified in St. Louis that if it had not been for banker interference the Frisco would not now be in receivership.

Part of Kraus' testimony dealt with the more than $9,000,000 of Government money which the railroad obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Railroad Credit Corporation before it went into receivership. Under questioning of Senator Wheeler, chairman of the committee, and Senator Bone (Dem.), Washington, it was brought out that Harvey Couch resigned from the board of directors of the Frisco shortly before he became a director of the RFC.

"Did he retain his ownership of Frisco stock?" Bone asked. "We have not been able to determine that," Kraus replied. "Only a Senate investigation could bring out such a fact."

Hearing on Resolution. The committee hearings are to determine whether or not Wheeler's resolution to investigate the railroad should be reported favorably to the Senate.

Kraus brought out that funds of the Frisco were used to buy its bonds on the open market at considerably below their face value and that they were then pledged at face value as collateral with the RFC. The face value of these bonds secured Government loans of more than $9,000,000 is only $7,500,000. Kraus testified, the RFC had been promised additional security under a plan of reorganization but Kraus said that it was his impression that

CHARGE AGAINST PHYSICIAN IN AUTO FATALITY DROPPED

Manslaughter Case Against Dr. Joseph Gitt Dismissed for Lack of Evidence.

A manslaughter charge against Dr. Joseph Gitt, a physician, 5938 Pershing avenue, was dismissed yesterday by the Circuit Attorney's office for lack of evidence.

Dr. Gitt's automobile collided last Nov. 25 with one driven by Joseph Deranja. Thomas Piskulic, a passenger in Deranja's automobile was fatally injured.

Deranja, who lives at 2637 Rutger street, was tried and acquitted last week on a manslaughter charge.

This had never been furnished. Senator Couzens sought to establish that $400,000 which an adjustment committee made up of the members of the road's own executive committee—took to push a plan of reorganization had come out of an RFC loan. Kraus said that apparently it had and added that trustees for the line were now suing to recover the RFC money.

"The Frisco was the first road to stand beggar on the doorstep of the RFC," Kraus added, after he had testified to payment of a dividend in 1930 when maintenance of the line had been cut to a point Kurn understood the safety margin.

"I understand they were there on the doorstep even before the RFC office was open."

"They should have been fairly confident of getting a loan with a former director of the board on the RFC," Wheeler remarked.

Rock Island Stock Deal. Kraus ascribed Frisco losses of more than $15,000,000 to a deal in Rock Island Railroad stock which Speyer & Co., New York bankers for the line, engineered. Kraus also testified to the part that Frederick Eckert, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and a director of the Frisco and the Chase Securities Corporation, had had in the refinancing of the line in 1928, achieved through flotation of $100,000,000 in new issues.

"He was in a position where he could help to unload some of those bonds on his own company," said Wheeler of Eckert. "I think that the heads of these big insurance companies should be prevented from being connected with the railroad. While it is in the province of this committee, it seems to me that the policyholders and the stockholders in the insurance companies should see to it that their presidents are not speculating in the stocks of other companies."

Read Kurn-Brown Letters. Kraus read several letters that passed between Kurn in St. Louis and E. N. Brown, chairman of the Frisco board in New York, pleading that Kurn's judgment in matters of railroad operation be respected. These letters drew sharp comment from several committee members who are known to favor an investigation of railroad finance.

ROOSEVELT ASKS FOR PASSAGE OF FOOD-DRUG LAW

It will, besides, provide a bulwark of consumer confidence throughout the business world. "It is my hope that such legislation may be enacted at this session of the Congress."

Committee Votes to Report. The Senate Commerce Committee voted today in favor of the Copeland Food and Drug bill giving the Secretary of Agriculture broad authority to regulate packing and advertising of foods, drugs and cosmetics.

Sensor Copeland (Dem., N.Y.), author of the bill, which has a stormy course in the Senate since it was first drafted more than a year ago, said the present measure would offer "greatly increased protection" to the public, without imposing unjust regulations on publishers and manufacturers.

The bill is a modified draft of the much-disputed "Tugwell bill" introduced a year ago, but never acted on by the Senate. While it particularly affects advertising coming from the Federal Trade Commission to the Food and Drug Administration in the Department of Agriculture, it gives advisory authority to two boards named by the President. The bill authorizes these boards to pass on all regulations proposed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The vote on reporting it out was nine to six. Senator Clark (Dem., Missouri), who opposed immediate reporting, indicated he would submit a minority report, protesting particularly against transferring authority over advertising from the Trade Commission to the Department of Agriculture.

Those voting for reporting were Fletcher, Sheppard, Maloney, Radcliffe, McNary, Vandenberg, White, Gibson and Copeland. Against were Clark, Murphy, Backman, Donahay and Guffy.

FOUR EXECUTED IN MOSCOW FOR MURDER OF AGED WOMAN. Convicted of Robbery and Killing Kindergarten Teacher; Two Sent to Prison.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., March 22.—Four young men, three of whom were under 20 years old, were executed today for murder and robbery after a swift trial.

S. Petroff, 18 years old; N. T. Ivin, 19 and F. Dobrovolsky, 20, were shot to death after being convicted of the murder of a 73-year-old kindergarten teacher, S. Fedoroff, was the fourth to be executed. He and his companions were alleged to have established a crime club for organized lawlessness.

Two accomplices in the murder of the teacher were given prison terms.

Two Police Courts were in session today with the judges under orders of Mayor Dickmann to hold all cases in open court.

The judges were told that in the future, all cases, especially those involving traffic offenses, must be heard in open court.

There will be no more disposing of cases in chambers, the Mayor said at a conference in his office with the single exception that cases involving residents who have violated the traffic laws and are in a hurry to get to work may be heard in chambers.

Mayor Dickmann said that he had no objection to the judges hearing cases in chambers, but that he wanted to see that the public had a chance to see the judges in action.

TWO UNIDENTIFIED MEN KILLED BY TRAINS; ONE IS BEHEADED

Other Walking Partly Clad Along Tracks—Apparently Fell Across Rails.

Two unidentified men were killed by Missouri Pacific passenger trains last night and early today.

One of them, about 28 years old, six feet tall, weighing 190 pounds, and having red hair, was found decapitated on the tracks near Arsenal street, 45 minutes after a train had passed that point. His hat bore the label of a Walnut Ridge (Ark.) store. His body is at the morgue.

The other man was said by Jefferson Barracks officers to have been walking along the tracks only partially clad when he apparently fell into the path of the train. Police are attempting to identify him through fingerprints. His body is at the Hoffmeister undertaking establishment, 7814 South Broadway.

TESTIMONY OF $1500 FEES FOR "PULL" IN TRAFFIC CASES

Motorists Tell of Alleged Payments to Pennsylvania State Senator for His "Influence."

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—Testimony that fees as high as $1500 were paid State Senator Samuel W. Salus by motorists in drunken driving cases in the belief that his political "pull" would get the case "straightened out" in a "friendly court" was given before the five President Judges of Common Pleas Court yesterday.

The testimony came from a long string of witnesses in the Philadelphia Bar Association's hearing of "unprofessional conduct" charges against Salus and other lawyers.

In most cases, it was testified, the description of Salus' "influence" was pressed upon drunken driving defendants by Edward Blasband, a well-known producer described by the investigating committee as a "runner" for the Salus office.

CANADA'S DEFICIT SMALLER THAN THAT OF LAST YEAR

Ordinary Revenue Exceeds Expenditure but Extraordinary Outlay Engulfs Surplus.

OTTAWA Ont., March 22.—E. N. Rhodes Finance Minister delivered to the House of Commons today a budget showing a surplus of $270,000 of ordinary revenues over ordinary expenditures but showing extraordinary and capital expenditures which turned the favorable balance into a deficit of $693,000,000.

Rhodes review a year of increasing revenues expansion in trade improved commodity price levels and rising employment. The small surplus on ordinary account was compared with a deficit last year of $220,000,000 and of $430,000,000 the year before.

The deficit of $693,000,000 on all operations was compared with one of $76,300,000 last year. Adding the Canadian National Railway deficit of $18,400,000, the total increase in the debt for the year was $117,700,000, as compared with $133,500,000 last year.

HOUSE PASSES PATMAN INFLATION BILL ON BONUS

Arkansas Representatives voted Democrats for—D'Eliver, Fuller, McClellan, Miller, Parks, 5. Democrats against—Terry, 1.

Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee predicted the Patman bill would not pass the Senate over a veto. While he was hopeful a compromise could be worked out, he could not say at this time if that was possible.

When the session began at noon, only 77 members were on the floor. But as the argument proceeded, the floor quickly filled and within half an hour more than 300 members were present.

Yesterday's Vote.

The House voted three times yesterday to consider for final action the Patman bill.

On a standing vote, the Patman forces won 183 to 142. On a teller vote they were ahead 180 to 157. On a roll call, the vote was 202 to 191. Thus, their margin shrank from 41 to 23 to 11.

The House showed its desire to pay the bonus shortly after the Vinson-American Legion bill was presented on the floor by the Ways and Means Committee. Patman was recognized to offer his bill as an amendment. Then there were offered eight other substitutes or compromise plans.

First, the Tydings-Cochran-Andrews bill was beaten, 193 to 73. Other compromise proposals were shouted down.

Representative Cochran of St. Louis, one of the compromise bill authors, said:

"Some of us know what will happen at the White House—the President will veto the Vinson or the Patman bill. The only thing to do is to compromise. The President has been promising for the last two years, and it's reasonable to assume that he would compromise now. What the veteran wants is the money and not your vote for a bill that will get nowhere."

Patman replied that if a veteran with a $1000 face-value adjusted compensation certificate had borrowed $500 against it, under the Cochran plan he would get negotiable bonds now worth only $154.

T. M. SAYMAN FREED ON APPEAL IN TRAFFIC ROW

Three Police Court Convictions of 81-Year-Old Soap and Patent Medicine Manufacturer Set Aside.

Three police court convictions against T. M. Sayman were dismissed by Judge Dickmann in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday.

The 81-year-old millionaire soap and patent medicine manufacturer, who resides at 5399 Lindell boulevard, left the Municipal Courts Building chuckling and announcing to all who would listen, what he proposed to do to the complaining witnesses, Hubert Talbott, Terminal Railroad switchman, and his wife, Susie.

"It's my turn now," he said, "I'm going to the floor with my silver-handled cane. And do you know what I'm going to do? I'm going to have 'em up for false swearing."

Scene in Courtroom.

The courtroom scene was similar to that in Police Judge Simpson's court six weeks ago when Sayman was fined $250 on each of two peace disturbance charges, and $100 for careless driving, except that Sayman did not interrupt the witnesses so frequently.

While Judge Dickmann listened wearily, Talbott and his wife, Susie, repeated their version of the collision last December between Sayman's automobile and Talbott's, in front of Sayman's home. They have asserted that Sayman knocked Talbott down, struck Mrs. Talbott in the chest, and drew his revolver. "Oh! Becky! Trueheart!" Talbott got the weapon away from the excitable soap manufacturer before he and Mrs. Talbott fled to a nearby residence to call the police, they said.

"My wife was injured through striking the windshield," Talbott testified, "and I was injured, too. I was injured slightly on the knee."

"Dirty liar!" cried Sayman. "You didn't use any profanity yourself?" Talbott replied with dignity. "I'm a Bible student and I claim I'm a Christian, even if I am a switchman."

The switchman continued: "He tore out an oath and said, 'I'm going to kill you.' And all I had said to him was, 'What in the world do you mean by running into me?'"

Former Judge Edward E. Butler, representing Sayman, inquired, "You didn't use any profanity yourself?" Talbott replied with dignity. "I'm a Bible student and I claim I'm a Christian, even if I am a switchman."

He went on to say that he and his wife were on their way home from Bible study at the time of the accident.

"Had you been drinking a little bit?" "I don't drink, and even if I did, I would hardly drink at a Bible study meeting."

One of Sayman's witnesses had testified to being across Lindell boulevard from the accident, to hearing both men curse and to seeing Talbott knock Sayman down with a blow. "There was no car across the street," Talbott said heatedly. "That man deliberately is lying."

"Do not use that word in this courtroom," Judge Dickmann broke in. "We will determine who is lying; whether he's lying or you're lying. Leave that to me."

Mrs. Talbott Testifies.

Mrs. Talbott testified that Sayman "carried on terrible," threatened her husband and snatched open the car door and hit her in the mouth. Because of this, she said, "I'm very nervous. I don't care for riding in machines any more. And if he had acted like a gentleman, it never would have affected my nerves."

As has been told, the Talbotts have sued Sayman for $125,000. "Now when you say Mr. Sayman struck you," Judge Dickmann asked, "just where was your husband?" "Right beside me on the seat."

"And what did he do?" "He kept pushing him away."

The judge sighed and turned away from her. A few minutes later, after Sayman had testified, Judge Dickmann said he had heard enough and ordered: "Discharged in all three cases."

Mrs. Talbott appeared shocked. Talbott smiled mildly and whispered he was "glad it's all over."

Sayman hobbled into court with the assistance of a crutch and a heavy silver-handled cane. However,

$3,800,000 DIRIGIBLE LINE ORGANIZED IN GERMANY

Dr. Eckener Heads Board; New Routes for Passengers, Mail and Freight.

BERLIN, March 22.—Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Air Minister, announced today the foundation of German Zeppelin Lines, Ltd., Berlin, with capital of $3,800,000. The company has as president of the board of directors Dr. Hugo Eckener, skipper of the Graf Zeppelin. The chief engineer of the Graf Zeppelin, Ernst Lehmann, was appointed as one of the managers of the company.

The purpose of the company was described as "the erection of new air lines and regular air traffic for passengers, mail and freight with dirigibles."

It is understood that capital was subscribed by the German International Aviation Co., Luft Hansa, and by the Zeppelin Construction Works, both of which are Government-owned or subsidized. Another manager appointed with Lehmann is Karl Christiansen, the police president of Magdeburg.

TWO OPERATORS OF STILL GET SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

Penalized $500 and Fined $100 Each, New Revenue Law Differentiates Between Two.

Joseph Zero, 1616½ North Ninth street, and Ben Garvier, a farmer near Owensville, Mo., were sentenced to six months in jail, penalized $500 and fined $100 each by Federal Judge Davis today on their pleas of guilty to setting up unregistered stills and manufacturing alcohol without paying taxes.

Government agents told the Court they arrested Zero at his home last October, after finding a still in operation there. They said they found a still and a quantity of mash and alcohol in the basement of Garvier's farm home in the same month. The sentence was the minimum under the new internal revenue regulations, which differentiate between cash penalties and fines.

MAN IN ILL HEALTH ENDS LIFE

Henry Meyers, 68 years old, a stationary fireman, shot and killed himself last night at his home, 2613A South Broadway.

The body, with a wound in the head and a pistol near at hand, was found by Mrs. Meyers when she returned from a store. She said her husband had been in ill health and had previously attempted to end his life.

When a newspaper photographer snapped him, he sprang up and chased the startled cameraman out of the room, behaving him on the back with the walking stick. Then he returned from a store. She said he walked briskly back to his seat and told bystanders: "I got him, but not near good enough. It wasn't on the snoot. I wanted to bang him on the snoot."

He went on to say that he and his wife were on their way home from Bible study at the time of the accident.

AUSTIN PECK JR. DIES SUDDENLY IN HOTEL

Promoter Succumbs to Heart and Kidney Ailments as Physician Arrives.

Austin Warren Peck Jr., promoter and stock salesman whose operations in that field brought him into contact with the police frequently and once sent him to the penitentiary, died shortly after 2 o'clock this morning in his room at the Bristol Hotel, 5650 Pershing avenue.

Peck had called for a physician, Dr. Josiah H. Thurmon entered his room he walked from the bathroom and lay face down on the bed. Dr. Thurmon spoke to him, but received no answer. Examining Peck, the doctor found that he was dead.

An autopsy today showed that death was due to heart and kidney ailments. Peck was 39 years old. Peck was a great-grandson of the late Charles H. Peck of Vandeventer place, who left a large estate when he died many years ago. Peck and his brother, partners in a brokerage business in 1920, were arrested in that year on a charge of embezzling money from their customers and were found guilty.

Austin Peck was sentenced to five years in prison, and Robert to two. After serving about 10 months Austin was paroled on representations by prison physicians that he had tuberculosis and would die if kept in confinement.

In 1926 Austin Peck was stabbed in the abdomen by a real estate dealer who had induced his notes for the purchase of an automobile. The real estate dealer told police Peck had wrecked the car and refused to pay the notes. They quarreled, the real estate man said, and he stabbed Peck in self-defense. There was no prosecution.

Two years ago Peck was sentenced at Belleville to six months in jail for operating as a real estate dealer without a license. His arrest then was caused by a woman hotel keeper who said Peck had collected $100 for advance commission on a prospective sale of two hotels she owned.

DEFENDS SELF, GETS MAXIMUM Auto Theft Defendant Refuses Appointment of Counsel.

By the Associated Press.

DANVILLE, Ill., March 22.—Trial in Federal District Court here, Oscar Jackson refused the offer of Judge Fred I. Wham to appoint counsel for him.

The charge was transporting a stolen automobile from Carbondale to Davenport, Ia., in November, 1934. After Jackson got through with his single-handed defense, the jury found him guilty and the maximum sentence was imposed—five years in prison and $5000 fine.

Steel Workers' Election Ordered.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Steel Labor Board today ordered an election April 3 at the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel Corporation. The election was requested by the Blue Eagle lodge of the American Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

The following day he surrendered to police, telling them he thought his car had killed Harkins. Marval said he recalled a bump as he passed Kingshighway and Fairview avenue, but was dozing at the wheel and assumed until he read of Harkins' death, that he had struck an obstruction in the street.

CONFERENCE AGREES ON CUT IN COUNTY TAX VALUATION

Court, Municipalities and Real Estate Board for Reduction to Last Year's Total.

The recent request by Assessor Neaf of St. Louis County for a blanket reduction on the assessed valuation of real estate in the county was approved by the League of County Municipalities, Real Estate Board and members of the County Court, at a joint meeting with the Assessor yesterday.

It was agreed at the meeting to limit the proposed reduction to an amount sufficient to make the aggregate assessment for 1935 the same as for last year, about $189,000,000. Neaf, appearing before the State Tax Commission last week, had asked for a blanket 14 per cent cut, which would have reduced the present figure, $208,459,370, to about $179,000,000, substantially under the 1934 assessment.

Members of the league and also of school boards objected to such a drastic cut, which would result in reduced tax revenue. At yesterday's meeting it was decided to ask the State Board of Equalization tomorrow to withhold action on fixing the county's assessed valuation until the county Board of Equalization has settled assessment appeals now pending, then to grant a blanket reduction in an amount sufficient to bring the aggregate assessment to last year's figure.

Charles Marval, who reported to Police Next Day, Enters Guilty Plea.

Charles Marval, 25 years old, a meat cutter, was fined $250 today when he pleaded guilty of leaving the scene of an accident in which his automobile killed a pedestrian.

The fine was recommended by Assistant Circuit Attorney Sullivan, who said Marval bore a good reputation. The offense occurred, Sullivan added, before the Circuit Attorney's office announced that offenders in such cases would no longer be let off with fines.

Marval was the driver of an automobile which struck Urban V. Harkins, 75 years old, at 5:30 a. m. on the morning of last Oct. 28, as Harkins was waiting at Kingshighway and Fairview avenue for a street car. Marval, who lives at 484 Quincey street, was returning to his home from a party.

CHAUFFEUR CONVICTED OF BUS HOLDUP; GETS 10 YEARS

William H. Davis Previously Acquitted of Murder of Patrolman Kreidler Same Night.

William H. Davis, a chauffeur, 26 years old, was found guilty of robbery and his punishment was fixed at 10 years in prison in a sealed verdict opened today in Circuit Judge Connor's court. Davis was convicted of participating in the holdup of Homer Allcorn, a motorbus operator, on the night of Sept. 28, 1931. Later that night Patrolman Adolph Kreidler was shot and killed in a struggle with a holdup man in another bus at Grand boulevard and Osceola street.

Tried for murder as a participant in that holdup, Davis was acquitted. Hubert Harvey, who was convicted in the Kreidler murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, was produced in the courtroom during Davis' trial in the Allcorn holdup and was identified by Allcorn as the man who held him up.

A statement Davis had given to police after his arrest was introduced against him. It related that he drove the automobile in which Harvey fled after the holdup. Davis repudiated the statement, contending that police had beaten him.

He offered an alibi defense, testifying that on the night of the holdup he was working on an automobile at the home of his employer, Jasper O'Farrell, 1406 South Ninth street. Mrs. O'Farrell was a corroborating witness.

SENATOR ASSAILS ST. LOUISAN AT NRA HEARING

the phrase that I had 'materially and conspicuously' favored Mr. Richberg?" "I told him that you were a member of the committee and I asked him to communicate with you."

"He knew that I was a member of this committee," Barkley observed sharply. "I had talked with him only a few days before when he was in Washington. Did you tell him what you thought my attitude was?"

"It was a mere general discussion," Curlee answered. He was much interested in this investigation.

At this point La Follette took a hand.

"I want to know," La Follette said, "how it happened that this telegram was sent to Senator Barkley at 5 p. m. on the day Mr. Richberg testified and contained a statement of the Senator's attitude. Just what did you tell the sender of the telegram?"

Again Curlee replied that it had been a long telephone conversation.

"Did you communicate with anybody else and ask them to get in touch with members of this committee?" "I can't recall any now," Curlee replied, after a pause.

Asked About Others.

"How do you explain the wording of the telegram that was received?" "I have no explanation to offer," the witness replied.

"Do you testify that you did not tell your friend what you thought was the attitude of Senator Barkley?" "I told him all I knew or could remember of the questions. I mentioned Senator Barkley's questions."

"You intended him to interpret Senator Barkley's attitude?" "I didn't know what his interpretation would be," Curlee replied.

"Well, what was your own interpretation of Senator Barkley's attitude?" "I had no impression of the Senator's questions."

This brought laughter from the spectators.

La Follette wanted to know whether Curlee had an office in Washington and had sought to have other telegrams sent to Washington. He replied that his association had a temporary office in Washington and had sent out only the normal correspondence.

"That may be the key to many situations that may develop," Barkley observed.

When La Follette insisted on an answer as to whether Curlee or his organization had communicated with other persons outside Washington regarding the committee's investigation, Curlee again answered that he had had only the normal correspondence.

Demand He Be Sworn.

Turning to Harrison, La Follette said: "Mr. Chairman, I demand that this man be put under oath." Senator Couzens of Michigan seconded the demand.

Without waiting for the reaction of other Senators, Harrison announced, "The committee will go into executive session."

"Not yet," interrupted La Follette. "This is the first time in my nine years' experience in the Senate when a chairman has called an executive session merely because another Senator wants to put a witness under oath. I also want to say that after the witness has been put under oath I shall move that the committee issue a subpoena duces tecum, instructing him to bring to this committee all communications he has had with persons outside Washington regarding this committee's investigation."

Harrison, as a compromise, said that hereafter all witnesses before the committee would be sworn.

Witness Hazed, Says Gore.

Senator Gore, who voted against the original NIRA, declared that Curlee was being hazed by other committee members.

"I understand," the blind Oklahoma Senator said, "that this man is against the NRA. He, as a free-born American citizen, has the right to appear here without being prosecuted. I shall insist that all witnesses shall hereafter be sworn and that subpoenas be issued for documents."

Curlee took the oath and Harrison put to the committee La Follette's motion for the subpoena, which was adopted viva voce without opposition.

"The motion has been carried," Harrison announced, "and you will produce the documents or the committee clerk will take appropriate action."

Under the MacCracken decision by the Supreme Court that a Senate Committee has wide powers in compelling the presentation of private documents, Senators have a powerful weapon to compel testimony and evidence. Curlee signified that he would produce the required communications.

Represents 70 Concerns.

Curlee in his testimony explained that his association represented only 70 out of several thousand men's clothing makers.

In answer to questions, he said the association represented both large and small manufacturers who operated open shops, or shops under the United Garment Workers' Union.

Curlee said he and his group were willing to compete on any wage scale, but insisted it should be uniform.

He protested that exemptions were being made under the code which were not fair. He also protested that "half or a little more than half of the industry is in control, while half or a little less is on the outside."

"All our data are available to them," he said, "but none of theirs is available to us."

He added that the Curlee Clothing Co. of St. Louis, his company, had increased wages for 800 employees by 50 per cent under the code.

MOTHER-IN-LAW BEATER GETS ONE TO TEN YEARS

Sentenced on Plea of Guilty at Bloomington, Ind., His Wife
Also Held

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 22.—Charles Smith was sentenced yesterday to serve one to ten years in Indiana State Prison for an attack on his mother-in-law, Mrs. Matilda Smith. He pleaded guilty.

Smith was alleged to have attacked Mrs. Smith with a broom handle and to have inflicted injuries that caused the removal of one eye. Smith's wife, Janie, also charged with implication in the attack on her mother, is to be arraigned tomorrow.

$100 Fine for Illegal Drink Sale.

Vincent Pirrone was fined $100 by Police Judge Vest yesterday for selling liquor without a city license, at 1024 North Sixteenth street. He appealed. Detectives testified they seized some illicit uncolored whisky in the place Jan. 29. Pirrone's father, Lordiolo Pirrone, was acquitted on the same charge.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS PALACE TO BE READY THIS SUMMER

Several Hundred Workmen Engaged in Decorating Interior of Structure at Geneva.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, March 22.—Towering above the shores of Lake Lemman, of whose beauties Lord Byron sang, the new palace of the League of Nations is approaching completion and will be occupied by the League secretariat during the coming summer.

A gleaming mass of white stone with wings spreading out like those of a huge monoplane, the impressive building recently was called "The International White House" by a visitor.

Several hundred workmen are engaged in the interior decoration, so that the permanent secretariat force may move in at least by August.

Secretary-General Joseph A. C. Avenol is eager to have the September Assembly of the League held in the magnificent new Assembly Hall which forms the center of the palace, but this may not be possible. Two score nations have contributed gifts to embellish the palace halls and considerable time will be required to make a suitable installation.

PACKER AGAINST MORE MEAT LICENSING

Proposed Amendment Would Give Wallace Despotic Power, Cabell Says.

Licensing of processors and distributors, as proposed in an amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act now before Congress, would give the Secretary of Agriculture Wallace despotic power over the processing and retailing of meat throughout the country, Robert H. Cabell, president of Armour & Co., told the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Broadview Hotel.

If the proposed amendment becomes law, Cabell said, the Government would be permitted to license, with or without their consent, all packers and dealers to make effective any marketing plan set forth in any marketing agreement signed by Secretary Wallace with persons handling not less than 50 per cent of the volume of meat business. He emphasized it would be an invasion of the rights and privileges of all dealers in farm commodities, enabling the Government to control agricultural transactions to the minutest detail.

Cabell expressed assurance that despite the decimation of livestock herds by the drought and governmental hog reduction programs, there was no danger of a shortage of meat, although, he added, prices may be high till herds have been restored to normal. He said consumption of meat has been tending upward, averaging 50 pounds per person per year in 1933, and 70 pounds in 1934.

Packers are in serious need of high-grade livestock, Cabell said in urging the Chamber of Commerce to sponsor a campaign for the production of prime beef and pork. Denmark and the Argentine, he explained, have made their meat and dairy products famous throughout the world, and the United States can do likewise by careful attention to breeding and feeding. Despite the injurious effect of last summer's drought on livestock herds, a superior grade can be developed from the survivors to fill market needs, he said.

ADMINISTRATOR BILLS DENOUNCED BY JUDGE ARNOLD

Return to Old Fee-Grabbing Days of Handling of Estates, He Tells State Senate Committee.

ACTION DEFERRED ON QUINN-FROST PLAN

Witness Says He Thinks Measures Are to Retaliate for His Objection to Sheehan's Practices.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The Senate Committee on Wills and Probate Law deferred action once more yesterday on the Quinn-Frost public administration bills, which would materially increase the fees of public administrators and their attorneys, after hearing Probate Judge Glendy R. Arnold of St. Louis in opposition.

Senator Jerome M. Joffe, chairman of the committee, said the committee desired to discuss the bills further. A revised bill, as a committee substitute for the one which would permit a public administrator to charge a premium on a bond large enough to cover each estate to the individual estate, although his own bond was sufficient surety, was offered by Senator Quinn. The changes which the revised bill would make were not divulged, however. Judge Arnold said that the proposed bills, if passed, would mean a return to the old fee-grabbing days

"when a hue and cry was raised against the Public Administrator's office." He said he believed the bills to be retaliatory measures aimed at his office, because of a dispute about the charging of bond premiums which he had with Public Administrator Walter Sheehan of St. Louis.

Cites Sheehan's Charges.
"It was called to my attention," Judge Arnold said, "that he was charging far more for his bond premiums than the law allowed and I told him he couldn't do it. He said the previous Probate Judge had permitted it, but I told him he could be paid only for what he actually had been following the practice which the bill would permit, that of charging each estate for a bond premium although his general bond would be sufficient coverage."

Arnold asked "why should a Public Administrator be allowed to charge for bond premiums he doesn't pay," and said that to enact the bill into law would be "ridiculous." "The profits on it alone," he said, "would amount to $15,000 a year in St. Louis."

He criticized that provision of the bill which would limit a Public Administrator's general bond to $200,000 and pointed out that the St. Louis Administrator now has $379,595 in cash, stocks, bonds and accounts receivable under his control. His bond now is for $100,000.

"Stripping Probate Court."
Turning to the other bill, which would require the appointment of the Public Administrator as administrator pendente lite in all cases where the next of kin are unable to agree on an administrator, Arnold sharply criticized the proposed change as "stripping the Probate Court of power it has held for more than 100 years and making it a mere rubber stamp." Under the present law the Probate Judge has the discretionary power of appointing the administrator in such cases.

Arnold warned that if the Public Administrator would by law be the administrator during every will contest, there might be a return to the days when will contests were purposely fomented for this purpose.

He said he believed this section was in violation of article 6, section 34 of the Constitution which states that the Probate Court "shall have jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to probate business, to granting letters testamentary and of administration, and the appointment of guardians and curators of minors and persons of unsound mind."

The bill also would permit the Public Administrator to assume powers of administration over the property in Missouri of the estate of a non-resident. Arnold said this provision was without reason and that it would double the number of estates handled by the Public Administrator.

Office Run for Profits.
In all of the above cases the Public Administrator would be allowed his regular commission, expenses in caring for the estate, compensation for collecting and preserving the property, and attorneys' fees.

"The Public Administrator's office has always been run for the profits in it," Arnold said. "And the temptation of more profits to be made out of it is always great."

Ed Conger Davis Dies.
B—The Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, March 22.—Ed Conger Davis, 60 years old, a railroad man in Minnesota and Iowa for 33 years, died here Wednesday night. A resident of Council Bluffs, Ia., the past three years, Davis was formerly general freight agent at the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway in St. Louis. He retired seven years ago.

200 GROCERS JOIN NRA TO GET RELIEF ORDERS

Those Without Blue Eagles Barred From Share of Business.

A new regulation put into effect Jan. 1 by code authorities forbidding the St. Louis Relief Administration to permit its clients to do business with stores that have not joined the NRA has resulted in 200 merchants applying for and receiving a Blue Eagle in the last three months.

Wilson Zunn, director of purchasing for the relief administration, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that $649,000 worth of business in the form of grocery orders spent by relief clients was divided among dealers on the eligible list in January and about $560,000 in February, which are representative months. The plan will continue to be effective, he said, since business of this kind done by individual stores ranges from $25 to $500 monthly, depending on the location.

1000 Dealers Not on List.

The first list issued contained the names of 1900 dealers who had supplied themselves with Blue Eagles. This made it necessary for the relief administration to stop food orders immediately on the 1000 remaining dealers who had not satisfied code authorities. In less than a week they began to appear at Zunn's office to ask for an explanation in such numbers that several assistants were kept busy explaining the new system.

When the February list was issued it contained the names of 100 dealers who were ineligible in January. Since that time 100 more have signed up.

Order From Washington.

Zunn said at first he and others mildly protested against this new arrangement, but were firmly informed by code officials here and in Washington that they, like the NRA, were a Government agency and were spending Government funds and interdepartmental friction would not be tolerated.

Prior to Jan. 1 there were only 30 stores on the ineligible list, having been put there for violation of relief regulations. Since the first NRA list has been published, six names have been stricken off by code authorities for not living up to the code agreement, one proprietor has asked to be removed because he could not afford to hold grocery orders until they were cashed by the Relief Administration and one was removed by Zunn for an alleged offer to pay a relief employee in return for favoritism in assigning orders to clients.

Persons on the relief roll may designate any store they wish on their orders provided the store is on the NRA list.

ROYAL ENGAGEMENT RUMORS

Betrothal of Prince Carl Johan of Sweden Predicted.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 22.—Close on the heels of formal announcement of the engagement of Princess Ingrid of Sweden to Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark, rumors circulated today that 18-year-old Prince Carl Johan would soon be betrothed to Princess Juliana of the Netherlands.

A Stockholm newspaper columnist forecast the announcement would be made April 30, the Princess' 26th birthday. Prince Carl is said to have met Juliana at the wedding of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina in London, for which Juliana was one of the bridesmaids.

PWA HOLDS UP GRANT AFTER 7 ARE INDICTED

Men Accused of Plotting $400,000 Fraud in Texas Irrigation Project.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—Officials will seek a speedy trial for seven men indicted for conspiracy to defraud the Government in a $4,583,000 public works administration irrigation project in Texas.

In the first indictments ever returned under a PWA case two former PWA engineers, two Texas business men and three prominent California lumber men were named yesterday by a special district of Columbia grand jury which inspected evidence presented by investigators for Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Funds for the PWA grant and loan were held up pending the inquiry. The indictment accuses the seven of plotting to make a $400,000 profit by requiring the use of 250 miles of redwood pipe in the irrigation of 75,000 acres of land in the Willacy County District north of Brownsville, Tex.

Arraignment April 5.

John W. Fihelly, Assistant United States Attorney, set April 5 as the date for arraignment. Representing Maj. Charles Olberg former engineer examiner for irrigation projects in the Washington PWA office, Attorney Milton King said. Every step Maj. Olberg took was intended solely to promote and expedite this project. His actions have been completely misinterpreted by the espionage system of the Interior Department.

The others indicted are Perry A. Welty, Austin, Tex., former engineer examiner with the PWA office at Fort Worth, Tex.; William A. Harding, Raymondville, Tex., a director of the Willacy irrigation district; Frank P. McElwath, Corsicana, Tex., a contractor and banker; Leonard C. Hammond, vice-president of the Hammond Lumber Co., San Francisco; Harry W. Cole, vice-president of the Hammond and Little River Redwood Co., Ltd., a Hammond subsidiary, and president of the California Redwood Association; and James P. Barry of San Francisco, an engineer for the Redwood Co.

Frank J. Brechensner and Chester H. Kirberg of the Dallas, Tex., staff of PWA investigators headed by Louis R. Glavis, presented a mass of documentary evidence to the grand jury after a three months' inquiry which took them to many parts of the country.

Government's Allegations.
The indictment charges that the seven began carrying out their plot by substituting plans for piped irrigation in place of original specifications for a gravity canal system. Welty, the Government alleges, approved the substitution in the Fort Worth office, and then took a $7500 a year job with the Willacy District in place of his $3000 Government job.

The indictment charges that Maj. Olberg, a veteran of 29 years of service with the Government, was called on to approve the changes at Washington, and that Harding had offered him a $10,000 a year job with the district. Olberg received $6000 from the PWA.

Hammond, Cole and Barry were alleged to have persuaded other Redwood companies to have the Hammond Lumber Co. control the quoting of prices for the Willacy project.

The indictment asserted that Hammond, Cole, Barry and McElwath were to bid for the construction of the pipe lines, and that the Hammond Lumber Co. was to refuse to quote any price for Redwood lumber to any other contractor.

The specifications were so drawn, the indictment alleges, that the cost of using concrete, metal or other wooden pipe except redwood would have been prohibitive.

FUND SOUGHT TO FIGHT CITY'S BRIDGE TAX SUIT

St. Clair County Levying Bodies Try to Raise $15,000 to Defend Assessment.

St. Clair County taxing bodies have undertaken to raise an expense fund of $15,000 in an effort to uphold in courts the $3,000,000 assessment on the Illinois end of the Municipal Bridge.

The assessment was raised to $3-000,000 in 1934, after the city's objections to assessments of $2,000,000 for 1932 and 1933 were upheld. St.
Louis has tendered $53,753 in annual taxes on a $1,000,000 valuation for 1934, which it contends is fair.

St. Clair County rejected the payment and the city appealed to the Circuit Court at Belleville.

Under the $3,000,000 assessment, the city would have to pay $161,028, or $107,275 more than under the $1-000,000 valuation, according to the 1934 tax rate.

Chance of Gaining $107,000.

If the $15,000 is spent successfully in overcoming the legal objections made by St. Louis to the increase, the five taxing bodies of St. Clair County would gain about $107,000 annually, at the 1934 rate.

The proposal to raise the expense fund, which was made by the St.
Clair County Board of Review, the taxing body having the highest authority to fix levies unless taken to court, has been accepted by the East St. Louis School Board, the East Side Levee Board and the East St. Louis Park Board.

These bodies have adopted resolutions to contribute their shares of the expense fund, based proportionately on the amount of additional taxes they would receive if the $3,000,000 levy is upheld.

The City of East St. Louis has been asked by the Board of Review to contribute, but the City Council has taken no action to revise its appropriation ordinance, a necessary step. St. Clair County, the fifth taxing body to share in tax income, has not participated in the plan.

Purpose of Fund.

Members of the Board of Review have attributed their previous unsuccessful attempts to get the increased assessment upheld in courts to insufficient evidence. The expense fund, if raised, will be used to employ a legal firm of tax experts, to employ expert witnesses and to make a complete valuation survey of the bridge.

The East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce met today with representatives of various taxing bodies to discuss the plan to complete the fund.

John T. Connors, East St. Louis
Commissioner of Finance, announced at the meeting that the City Council would revise the appropriation ordinance and contribute its share of the fund. Representatives of the other taxing bodies also pledged their share.

850,000 APPLICATIONS MADE FOR CORN HOG CONTRACTS

80,000 Signers Reported to Date in Missouri for 1935; 90,000 in Illinois.

WASHINGTON, March 22. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced yesterday that field reports from the major corn and hog producing states indicated nearly 850,000 farmers had signed applications for 1935 corn-hog contracts.

The number of signers in each of the major corn-hog states was reported as follows: Iowa, 132,500;
Illinois, 90,000; Missouri, 80,000; Nebraska, 76,000; Minnesota, 63,000;
Indiana and Kansas, approximately 50,000 each; Ohio and South Dakota, about 45,000 each; Oklahoma,
34,000; Texas, 33,000, and Kentucky,
24,500.

Administration officials said they did not expect the number of signers to exceed 1,155,000.

ALDERMANIC NOMINEES ASKED FOR VIEWS ON TROLLEY LINES

Queries Sent by Group Favoring Public Ownership 5-Cent Fare Proposal.

Nominees for Alderman have been asked by Robert Kratky, director of a public ownership 5-cent street car fare movement, to state whether they would vote for or against enabling ordinances to make the plan effective.

Kratky said full publicity would be given to the candidates' replies to letters he has sent them. Kratky's organization is circulating petitions to initiate two ordinances, one to authorize the Mayor and Comptroller to negotiate for purchase of the street car and bus systems, and the other to call an election on a proposal to issue $25-000,000 of public utility bonds to pay for the two systems or establish a new one.

not better be devoted to the fine quality of Richman Brothers clothes.

The price, truly, is remarkably low. One cannot think or speak or write of Richman Brothers clothes without noticing their extraordinary economy.

It is the quality, of course, that makes the economy of Richman Brothers clothes so extraordinary, the quality of all wool fabrics, the quality of expert tailoring, and the quality of correct style in exact detail.

The economy for you comes directly from the economy in our business, from the fact that we own both shops and stores, that we have no wholesale selling costs, no delivery expenses, and no charge account losses.

You can be fitted correctly and comfortably in Richman

IN OHIO RELIEF, MILLION POUNDS OF MEAT SPOILED

Half of Supply Kept in Toledo Storage Plant Month, Then Sent to Columbus, Destroyed.

FEDERAL INQUIRY INTO WASTE BEGUN

Hopkins Replying to Davey Says 'Whenever Politics Appears We'll Get Rid of it Fast.'

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., March 22.—A Federal investigation of relief waste, involving nearly a million pounds of meat, was undertaken today while a grand jury resumed its inquiry into charges of "corruption" in the administration of Ohio relief.

Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins, breaking the silence he has maintained since Gov. Martin L. Davey charged him with criminal libel, declared: "Politics has no business in relief and whenever it gets in we intend to get rid of it damn fast."

Charles C. Stillman, who took charge of Ohio relief on order of President Roosevelt, said an investigation of the surplus commodities division of the Ohio Relief Administration disclosed that 499,000 pounds of spoiled meat lay in a Toledo storage plant more than a month and then was shipped to Columbus and destroyed.

He said also that an inspector of the United States division of animal husbandry has been sent to Toledo where 452,000 more pounds of meat are believed to have spoiled.

Grand Jury Inquiry.
Waiting to testify today at the grand jury inquiry was Francis W. Poulson, Democratic State chairman. The grand jury is looking into what Hopkins submitted as "incontrovertible evidence" that the campaign committee of Gov. Davey "shook down" for $5000 firms having business dealings with the Relief Administration.

Hopkins said yesterday in Washington of Poulson: "Let him keep out of the Relief Administration—and between you and me he'll keep out after this."

Poulson had declared that President Roosevelt was being betrayed "by Republicans in high Government offices" and named Hopkins as one "who could be expected to tear down the Democratic party."

Commenting on Poulson's attack, criticism from Gov. Davey and a plea of Ohio Democratic legislators asking Roosevelt to "right the wrong done our Governor," Hopkins asserted:

"I can't spend my time, every time we tell some politician to keep out of the picture, paying attention to them calling me names."

Campaign on Chiselers.
Stillman announced a drastic change in administrative policy. He said he intended to "chisel" all "chiselers" off the relief payroll. He dismissed 25 minor employees, bringing the total discharged in four days to 65. He announced that, effective about April 15, a policy of optional direct cash relief would be undertaken in the distribution of food, gas, light, some clothing and incidentals to the needy. Orders will continue to be given for rent, medicine, fuel and most clothing.

The Ohio Legislature, amid cries of "whitewash," adopted a resolution authorizing a legislative investigation of the whole relief situation.

NEW SOIL EROSION SERVICE

Transferred From Interior Department to Wallace.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—Secretary Ickes and Wallace have determined to transfer the soil erosion service of the Department of Interior and a portion of the Civilian Conservation Corps working on soil erosion to the Agriculture Department.

There they will form part of an entirely new organization which will include those parts of the AAA, Forest Service, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, Bureau of Agricultural Engineering and Bureau of Plant Industry which are now concerned with various phases of the soil-erosion problem. All have in the past been working on the general problem, but with practically no co-ordination, and often times at cross purposes, officials of both departments said.

DALLAS RELIEF STRIKERS CHEER THREAT OF JAIL

Say They Will Continue to Sit in City Auditorium Until 40 Pct. Ration Cut Is Rescinded.
By the Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., March 22.—Hundreds of relief workers, camped for six days in City Hall Auditorium, greeted with cheers yesterday the threat by relief officials that they might be jailed on vagrancy charges.

E. J. Stephany, County Relief Administrator, warned the crowd that those "striking" for higher relief rations may be arrested on vagrancy charges. A thunderous "aye" roared through the auditorium in answer to the question whether they would care to go to jail. The "striking" sat in their chairs, munching food supplied by local firms and announced they would sit until a recent 40 per cent ration cut, necessitated by scanty State and Federal relief funds, is restored.

FARMER HELD IN KILLING

Moved From Poplar Bluff to Alton for Safe Keeping.
By the Associated Press.
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., March 22.—Floyd Roy, young farmer held for the killing yesterday of Charles E. Turner, his brother-in-law, near Alton, Mo., was brought here last night by deputy sheriffs to avoid threatened mob violence.

Roy is alleged to have shot home of his father, Sam Roy, when Turner went there in an effort to effect a reconciliation with his estranged wife.
Condition of Louis M. Howe.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The condition of Louis McHenry Howe, the President's secretary, continued to be serious today. White House doctors feared his remarkable resistance might give way at any moment. Close to his bedside waited members of the Roosevelt household and Howe's wife and two chil-

STRACHEY DENIES WRITING 'WHY I AM A COMMUNIST'

English Author at Deportation Hearing Says Article Was Garbled Version of Another Piece.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Immigration authorities completed presentation of their evidence today at the deportation hearing of Evelyn John St. Lo Strachey, English author and lecturer, with the introduction of a magazine article purported to have been written by Strachey and entitled "Why I Am a Communist."

Strachey denied authorship and said it was an unauthorized and badly garbled version of one he had written last year.

The article appeared in the March 1935, issue of Modern Thinker. In it the author was presented as advocating the overthrow of the capitalist system and the substitution of a Government controlled by workers.

"This article," Strachey said, "is an appallingly garbled version of an article I wrote for the September issue of Scribner's. I would assume that it was a poor translation of a reprint of the article which appeared in a Prague newspaper."

Two Letters Offered.
Strachey presented two letters as proof of his contention that he was not the writer of the article in question. One was a copy of a message to his literary agent, complaining of the article in the Modern Thinker.

The second letter was to Strachey from Eric Berger, an associate editor of the magazine, explaining that the article was a translation of an article in a Prague newspaper. Berger said he had obtained the publishers' permission to use the article.

"The article which I did not write advocated overthrow of the Government by violence," said Strachey. "In my article I expressed desiring an envisaging rule by the working class, but I never used the word violence."

Quotes Ickes and Wallace.
Strachey opened his defense by quoting from Secretary Ickes' book, "The Primer of the New Deal."

"The Government has to go a new way because the old way is closed forever," Strachey read.

From Secretary Wallace's book, "Statesmanship and Religion," Strachey read: "I am inclined to agree... that capitalism is a rather natural outgrowth of Protestantism; and would go further in saying that Socialism, Communism and Fascism are in turn rather natural outgrowths of capitalism."

By this, he said, Wallace was not advocating any of the "isms," but merely pointing out the trend. In the same way, he said, he (Strachey) was not advocating the overthrow of the Government, but merely predicting.

Quotes MacDonald.
Strachey quoted Prime Minister MacDonald as having declared Oct. 8, 1930: "The capitalist system has crashed in England, Europe and America; this system has crashed because it was inevitable. There is only one means of saving humanity—that is socialism."

From a printed report, Strachey's lawyer read a declaration, attributed to R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada: "Mr. Strachey is one of the profound thinkers of our time."

Summarizing the reasons why he believed he should not be deported, Strachey said he was not a member of the Communist party; that he did not favor force or violence; and that he had not advocated any line of action in this country.

"If I am deported," he concluded, "it will be because the discussion of our vital modern political and economical problems is now prohibited in the United States."

Strachey's lawyer said if the decision were for deportation he would seek writ of habeas corpus and carry the fight to the next court.

The hearing was completed and Strachey and his wife returned to New York. The Department of Labor Board of Review, will recommend the action to be taken.

Strachey denied published reports that he had announced his decision to return to England next Thursday. He said that he would remain here in order to see this matter through if necessary.

"I had planned to sail March 28 and passages were booked long before I was arrested," he added.

Yesterday's Proceedings: Clash Over Red Pamphlets.

Arthur Garfield Hays, New York lawyer, objected vigorously yesterday to the manner in which the hearing was conducted.

Hays, who was supplied by the American Civil Liberties Union to defend Strachey, and William J. Zuker, immigration inspector presiding at the hearing, engaged in a heated clash after Zuker had summarized the evidence by which the Government seeks to expel Strachey from the country as an alien Communist.

Excerpts From Books.
Through most of the day Zuker read excerpts from Strachey's books and articles into the record.

Strachey then endeavored to show that in each of them he had merely set down his analysis of current political movements, had limited his work to expressions of his point of view and statements of fact and that none of them could be interpreted as advocacy of the overthrow of the United States Government by violence.

Zuker summarized his findings thus:

"Mr. Strachey, in your books entitled 'The Coming Struggle for Power' and 'The Nature of the Capitalist Crisis' you state that capitalist imperialism is in an acute state of disintegration and that the coming of Communism can alone render our problems soluble; that it is the purpose of Communism to effect the expropriation of the capitalists by the revolutionary working class; that the assumption of power by the workers can occur by means of revolution alone."

"You make reference to the working class dictatorship in the Soviet Union; that the Soviet Union gives us the only concrete indications of what Communism will be like when it does come into existence; that a working class dictatorship can be successful only if the working class succeeds in organizing that indispensable instrument of the workers' will, a Communist party."

"You make reference that a Communist society cannot admit of national boundaries; that the existence of the U. S. S. R. is one of the assurances that some of the many opportunities for revolt will be taken; that all the Communist parties of the world are tightly bound together in the Third International because Communism is in its very essence international."

Strachey contended he had advocated nothing and denied he was a Communist.

Strachey's Observations.
Strachey made these observations in an effort to explain his views:

"Abolition of the capitalist system is the only way to avoid international and civil war. Capitalism is increasing violence. Science, knowledge, open discussion and debate alone can give us the hope of banishing violence. Suppression endangers peace. Force employed by Fascist, capitalist governments is disrupting civilization and will give workers opportunity for successful revolution."

"There is nothing to prevent the holding of Communist beliefs and holding a sincere love for one's country which I claim to hold."

"I regard Communism as a method by which civilization can be maintained, developed and preserved from violence by capitalist imperialism. I'll explain the word 'revolution.' It means transfer of political power from one social class to another. There have been instances where such passage has taken place without violence. There may be a critical moment in such a revolution. There may be such moments in the future. This does not mean I am advocating that such critical moments should occur." Strachey argued: "When Zuker read an excerpt holding 'millions of Americans take over the instruments of production only to take fields, factories and railroads from a gang of millionaires' to execute this transition, I do not advocate this action."

BILL TO ELIMINATE ANNUAL FEES ON CITY GOLF LINKS

Measure Would Drop Flat $10 Charge and Assess $4.50 for 10 Rounds on 18-Hole Course.

A bill to change the fees for use of the municipal golf links in Forest Park was introduced in the Board of Aldermen today at the request of the Park Department.

Instead of the present annual fee of $10, regardless of the amount of playing, the new rates would be $4.50 for 20 rounds on the nine hole course or 10 rounds on the 18-hole course, and $10 for 50 rounds of nine holes or 25 rounds of 18 holes. The permits would not be transferable. The present fees of 25 cents for a single round of nine holes and 50 cents for an 18-hole round would be retained.

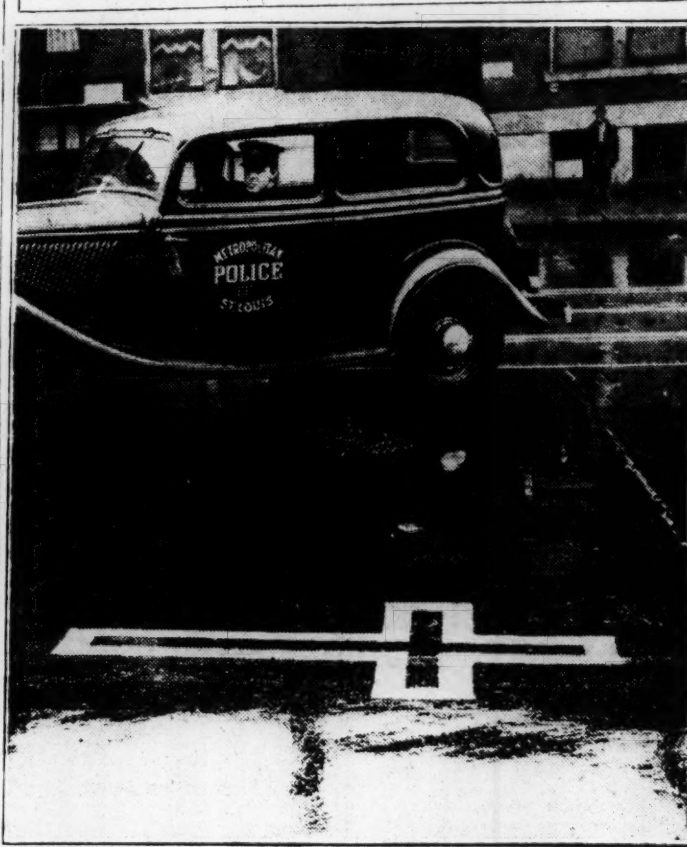

Alderman Collins, chairman of the new special committee to investigate whether three Aldermen had interests in city contracts in violation of the Charter, announced that the first hearing would be held Monday afternoon. He said the case of Aldermen Litchen and Israel, who were charged by a former concessionaire with sharing in the profits of the Municipal Auditorium wrap-checking concession, probably would be taken up first.

Police Chief Kills Himself.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENSENVILLE, Ill., March 22.—Police Chief Herman Wagner shot and killed himself with his service revolver in the Bensenville village hall after being asked for his resignation yesterday. Village President George Runge explained that his work had been "unsatisfactory." It was at Bensenville that Edward G. Bremer was held by kidnapers until $200,000 ransom was paid.

POLICE TRYING TO DETERMINE IF TRAIN VICTIM WAS SHOT

Empty Shell Found Near Where Body of Bridegroom Was Discovered on Tracks.

The possibility that Henry Young might have been shot before he was run over by an Illinois Terminal System electric train on the McKinley Bridge early yesterday was being investigated today by East Side authorities.

An empty .38 caliber shell and the bullet which had been discharged from it were found late yesterday near where Young's body lay. A chemical examination of a substance which coated the bullet was ordered.

There was no readily discernible bullet wound in Young's body, which was badly mutilated by the train. Young had been married the night before he was killed to Miss Laverne Boschert, 1207 Monroe street. Young, an unemployed foundry worker, lived in Venice, Ill.

50 Held in Spanish Revolt Plot.

MADRID, March 22.—Fifty persons were arrested last night in a revolt plot in the Province of Jaen, the Governor of the province announced. He said ramifications of the attempted insurrection linked many towns throughout the province. Police seized quantities of documents.

'NO MYSTIC METHOD' OF SAVING BREWERY

Judge Davis Comments on Obert Co. Petition to Reorganize Business.

Federal Judge Davis today advised attorneys for the Louis Obert Brewing Co., 2700 South Twelfth street, that the Court has no "mystic method" for saving a business in distress, and he cautioned the attorneys against being too hopeful that their proposal to reorganize the business would be successful.

Judge Davis addressed his remarks to the attorneys when they appeared today with a request for approval of a debtor's petition for reorganizing the brewery under the amended bankruptcy laws. The petition was filed yesterday by the company. Otto Fickelissen, an attorney, who said he represented creditors holding $100,000 in notes of the brewery, told the Court he saw no hope for the company to work out of its difficulties, and he pointed out that the debtor's petition failed to suggest a reorganization plan.

Judge Davis, in taking the matter under advisement, remarked that "a good many people will be disappointed if they believe a court has some mystic method for saving a failing business." The Court also commented on the difficulty in raising money for a business in difficulties.

Assets were listed in the petition at $35,000, against debts of $190,000. The company has been unable to obtain credit with which to continue manufacture, which was suspended last August, according to the petition. The brewery has continued to sell the stock of aged beer on hand, and officers expressed the opinion that they can effect a reorganization with principal creditors with the approval of the Court. Stock outstanding consists of 33,000 shares of preferred stock, at $3 a share, and 100,000 shares of no par common.

The brewery, which shut down in 1927 after making a beverage for several years, was rehabilitated in 1933 at a cost of $203,000, and its product was placed on the market in November of that year, the petition states. In February, 1934, a deed of trust protecting 162 creditors, with claims aggregating $150,000, was assigned to Orville Livingston, head of the St. Louis Association of Credit Men, to secure $5 per cent notes given the creditors. Last November nine employees filed suit for a receivership to protect their interests, but subsequently dismissed the action.

Obert Brewery was established in 1876 by Louis A. Obert, father of Louis Obert, the present president.

MORE DUST FROM PLAINS BLOWN OVER ST. LOUIS

Clouds Not So Intense This Time but Plane Pilots Report Visibility Affected.

More dust from Western plains hung over St. Louis last night, but it was not so thick as the night before, and by morning it had gone. The new dust clouds arrived at 9 o'clock and were most intense between midnight and 4 a. m. when the airport weather bureau station reported visibility was reduced to about a half mile.

An airplane pilot who landed last night at 10:30 o'clock reported that he could not see the ground from 3000 feet up. This morning's rain helped to wash what dust remained out of the skies.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The Senate today passed a bill providing for a $2400 a year clerk for the Prosecuting Attorney's office in St. Louis. The bill already has passed the House and now goes to the Governor. Senator Brogan said the clerk would be used mainly as a record clerk.

STEELWORKER FATALLY HURT ON WAY TO VISIT SICK FATHER

Ernest Bullard of Granite City Hit by Auto as He Starts to Enter His Car.

Ernest Bullard, 28-year-old Granite City steelworker, died at Belleville early today of fractured skull and other injuries suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile near Marissa, Ill. Bullard, with relatives and friends was on his way to visit Bullard's father, reported dying at Dover, Tenn.

The occupants of Bullard's machine had returned to their seats in the car after eating lunch at roadside. Bullard was standing on the highway preparing to get in the machine, when another car, driven south by H. T. Hamill, retired Marissa hardware dealer, struck him. Hamill told authorities he was blinded by the headlights of a northbound automobile.

NEGRO GETS 90 DAYS AFTER RABBIT-RAISING RUMPU

Animals Disappeared, Partners Accused Each Other of Eating Them; Stabbing Followed.

Cornelius Fitch, Negro, 1427 North Thirteenth street, was sentenced to 90 days in the Workhouse by Police Judge Vest today on a peace disturbance charge which grew out of Fitch's disagreement with his neighbor, Jefferson Griffen, Negro, with whom he had engaged in a rabbit-raising enterprise.

In the attic they had made a pen for two rabbits owned jointly. Fitch went to the attic March 3 and found both rabbits gone. Griffen made the same discovery and when they met each accused the other of having had rabbit stew. Fitch stabbed his partner who appeared in court today after having spent more than a week in the hospital. After both had testified the disappearance of the rabbits still was unexplained.

BOY AND PET ROOSTER ARRIVE IN CITY ON 'RODS' FROM TEXAS

Lad Deserted by Father Awaits Word From Stepmother at Painesville, O.

George Warner, 15 years old, left alone at Hamilton, Tex., with but 5 cents, arrived yesterday on the "rods" beneath a train coach, with Benjamin, his pet game rooster, in a cardboard box.

The boy and the bird, George, tattered and hungry, Benjamin in fine fettle save for a few ruffled feathers, went to East St. Louis with a truck driver who promised to pick them up at the police station later and give them a lift to Cleveland, near their destination. The driver failed to appear.

During his wait, last night, George told police that his father, with whom he was living at Hamilton, disappeared several weeks ago. Last week, George said, he decided to visit his stepmother at Painesville, O. So he packed Benjamin in a cardboard box, with his nickel in a safe place and went to the railroad yards. The nickel went for two and one-half pounds of feed, somewhere along the route, for Benjamin. If no word is received from relatives today, George and Benjamin will be lodged for a time at the Juvenile Detention Home at Belleville.

COLLEGE HEAD TESTIFIES AT MELLON INQUIRY

Dr. W. O. Hotchkiss Gives Study of Rise of Iron Ore Industry at Tax Hearing.

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, March 22.—A study of the rise of the iron ore industry in the Lake Superior region was introduced in Andrew W. Mellon's income tax hearing before the Board of Tax Appeals today.

Dr. William Otis Hotchkiss, president of the Michigan College of Mines and Technology, showed from a business chart that the consumption trend of iron ore in the United States increased from 10,000,000 tons in 1890 to 56,000,000 in 1915, and to 62,000,000 in 1930.

The testimony was designed by Mellon's attorneys to support their contention of the high value of the McClellin-Marshall Corporation, a steel fabricating concern, in 1913, the first year of the income tax law. Conditions in iron ore—production, shipments and consumption—were considered as reflecting the situation in the steel industry.

Value in 1913 Issue in Case. Government counsel contends that Mellon, in disposing of a 30 per cent interest in McClellin-Marshall in 1931, made a profit of more than $5,000,000 and should have paid about $1,000,000 in income taxes on the deal.

The basic valuation of the corporation's stock in 1913 is a point of contention in arriving at an estimate of its value for taxation purposes at the time of the transfer. Mellon's attorneys contend it was worth about $500 a share in 1913; the Government says it was worth about $158.

Hotchkiss pointed out on his charts the consumption trend of iron ore over the years and he said any steel man would have had these conditions in mind. "He would have had this line before him to guide his judgment," said the witness, pointing to the little black line on the chart and showing that while it rose rapidly between 1890 and 1915, it then leveled off with smaller upward curves.

It was brought out also that in 1934 consumption dropped to the lowest figure since 1890.

Robert H. Jackson, chief counsel for the Government in the case, yesterday charged the technical constructions that defy common sense in the income tax laws have permitted stepping-up of wealth "under the disguise of nontaxable reorganizations."

The attorney made this assertion before leaving by plane for a Washington conference with his superiors.

Governed by 1928 Law. "The complicated nature of the McClellin-Marshall issue illustrates the regrettably technical state of the income tax law," said Jackson. He asserted the issue was governed by the revenue law of 1928, and a Treasury regulation signed by Mellon himself as Secretary in 1929, and added that earlier income tax laws had been much more strict in relation to mergers.

"The Congress attempted to provide a way by which business could readjust itself and freely expand," said Jackson. "Those for whom these benefits were provided and their advisers have abused the privilege so extensively that they endanger the very continuance of the privilege."

"The more liberal provisions have become involved in technical constructions that defy common sense and have been used to permit the stepping up of wealth into something essentially different and vastly more valuable under the disguise of non-taxable reorganizations."

Hearings in Fifth Week. The Mellon hearing is now in its fifth week. Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for Mellon, disclosed he had 29 more witnesses to call—about 20 of them living in New York. By agreement of counsel, it was decided to shift the hearing to New York to take their testimony on completion of the hearing in Pittsburgh now expected, about two weeks hence.

Jackson, in his statement, said the United States Supreme Court, "in the Gregory case," recently gave great aid to the proper administration of the law by holding that forms of corporate reorganization could not be used "as a mask to shelter actual profits from taxability." He added:

"Whether this decision will be sufficient without legislation to restore common sense to the application of the reorganization provisions remains to be seen."

Informed of the statement, Hogan said: "I regret that Mr. Jackson still finds it impossible to refrain from trying this case in the newspapers. I shall continue to try my side of this case before the Board of Tax Appeals."

SIX KILLED IN CRASH OF FRENCH NAVAL PLANE

Giant Amphibian Signals Distress to Fishing Craft as It Falls Near Brest.

RENNES, Brittany, France, March 22.—Three officers and three sailors were killed last night in the wreckage of a giant French naval seaplane which crashed in flames near Brest harbor. The plane was flying from Lannion air base, the French naval station at the western tip of Brittany, when it burst into flames and signaled its distress to fishing craft in the harbor.

DR. EARL J. POE RECEIVES ST. LOUIS U. DENTAL AWARD

Presentation Made for Table Clinic Demonstration at Annual Alumni Meeting.

Dr. Earl J. Poe, 433 Bellevue avenue, Webster Groves, was awarded the St. Apollonian plaque, annually presented by St. Louis University to the dentist giving the outstanding table clinic demonstrations at the annual meeting of the alumni of the School of Dentistry. The award was made Wednesday evening at the alumni dinner.

Dr. Poe's clinic consisted of a demonstration of the staining of porcelain and original methods of replacing teeth.

Dr. Thomas E. Prosser was elected president of the alumni group to succeed Dr. Virgil Laager. Other officers elected were: Dr. Ross L. Chase, vice-president, and Dr. P. F. O'Brien, secretary and treasurer. During the two-day meeting lectures and clinic demonstrations were given by Dr. A. C. Engel, Dr. L. R. Main, Dr. W. D. Collier, Dr. J. U. Auer, Dr. E. R. Hart and Dr. E. B. Owen.

Caretaker at Hotel Found Dead. An autopsy will be performed on the body of John Fowler, 51 years old, caretaker at the Newstead Hotel, Newstead avenue and Olive street, who was found dead in his quarters yesterday afternoon. Fowler's wife, Emma, resides at 1289 Hamilton avenue.

50 CANADIAN CONVICTS REVOLT AS FIRE STARTS IN PRISON

Guards Smash Steel Door to Shoe Shop and Lead Them Back to Cells.

By the Associated Press. KINGSTON, Ont., March 22.—Fifty convicts locked themselves in the clothing and shoe shop of the Kingston penitentiary last night while fires were started which brought out all available apparatus. Guards smashed down a steel door leading to the boot and clothing workshop and led the revolting prisoners to their cells as flames raged less than 50 feet away in the building where mail bags are manufactured. Prison officials refused to discuss the incident. There was no official statement as to how the fires were started.

GUARD INCREASED
AT TRIAL OF CHASEAfter "Tip" Alleged Pal of "Baby Face" Nelson Plan Break for Freedom.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Information that John Paul Chase planned a desperate break for freedom caused his guard to be trebled yesterday in the courtroom where he is on trial for the killing of Inspector Samuel P. Cowley of the Department of Justice.

To the Government came the tip that the former California bootlegger, accused as the companion of George (Baby Face) Nelson in the fight at Barrington, had boasted "I won't be here when the trial ends."

As a result Chase was kept manacled to two deputies in the courtroom, two others sat in front of him, two behind him and about the doors and windows Federal men were stationed. Chase was given new quarters in the county jail behind three additional steel doors.

Judge Philip Sullivan pounded his gavel sharply once when a spectator moved to close an open window and ordered: "Bailiff, tell that man to take care of that. If the person stands up after this, remove him from the court."

The court cautioned Government men to be certain that weapons presented in evidence were unused.

Most of the session was spent in

THREE GET 10 YEARS EACH
ON GUILTY PLEAS IN ROBBERIES

Lloyd Hall to Be Sent to Alcoa Reformatory; Lawrence Vivien and Laurence Callahan to Prison.

Three men pleaded guilty of robbery and were sentenced by Circuit Judge Russell today to 10 years in prison. The term of Lloyd Hall, 20 years old, will be served at the Alcoa reformatory, and his ex-convict associates, Lawrence Vivien, 26, and Laurence Callahan, 26, will go to the penitentiary at Jefferson City.

The three held up Joe Fann and Ford Ross, filling station attendants, last January, robbing Fann of $14 and Ross of $23.

Vivien also held up John Gremmler, taxicab driver, and robbed him of $6. Callahan and Hall held up Calvin Fuchs, a garage attendant, and robbed him of $42.

Man, 72, Hurt by Truck.
John Exler, 72 years old, suffered fractured ribs and an injured hip when he was struck by a truck in an alley back of 4226 Manchester avenue at noon yesterday. The driver did not stop. Exler was treated by a physician and taken to his home, 4349 Swan avenue.

technical testimony as experts sought to show that bullets had been fired from the gangsters' automobile into the car occupied by Inspector Cowley and Agent Herman E. Hollis, also fatally shot as the agents attempted to apprehend Nelson, his companion, and Nelson's wife, Helen Gillis. Nelson was fatally wounded as the three escaped Nov. 27.

Government attorneys said they would not call Mrs. Gillis as a witness but the defense immediately announced it would subpoena her.

WALKER IS POUNDED AND CARDINALS LOSE TO TIGERS, 12 TO 5

Paul Dean Allows Two Runs in Five Innings; Gehring Poles Homer

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
LAKELAND, Fla., March 22.—The world champion Cardinals lost to the Detroit Tigers, 1934 American League pennant winners, in the first game of their spring "world series" in Florida. The score was 12 to 5.

The contest attracted about 3000 customers.

McLaughlin and Parker were the umpires.

Johnny Rothrock, out for several days because of an attack of the flu, was back in right field, but Gene Moore remained in center.

Terry Moore still being handicapped by a pulled thigh muscle.

The game:

FIRST INNING—CARDINALS.

Martin popped to Greenberg. Rogell threw out Rothrock. Frisch got a single on a tricky bouncer to Rogell. Gehring threw out Medwick.

TIGERS. White walked. Cochran singled to left, sending White to third. Gehring singled to right, scoring White and sending Cochran to third. Greenberg singled off Martin's leg, scoring Cochran.

Gehring stopping at second. G. Walker hit into a double play, Frisch to first base, but reached second safely and was credited with a stolen base. Frisch threw out Owens.

TWO RUNS.

SECOND—CARDINALS. Collins was called out on strikes. DeLancey fled to G. Walker. G. Moore walked. G. Moore was out stealing.

Cochran to Gehring.

TIGERS. Morgan walked. Hatter hit into a double play, Martin to Durocher to Frisch. White fled to left. Cochran walked. Durocher threw out Gehring.

THIRD—CARDINALS. Durocher grounded to Owens. P. Dean walked. Martin doubled to right. P. Dean stopping at third. Rothrock singled to left, scoring P. Dean, and when G. Walker missed connection with the ball, Martin also scored and Rothrock reached second.

Frisch tripled to right center, scoring Rothrock. Medwick tripled to the same spot, scoring Frisch. Collins struck out. DeLancey grounded to Greenberg.

FOUR RUNS.

TIGERS. Greenberg struck out. G. Walker beat out a grounder to Frisch. Rogell fled to G. Moore. Owens forced G. Walker. Durocher to Frisch.

FOURTH—CARDINALS. G. Moore doubled to left. Gehring threw out Durocher. G. Moore moving to third. P. Dean hit off Hatter's glove to Rogell, who threw him out. G. Moore holding third.

TIGERS. Morgan fled to Rothrock. Martin fled to Hatter. White fled to Rothrock.

FIFTH—CARDINALS. Rothrock hit and was thrown out by Owens. Frisch grounded to Gehring. Medwick lined to Owens.

TIGERS. Cochran walked. Gehring popped to Frisch. Greenberg singled to right, scoring Cochran. G. Walker hit into a double play, Durocher to Frisch to Collins.

SIXTH—CARDINALS. Sullivan and Hayworth formed the new Detroit battery. Rogell threw out Collins. DeLancey fled to White. G. Moore was called out on strikes.

TIGERS. Walker went in to pitch. Werthington to right field. Whitehead to second base. Collins to Werthington. Morgan walked. Sullivan singled to right, scoring Sullivan. Morgan grounded to third. White was safe.

Whitehead missed his grounder. Morgan scoring and Sullivan going to third. Sullivan threw out Hayworth. Sullivan scoring. Gehring hit a home run to left center, scoring behind White. Greenberg fled to Werthington. FIVE RUNS.

SEVENTH—CARDINALS. Sullivan threw out Durocher. Walker fouled to Owens. Martin singled to center. Werthington fled to G. Walker.

TIGERS. Wilson went to third for the Cardinals. G. Walker singled to right, sending G. Walker to center, scoring G. Walker, and sending Rogell to third. Morgan singled to left, scoring Rogell. Sullivan stopping at second. Sullivan struck out. Fox batted for White. Schubel for Owens. Durocher threw out Schubel and took second on Schubel's wild throw. Collins singled to left, scoring Collins. DeLancey forced Collins. Gehring to Frisch. G. Moore struck out. ONE RUN.

EIGHTH—CARDINALS. Schubel went to third and Fox to center field. Whitehead grounded to Rogell. Medwick beat out a grounder to Schubel and took second on Schubel's wild throw. Collins singled to left, scoring Collins. DeLancey forced Collins. Gehring to Frisch. G. Moore struck out. ONE RUN.

NINTH—CARDINALS. Rogell threw out Gehring. Carey now batting for Walker. Carey popped to Gehring. Wilson fled to Morgan.

CARNERA AND LOUIS SIGN FOR MILK FUND BOUT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Joe

Louis, the knockout terror of Detroit, and Primo Carnera today signed contracts to meet before the Twentieth Century Club for the benefit of the free milk fund for babies, probably on June 19 at the Polo Grounds.

Louis Sores, official manager of

Carnera, Mike Jacobs, matchmaker for the club, and Bill Farnsworth, spokesman for Mrs. William Randolph, sponsor of the fund, appeared before the Boxing Commission this afternoon and asked that June 19 be assigned to them for the first of the great out-door milk fund attractions.

General Phelan and Bill Brown, while visiting new, big and better that they could not assign the date until April 2, when all the official out-door dates will be allotted.

Hubbell Says 'High, Hard Ones'

Are Best With Livelier Ball

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TAMPA, Fla., March 22.—Carl Owen

Hubbell hurled only one of his famous "screw" balls for every four he used to pitch with the change in the official league ball last year did not keep the ace of the Giants' staff from leading all rivals in effectiveness for the second straight season, but it did alter his hurling habits.

Hitters who were comparatively easy to stop with the deader ball in 1933 became tough in 1934," said

Hubbell today while discussing the burdens of big league pitching life.

Had to Bear Down.

"That meant bearing down more often, because the big hitters are

Colorful Cardinals Are Big Drawing Card in Florida

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 22.—The Cardinals have been establishing new attendance records throughout the Grapefruit League.

Unprecedented crowds saw the Cards and Giants at Miami, a new attendance at Bradenton has been twice what it was in other years.

The crowd at Fort Myers, Monday, was the largest in 11 years.

Cardinal color is the answer. But Harrell's performance was the outstanding feature and it was probably the most encouraging game of the year. For Manager

Harrell, because of the young righthander's exhibition. Harrell won his last year and Frisch took a shine to him shortly after training started. Harrell is a trim young athlete, clean cut, earnest and poise helping his status as a rookie.

Harrell, trying too hard to make good. But against the Giants in the final of the four-game spring series, he took a long stride toward a regular job with the world champions.

Pepper Martin showed the linetomers his head first slide. Leo

Durocher made several great stops and throws. Gene Moore hit two doubles. Gena Moore a triple and

The game didn't start auspiciously for Harrell. Hughie Critz missed two strikes, but connected with his next swing and sent a triple to left center. That easily could have upset a young pitcher and, when Bar-vis was rattled. But he didn't give any signs. He pitched carefully and confidently to the dangerous

Leiber and Leiber struck out. That brought up the dangerous Ott, and Harrell struck him out without giving him a good foul. Bill Terry hit had to be dealt with, but Harrell took care of that. He quickly loomed as the man to beat for the

Charleston open tournament title as third round play began today in the 72-hole event.

The former Charleston Country

Club pro was five strokes under par and two ahead of the field as the third 18-hole round began in the $3000 tournament.

Yesterday he fired a 69 to pair with his opening day 68 for a 137

total to gain the lead over the field of more than 100.

Harry Cooper of Chicago moved into a threatening position with a sensational 68 for the second round, which, paired with his 139 for second place.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Kansas City pulled into third position with a consistent 70-70-140, one stroke better than Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee, who equaled Picard's 68 the first day only to fall behind with a second round 73.

Wifty Cox of Brooklyn slipped from his first round 69 to a costly

78 for 147.

Grouped with Revolta at 141

and Ky Laffoon of Denver.

Walter Hagen, arriving a day late for his start, carded a 73 and today faced a 36-hole stretch to

What the Umpire Saw When Diz Met Babe

In the picture, Dean is out on the mound and has just pitched to Ruth. Bill DeLancey is the Cardinal catcher. The Babe hit the pitch a fair country mile but Gene Moore came up with a great catch in center, and the honors went to Frisch's great pitcher.

that John Macken will see some service at center halfback. He missed last Sunday's game due to an injured ankle, but he has had three weeks' rest and, because of the importance of this game, he will likely start and then remain as long as his ankle holds out.

Jim Brennan, a fullback who spends much of his time out of the city, will be back in time for Sunday's game and, while he may not be an actual improvement over either of the present backs, his presence will add to the reserve strength of the champions.

Villagers' Only Weakness.
The Irish Village team, well conditioned and enthusiastic over their 2-1 victory of last Sunday in which they tied up the series, have no particular worries. They have felt a weakness at left halfback, but the team has good reserve strength and Manager Clawsey may be relied upon to plug that gap. Sunday's game will start at 1:30 p. m. in order to permit fans to see the national soccer cup game at Sportsman's Park later.

RANGER PAIR IS HIGH IN HOCKEY SCORING RACE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 22.—If they paid off on rugged individuality in the National Hockey League, the Stanley Cup would go to the New York Rangers, a team conceded only an outside chance of capturing the world championship trophy.

Six teams will compete, starting Saturday, with some 90 eligible players. The Toronto Maple Leafs, who finished the regular season with the greatest number of points, are slight favorites to succeed the Chicago Blackhawks as champions.

Fine Front Line.

The Toronto players, including the great Chuck Conacher and Harvey Jackson, will get the spotlight, but quite likely they'll be crowded for positions by the veteran Ranger front line, Bill Cook and Brother Bun, and Frankie Boucher.

The Cooks and Boucher hold three places in a "big ten" made up of scoring stars who have been in the major circuits 10 years or more and who have accounted for at least 200 points each.

Bill Cook, who at 39 years of age has been playing professionally 13 years, the last nine with the Rangers, has amassed a total of 438 points in Western Canada and National League competition, exclusive of playoffs. Forty-two points behind him, with 14 seasons, Boucher is in second place. Bun Cook, with only 11 seasons and 319 points, ranks sixth.

Howie Morenz, for 11 seasons a mainstay of the Montreal Canadiens but now wearing the uniform of the Chicago Blackhawks, is third with 426 points. He is the only Chicago member of the exclusive set.

Three Bostonians.

The Boston Bruins have three men in the "big ten": Neils Stewart, Eddie Shore and Babe Siebert.

Scoring records of the "big ten" follow:

	Goals	A.	Pts.
Bill Cook, N. Y. Rangers	308	180	488
Frank Boucher, Rangers	193	251	446
Howie Morenz, Chicago	260	166	426
Canadien, Montreal	232	160	392
Neils Stewart, Boston	245	121	366
Bun Cook, Rangers	177	142	319
Hooley Smith, Montreal	146	150	296
Maroons, Chicago	132	133	265
Frank, Boston	100	123	223
Eddie Shore, Boston	103	109	212
Babe Siebert, Boston	103	109	212

THERIAULT AND WISBAR WIN WRESTLING BOUTS

Ed Theriault threw Tony Rath in 27 minutes, and Gus Wisbar tossed Ed Cestimo in the two finish bouts of the wrestling program held at the Coliseum last night.

The three preliminary matches were drawn, with Earl Wadsack meeting Charley Kuehn, Jack Harris and Al Haemmerle wrestling in another, and Dick Hiedel and Sam Spovale clashing in the other.

"Carnera? Imp? I Can Lick 'Em Both," Snorts Dempsey

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Jack Dempsey still has his old punch. But he delivers it with his tongue now, instead of his fist. He gave proof this week when criticism of his conduct, as referee, of the Carnera-Impelletiere fight March 15 finally got under his skin and he told what he was thinking about to a boxing writer in an interview in the World-Telegram.

Said Jack:

"Of course Carnera was rough; of course he threw everything everywhere, but that's the only way he can fight. But the Imp was just as rough, and if I'd clamped down on them, it would have been very terrible. That's what's killing the boxing game now—they're a bunch of jukes who want to pull this 'excuse me' stuff after each punch."

"A fight is a fight, and if a man can't protect himself, he ought to stay out of the ring. The public had paid to see a battle, and I wasn't going to cheat the crowd by making the two guys stand up there and paw like a pair of sissies."

"As a matter of fact, neither of them can punch hard enough to crack an egg, and I can lick 'em both, myself, long as I've been out of training. What if they did punch low—neither of them could hit hard enough to hurt a child. The punches landed after the bell were disregarded for the same reason."

"There's no such thing as roughness in a fight. You're either fighting or you're not, and I mean to make 'em fight when I referee. It's not a pink tea and it'll be ruined by this pansy stuff unless they let the boys go to it without handuffs."

"So long as they don't kick and bite, they can keep at it for all I get a laugh when I hear people talking about Carnera being rough, though. I wish they could see a really rough fight—that'd open their eyes a little. Carnera did not foul intentionally—he was just rough and trying and the game needs someone like that."

"Lenny lost his head when he jumped in the ring and he shows bad sportsmanship by slobbering on fous when he brought his man into the ring in terrible condition. I was going to stop the fight, not because the Imp was hurt by Primo's punches, but because he was too exhausted to go on. He was in no danger of getting injured."

"Both of them were copping sneaks by hitting on the breaks, and I was walking between them to stop it, and I took a round from Carnera when he punched low, though the blow didn't hurt. Otherwise, I let them go to it. Neither man complained about fouls a single time during the fight. But neither is clever or a puncher, and if I'd forced them to play nice, there wouldn't have been a fight."

AIR PILOT SAMMY TO DEFEND TITLES IN CENTRAL ILLINOIS TRIAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PANA, Ill., March 22.—With more than 40 entries, Central Illinois Amateur Field Trial Club will hold its spring trials six miles south of Pana near Oceone on the club's course tomorrow and Sunday.

The best pointer and setter dogs in the State will compete in a puppy stake tomorrow, with an all-age stake and Derby race scheduled for Sunday. Trials will begin at 7 a. m. each day and continue until all races are run.

Owners of pointers and setters from Mattoon, Decatur, Springfield, Chicago, Benton, Robinson, Lawrenceville, Taylorville, Vandalia, Moweaqua, Stoughton, Villa Grove, East St. Louis, Greenville and Pana are entered and assure the finest meet in the history of this vicinity.

Sam Miller, Mattoon, who won the Derby and all-age stake at the fall trials with his pointer, Air Pilot Sammy, will be the defending champion.

Thacher Parker and Harry Decker, national judges, will officiate.

Ban Johnson League to Meet.

The Ban Johnson League of the Municipal Baseball League will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at 915 Pine street for the purpose of organizing an eight-club group with games to be played on Sunday afternoons in Forest Park.

FRISCO FINANCIAL HEARING
ADJOURNED TO NEXT THURSDAY

Head of Speyer & Co., Bankers, Expected to Be Called as Witnesses in New York.
NEW YORK, March 22.—The inquiry into the financial management of the Frisco Railroad before bankruptcy was resumed yesterday and almost immediately adjourned to next Thursday. Previous hearings were held in St. Louis.
James Speyer, head of Speyer & Co., Frisco bankers for many years, is expected to be the first witness called next week. He will be asked by Frank A. Thompson of St. Louis, representing Co-Trustee John G. Lonsdale, whether his firm profited through the Frisco's purchase of stock in other railroads.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

NLRB DECIDES LACLEDE FIRM VIOLATED 7-A

Regional Labor Board in St. Louis Upheld in Its Ruling in Collective Bargaining Controversy.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The National Labor Relations Board ruled today that the Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis had violated section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act by failure to bargain collectively and by "the discriminatory discharge" of Joe Davis, an employee, in connection with a union dispute.
Recently, as was told in the Post-Dispatch, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation gained control over the top holding company in the Harley Clark structure which gives the RFC at least nominal control over the Laclede Company, a unit in the Clark pyramid. It was pointed out to Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC that the NLRB might possibly appeal to him to help enforce the board's decision, but Jones took the same stand that he has taken in the past, refusing to accept the implications of management over this operating subsidiary.

"We've got the top holding company, if anybody can tell me what that means," Jones said. "Anyway there was a man in here the other day trying to sell me a $50,000 natural gas pipe line from Texas to St. Louis and Detroit."
The NLRB accepts the finding of facts originally returned in the Laclede case before the Regional Labor Board in St. Louis. Subsequently attorneys for the Laclede Company challenged the jurisdiction of the board at a hearing here, contending that the company had surrendered the Blue Eagle and had not been properly notified of the extension of President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement. The board in its decision today ignored the issue of jurisdiction inasmuch as this is a constitutional question.

"Unless within 10 days from the date of this decision," the board declared, "the Laclede Gas Light Co. notifies this board in writing that it will take prompt steps to bargain collectively in good faith with the Gas House Workers' Union No. 18799 as the exclusive bargaining agent of its employees, for the purpose of reaching an agreement covering hours, wages, and working conditions for a specified period of time, and unless the company offers immediate and full reinstatement to Joe Davis with back pay to Dec. 27, 1934, this case will be referred to the Compliance Division of the National Recovery Administration and to other agencies of the Government for appropriate action."

By "other agencies of the Government," the board is understood to mean the Department of Justice, to which many cases have been referred. Thus far the Justice Department has taken only two or three of these cases to the courts. Francis Biddle, Chairman of the NLRB, has complained of the reluctance of Attorney-General Cummings to take action that, unless more effective compliance could be obtained his board might as well quit.

At the time of the hearing in Washington attorneys for the Laclede company said that inasmuch as they had already surrendered the Blue Eagle they would regard as "harassment" any threat by the NRA to take away the Blue Eagle formally. This is virtually the only form of discipline at the recourse of the NRA.
"The union and the company," said a statement on the Laclede case by the board, "had operated under the terms of an award during the most of 1934 and it was the attempt by the union to submit a collective bargaining agreement at the expiration date of the award that gave rise to the important aspect of the present dispute. In tentative findings of fact issued on Feb. 18, 1935, the board found that the company in refusing to enter into a collective bargaining agreement with Gas House Workers' Union No. 18799 as the exclusive collective bargaining agency of its employees, and in submitting and resubmitting its single counter-proposal, which counter-proposal, had it been accepted by the employees' representatives, would have circumvented that long observed process whereby negotiations are conducted for the purpose of arriving at a collective agreement governing terms of employment, wages, hours and basic working conditions, for some specific period, made manifest its failure to bargain collectively in good faith."

The board concluded that the company had violated section 7-A of the NIRA as incorporated by reference in the President's re-employment agreement, in respect to collective bargaining and discriminatory discharge of Davis. The

COURT REJECTS NO CONTEST PLEA TO BIRD LAW CHARGE

Orders A. J. Brock, Maplewood, to Trial When He Denies Killing Doves.

Albert J. Brock, president of A. J. Brock Inc., refrigerator firm, 7266 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, appeared in Federal Judge Davis' court today and offered to plea no contest to an indictment charging violation of the migratory bird act. The court refused to accept the plea when Brock said he was not guilty of the charge. Brock was charged with shooting two mourning doves out of season in St. Charles County July 31, 1933. The season was Sept. 1 to Dec. 15. Brock told the court he was prepared to accept punishment "to get rid of the case and save persons in St. Charles County the trouble of coming here to testify I was not there when the doves were shot." "I was prepared to fine you $15," said Judge Davis, "but if you say you are not guilty I will not accept your plea. The case is set for trial Monday. If Government witnesses corroborate your statement I will not fine you. However, if you are found guilty, the penalty is going to be substantially higher."

EX-COMMANDER HAYES URGES WAR ON ATHEISM, COMMUNISM

Tells Knights of Columbus Some College Professors Attack American Beliefs.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 22.—A war on end Atheism and Communism was urged by Edward A. Hayes, Decatur, former national commander of the American Legion, at opening of the Knights of Columbus drive for Catholic action mobilization here Tuesday night. "Atheism, he declared, is not only to be found in Soviet Russia and in Mexico in organized form, but it is rapidly becoming a subversive and dangerously effective weapon, being used by radical leaders, even university professors in some instances, to thwart American belief in both God and country."

COTTON PLANTER SENT TO EUROPE BY AAA

Mississippi Opposed Bankhead Cotton Act, Still Considers It Unworkable.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 22.—In dispatching Oscar Johnston, Mississippi cotton planter and AAA official, as an economic envoy to Europe, Secretary Wallace chose the outstanding "utility man" in his organization. A banker, financier, cotton expert, lawyer, former legislator, foreign trade authority, and ex-soldier, Johnston has handled more varied jobs than any other Department of Agriculture official, excepting only the Secretary. Entering the administration as finance director, he devised the complicated set of records through which the AAA dispenses its millions of dollars in benefit payments. Then, as the job developed into routine, he was switched in December, 1933, to head the cotton producers' pool through which the Government handles several million bales of cotton annually. Has 50,000-Acre Plantation. During the time he has held the latter position he has participated frequently in conferences on the cotton reduction programs and assisted other lawyers in the administration, including the AAA legal staff, on questions of law and drafting of new agricultural measures. To fill in his spare time, the portly planter continued to run his mammoth cotton plantation, totaling 50,000 acres, in the Mississippi delta section, and kept up his private business. Still unable to find enough to keep him busy he was lent by Secretary Wallace to Secretary Morgenthau on Jan. 1 to study the extension of Commodity Credit Corporation loans to other crops than corn and cotton. This work held his attention until he finished it in preparation for leaving for Europe to study the tangled international trade situation as it affects exportation of American farm goods. Always an internationalist in the field of economics, Johnston contends that "we cannot get well with the balance of the world sick and for that reason it behooves us to so adjust our economic life and laws as to better promote world-wide welfare."

GLADYS SWARTHOUT. METROPOLITAN OPERA singer, at the International Flower Show in New York. She is wearing a bouquet of sweet scented dard nasturtiums. The variety was produced from an old-fashioned garden nasturtium at a cost of $15,000 by a Philadelphia florist.

SARAH-OLIVE BANK PAYMENT

Depositors to Receive 20 Pct. Making Total of 50 Pct. Payment of $23,453 to about 1000 depositors and other creditors of the Sarah-Olive Bank, which is being liquidated, was authorized yesterday by Circuit Judge O'Malley. The disbursement represents about 20 per cent of such claims against the bank. Creditors previously had received 30 per cent. The payment was made possible by a $39,700 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the remainder will be kept in reserve for claims pending against the bank.

Jailed for Robbing Blind Man. By the Associated Press. ATLANTA, March 22.—A youth convicted of stealing a relief administration food ticket from a blind man yesterday went to jail for three months. He pleaded with the Judge to be lenient because he had already spent 70 days in jail. Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood told him that he could show no leniency for one who had stolen from a blind man.

CONSEQUENCES OF NEW WAR DISCUSSED BY SOVIET ENVOY

Ambassador Troyanovsky Says Any Outbreak in Europe Would Involve World.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 22.—Ambassador Alexander A. Troyanovsky said today any war in Europe would not be local or isolated but "would inevitably be a universal war."

The Soviet envoy to the United States, addressing the Bond Club, said the next war would be "made all the more barbarous and horrible by present day technical improvements."

"Not only soldiers but remote civilians will suffer from poison gases and air attacks," he continued. "Whole cities and villages will be annihilated. The devastation of resources and the setback to present civilization would be incalculable."

He said his country was "compelled to consider any situation also from its own particular standpoint."

"The force of events has compelled us to be prepared for any emergencies," he continued. "We are prepared to safeguard the integrity of our territory. But we seek no conflict and we are on record as being willing to go to the limit for co-operating with other countries to assure and strengthen peace."

Among foreign diplomats and economists he will be completely at home, having traveled extensively through Europe during the last 20 years. Conversant in German and Spanish, he is regarded by those interested in renewed economic relations with foreign countries as the ambassador who can do most toward accomplishing the ends desired.

PLAN TO KEEP OLD POSTOFFICE OPEN ADVOCATED BY COCHRAN

Amendment Announced to Permit New Deal Agencies to Use Building.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Postoffice Department was informed by Representative Cochran of St. Louis today that an amendment would be attached to the second deficiency bill, which will enable the present central Postoffice at Eighth and Olive streets in St. Louis to be kept open. This amendment, to be offered by the Treasury, would allow money appropriated to new agencies of the Government for the purpose of paying office rent to be applied to maintenance of Federal buildings. Under this provision, according to Cochran, all new agencies in St. Louis now in private office buildings would be moved to the old Federal building when the new one is occupied. These new agencies would pay most of the $60,000 annual cost of upkeep, leaving only about $8000 to $10,000 a year for the Postoffice itself to provide. It was only through the misapprehension that it would be obligated to pay the entire cost of upkeep that the Postoffice Department decided to vacate the building at Eighth and Olive streets, Cochran said. Under the amendment to the deficiency bill, according to Cochran, the practice of concentrating New Deal agencies in old Federal buildings will be followed wherever new buildings have been provided. This will result in a considerable saving in rent.

MODERLY BANKER'S WIFE DIES

Mrs. Frances W. Jennings Succumbs at Son's Home.

Mrs. Frances Wight Jennings, wife of J. B. Jennings, president of the Mechanics Bank & Trust Co. of Moberly, Mo., died last night at the home of her son, Howard Jennings, 912 Midland avenue, University City, after an illness of a year. She was 58 years old. Her husband is a former president of the Missouri Bankers' Association. A daughter, Mrs. Donald Cox, Carthage, also survives. Funeral services will be held Sunday at Moberly.

DRUG CHARGE AGAINST DOCTOR

By the Associated Press. FORT WORTH, Tex., March 22.—Dr. I. A. Withers, chairman of the Texas Board of Medical Examiners, was charged yesterday with violating the Federal narcotics law. He was released under $10,000 bond after being accused of conspiring with J. C. Milner and E. F. Gibson, Fort Worth druggists, to "write" prescriptions for large amounts of a drug to enable "addicts" to satisfy their habits. Milner and Gibson were freed under $5000 bond each. Dr. Withers said the action was the result of a misunderstanding of his efforts to help stamp out the drug traffic in Fort Worth.

Official of Packing Company Speaks at East St. Louis. R. F. Cabell, president of Armour & Co., addressed a meeting of representatives of the meat packing industry, Chamber of Commerce, Lions' Club and Forum held at the Broadmoor Hotel in East St. Louis yesterday. Mr. Cabell spoke of the future of the meat industry and the improved conditions which have been shown over the past few years of its operation.

An open forum was held following the meeting in which ways and means were discussed for the betterment of the meat industry in general.

"I SUFFERED WITH CONSTIPATION* FOR SIXTEEN YEARS"

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief to Mr. McNeil

We quote from his unsolicited letter: "I suffered with constipation* for 16 years. Finally, I started using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in connection with other nourishing foods.

"I consider myself a well man at this time, not having had an attack for over two years. I am sure ALL-BRAN helped wonderfully by overcoming constipation*."—Mr. L. M. McNeil, Lockwood, W. Va.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to aid elimination. Also vitamin B and iron.

This "bulk" resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables, so it is more effective. ALL-BRAN continues to get results when used for months.

Isn't this food safer than risking patent medicines? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. If seriously constipated, use with each meal. See your doctor, if you do not get relief.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HAM IS GOOD DOWN TO LAST LEFTOVER

May Be Baked Whole, Boiled in Portion With Vegetables or Sliced and Fried.

The housewife who is a budget devotee will likely shake her head over a ham purchase, classing it as a costly item to be indulged in rarely. But there are tricks to buying ham as there are for other foods. If you insist on nothing but a center slice, you'll pay for your choice selection, but there are better ways to purchase.

A whole ham is a real investment. If your family includes five or more people it is not difficult to use a whole 10- or 12-lb. ham in a few days. Its keeping qualities are far superior to fresh meats and the possibilities of delicious dishes from the "end-of-the-ham" are unlimited. If you do not wish to cook it all at once, have it cut into three parts, using the center slices for broiling or baking, the butt end for soups or boiled dishes. That shank end makes the most delicious ham and navy bean soup.

Baking Ham Simple. Baking a whole ham has been reduced to the simplest term and gives perfectly delicious results. Just remove wrappings and place it in the oven in an open pan, skin and all. The secret is to keep the fire low, lower even than you'd use on an angel food cake. When the ham is at least three-fourths done the heavy skin can be split and removed like a shell. It has done its work of protecting the ham from drying out.

At this stage the delicious brown crustiness is applied by the addition of brown sugar and cloves. The rest of the baking is completed at the same low temperature as before. Easy and effective, you'll say, when you try this simplest of methods. Try this on the next whole ham.

Broiled Ham Slice. Score the fat on the edge of a three-fourths or inch thick slice of ham. Put in a hot frying pan or under the broiler. Sear quickly, turn and brown other side. Lower heat and cook slowly until done.

Ham and Scalloped Potatoes. One thick slice of ham. Four cups sliced raw potatoes. One and one-half cups thin white sauce.

Salt and pepper. Flour the ham slice lightly. Fry on each side until brown and then put into a baking dish, cover with white sauce and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for half an hour. Turn and bake another half hour. Cut pared potatoes into medium thick slices, boil until almost tender and drain. Arrange in casserole, lay slice of ham on top and bake 25 minutes. Serves four to five.

Boiled Ham With Vegetables. One shank end of ham. Five small potatoes. One small head of cabbage cut in fifths.

Five small onions. Three turnips, quartered. Three carrots, quartered. Put shank in hot water and simmer for one hour. Add turnips and when these have cooked 15 minutes add remaining vegetables. Cook 20 minutes longer. Remove vegetables, being careful not to break. Arrange ham in center and put vegetables around it on a platter.

APPLE DUMPLINGS MAY BE STEAMED OR BAKED IN MILK

Even a thing as usual as an apple dumpling can be changed from an everyday dish to a company meal dessert by a variation in cooking. A steamed apple dumpling becomes deliciously tender and one baked in milk and served with a fluffy hard sauce flavored with cinnamon needs no urging to make it disappear.

Steamed Apple Dumpling. Two cups flour. Two teaspoons baking powder. One teaspoon salt. Two tablespoons butter. Sweetened apple sauce. Mix the butter with the sifted flour, salt, and baking powder. Add enough milk to hold a soft dough together. Prepare gem pans by half filling with apple sauce. Drop batter on top of apple sauce and bake for 25 minutes in a moderate (350 degrees) oven. Serve with your favorite sauce.

Apple Dumpling With Milk. One recipe plain pastry. One-half pound apples, cored and peeled.

One-half cup sugar. One-eighth teaspoon cinnamon and nutmeg. One-half cup milk. Cook apples with a little water until tender and add sugar and spices. Roll pastry one-eighth inch thick and cut in four-inch squares. Place two tablespoons cooked apple in each and fold over to make a triangle. Place in a baking dish and pour milk into the pan to cover bottom of dish. Bake until crust is brown. Serve with hard sauce flavored with cinnamon.

ICE BOX PUDDING

Three cups cooked peaches. Four teaspoons gelatin. Two tablespoons cold water. Two cups milk. One-half cup granulated sugar for custard. One-fourth teaspoon salt. Three eggs. One-half pint whipping cream. One teaspoon lemon extract. Two dozen lady fingers (approximately).

Moisten gelatin in cold water. Heat milk and sugar to boiling point, remove from fire, add salt, gelatin, and stir until gelatin is dissolved, cool slightly and pour slowly over well beaten eggs, stirring continuously to prevent curdling. Place in refrigerator and cool until custard begins to thicken. Whip cream until stiff, add extract and custard and mix. Line large loaf cake pan with waxed paper, over all.

then with halved lady fingers. (Thin slices of sponge cake may be substituted). Place layer of peach halves on lady fingers, pour on a portion of the custard, add another layer of lady fingers, more peaches, custard, etc., until all are used placing lady fingers on top. Set in ice box over night. Unmold on plate, slice and serve at once. Sufficient to fill a pan 10x4x3 inches. Serves 12 to 14.

MACARONI CHIPPED BEEF

One-fourth pound chipped beef. Two tablespoons butter. Two cups cooked macaroni. Cream sauce. One-half cup grated cheese. Separate beef into layers and fry in butter until brown and crisp. Make cream sauce and add macaroni. When heated through turn into a serving dish, garnish with chipped beef and sprinkle cheese over all.

ENGLISH TOFFEE

One tablespoon gelatine. One-fourth cup cold water. One and one-half cups light brown sugar. Two cups syrup, white. One-fourth cup butter. One-half cup cream. One-half teaspoonful salt. Two teaspoonfuls vanilla, or One teaspoonful rum flavoring. Put sugar, cream, syrup and salt together. Heat and when boiling, add butter. Stir constantly while cooking. Continue to cook until when tested in cold water a hard ball may be formed (254 degrees). Remove from fire. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Add to hot candy mixture and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add vanilla or rum flavoring. Four into buttered pans to the depth of about one-half inch. When cold, remove from pan and cut in pieces about one-half inch wide and one and one-half inches long. Wrap in waxed paper. Makes about two pounds.

ORANGE BAVARIAN CREAM

One tablespoon gelatin. One-quarter cup cold water. One cup orange juice and pulp. One tablespoon lemon juice. One-half cup sugar. Sprinkling salt. One cup cream. Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes and dissolve by stirring in cold water. Add to orange juice and pulp. When it begins to jelly in whipped cream, turn into mold to become firm. Garnish with orange segments. Serves six.

SOAK GELATIN IN COLD WATER

five minutes and dissolve by stirring in cold water. Add to orange juice and pulp. When it begins to jelly in whipped cream, turn into mold to become firm. Garnish with orange segments. Serves six.

CHEESE AND FISH COMBINE TO MAKE THIS LENTEN SPECIAL

One of the most delicious of fish and cheese combinations is the lenten special, a concoction whose smooth golden cheese sauce is as much a delight to the palate as it is to the eye. This particular Lenten special may be made with an interesting variation of the familiar American cheese.

Shrimp Special.
One tablespoon chopped onion
One-half green pepper, chopped
Two tablespoons butter
One cup whole shrimps
One pint tomato, chopped
One-half pound soft mild cheese
One small can evaporated milk
Salt and pepper
Worcestershire sauce
Browned bread crumbs
One onion and green pepper in butter five minutes. Add shrimps and tomato and cook very slowly until shrimps are hot. Place a serving of shrimps in each individual seafood shell. Melt the cheese slowly in the top of a double boiler. Grind and add the evaporated milk, stirring well after each addition.

Season to taste with salt, pepper and Worcestershire. Cover each serving of shrimps with a generous amount of this sauce. Garnish each shell with a border of crumbs; bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, 10 minutes. Serve immediately.

CHOCOLATE MACAROONS

Two egg whites.
One cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
One and one-half squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.
One and one-half cups shredded coconut.
Beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, two tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add salt and vanilla. Fold in chocolate; then coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased, heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees), 20 minutes, or until done. Cool five minutes before removing from paper. Makes two dozen 1½-inch macaroons.

HAPPY ENDING NEEDED FOR EVERYDAY MEALS

Plain or Hearty Desserts With Rest of Meal Harmonizing Always Welcome.

A good dessert is invaluable in rescuing many an otherwise mediocre meal from failure, and to be "good," it must not only be perfectly prepared and attractively served, but it must be so selected that it harmonizes with the rest of the meal. A hearty dessert, like the steamed pudding de luxe which is given below, fits perfectly with a meal where the main dish is perhaps broiled fish, lamb chops or a vegetable plate. A dainty, light dessert such as the rhubarb and banana combination is best following a hearty main course. A plain dessert or a fancy one, a light and fluffy concoction or a hearty substantial one, take your choice, but be sure to choose it with the rest of the meal in mind.

Steamed Apricot Pudding.
This is usually a favorite with the masculine element of the family. Drain the juice from a number 2 can of the apricots and save it to make the sauce. Cream one-fourth cup butter or margarine with one cup sugar and when thoroughly blended add two eggs and beat to a very smooth cream. Next stir in one cup milk and two cups zweibach crumbs mixed with one teaspoon baking powder. Mix, add the drained apricots and pour into a well greased pudding mold. Cover the mold and steam or boil gently for two and one-half hours. Turn out carefully and serve warm with apricot-orange sauce.

Apricot-Orange Sauce.
Put the apricot juice, one-half cup sugar and the grated rind of half an orange in a saucepan and heat to the boiling point. Mix two teaspoons cornstarch with one-fourth cup cold water and stir into the hot fruit juice. Boil for five minutes, remove from the fire and add one-fourth cup orange juice. Serve warm.

Date Dessert.
It is rather sweet, but a good dessert to follow a light meal. Put one-half pound pitted dates through the meat chopper and mix with one-half cup finely chopped almonds or walnut meats. Add one-half cup orange juice or enough to make a smooth paste that can be easily spread. Cut plain or sponge cake into rounds a good half inch thick, spread each with a generous layer of the date paste and then with a thick layer of whipped cream. Top with a maraschino cherry or a bit of bright colored jelly and serve very cold.

Fresh Rhubarb and Bananas.
Wash one pound fresh, pink rhubarb, trim off the root ends and cut the rhubarb, without peeling it, into inch slices. Put in a saucepan with one cup cold water. Cook for five to eight minutes, or until the rhubarb is tender. Just before serving, slice four very ripe bananas and pour the rhubarb over them. Serves four to six.

Fruit Melange.
Another delicious fruit combination is this melange. Cut 12 soft marshmallows into quarters, mix lightly with one cup rolled macaroni or vanilla wafers crumbled fine, one and one-half cups canned crushed Hawaiian pineapple and one cup crushed ripe strawberries. Let stand until thoroughly chilled, pile into sherbet glasses and top with a large spoonful of whipped cream.

Banana and Coconut Pie.
Grate a fresh coconut, saving all the milk. There should be one cupful of this, if not add water to make a cupful of liquid and mix with one cup undiluted evaporated milk. Mix three-fourths cup sugar with one-fourth cup flour and one-half teaspoon salt. Beat two eggs and add to the sugar mixture. Heat the milk and coconut milk to the boiling point, stir into the sugar-egg mixture and then stir constantly over hot water until thickened, smooth and creamy. Remove from the fire and add a few drops of almond extract. Line a baked pie shell with sliced bananas, pour in the cream filling and chill. Spread the grated coconut over top and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

A NOT TOO RICH CAKE MAY WEAR A THICK ICING

For the variety that your family likes in its dessert cakes try one of this kind. This cake which is not too sweet may be put together with a caramel or rich chocolate frosting.

Honey Coffee Cake.
One-half cup butter.
Three-quarters cup strained honey.
One-half cup sugar.
Three eggs, separated.
One-half cup nut meats (chopped).
Three-quarters cup cold coffee.
One and three-quarters cup flour.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.
One-half cup cocoa.
Cream butter, add honey, sugar, and egg yolks and beat until mixture is light. Stir in nut meats and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and beat egg whites. To this creamed mixture add the dry ingredients alternately with the coffee, stirring until batter is smooth. Fold in egg whites and turn into buttered cake tins. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes, then turn down to 350 degrees for fifteen minutes. Yield: Two nine-inch layers. Decaffeinated coffee may be used if preferred.

TURN THE TRICK BY USING SOUR CREAM IN DRESSING FOR SALADS

If you want to use that sour cream to good advantage try using it in dressings for salads. Sour cream dressing goes very well with lettuce and is delicious with shredded cabbage and cucumbers.

Sour Cream Dressing.
Mix two teaspoons sugar with one-fourth teaspoon dry mustard, one-fourth teaspoon paprika and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add one-half cup of thick sour cream, beat with a fork until foamy and gradually stir in two tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar.

This combination of sour cream dressing and shredded cabbage also makes delicious sandwich fillings.

TOMATOES AND CHEESE

One-quarter pound mild cheese.
Two and one-half cups cooked tomatoes.
One and one-half cups coarse bread crumbs.
One teaspoon salt.
One-quarter teaspoon pepper.
Cut cheese in thin slices. Combine tomatoes, bread crumbs and seasonings. Place in buttered baking dish, cover top with slices of cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until cheese is melted and golden brown. Serves six.

CHEESE APPLE PIE

One-half pound cheese.
Four to six tart juicy apples.
One cup sugar.
One teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg.
Pastry.
Cut cheese in small pieces. Line a pie plate with plain pastry. Fill with mixture of thinly sliced apples, sugar, and cheese. Sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg. Cover with a top crust. Cut a few slits in top crust to allow steam to escape. Bake about 40 minutes in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees).

LEMON TEA BISCUITS

Three cups flour.
Six tablespoons shortening.
One teaspoon salt.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One teaspoon grated lemon rind.
Mix thoroughly and moisten with one cup milk (fresh or evaporated) soured with one-fourth cup lemon juice. Pat out on floured board. Cut out biscuits, brush with melted butter and bake in hot oven (400 to 450 degrees Fahrenheit) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 30 biscuits.

A SIMPLE DESSERT SHOULD FOLLOW ELABORATE DINNER

When the dinner is very elaborate the dessert should be comparatively simple and in small portions. A frozen "biscuit" of this kind, frozen in its own little paper cup, is just the thing for an occasion of this sort.

Biscuit Tortoni.

Beat one cup heavy cream until stiff and fold in one-fourth cup powdered sugar, one beaten egg white, two tablespoons sherry and one-half cup finely crumbled macaroons. Pack in small paper cups and spread a layer of powdered macaroons over the top of each. Place in the freezing compartment of an automatic refrigerator, or place in a can, cover tightly and bury in equal parts of cracked ice and ice cream salt. It will take about four hours to freeze in the refrigerator or packed in ice. Makes six to eight servings.

Broiled Lamb Chops.

Wipe six lamb chops, remove superfluous fat and place in a greased broiler. Place under the flame, turning every 10 seconds for the first minute. After the first minute, turn occasionally. Until well cooked on both sides. Remove to a hot platter, spread with three tablespoons butter and sprinkle with Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper.

Milk and Cheese Require Special Cooking Methods

Addition of Acids Will Curdle Soups and Sauces Unless Care Is Taken in Preparation.

When we think of proteins we usually think of meats and perhaps cheese and some of us may be very surprised to discover that milk, which we have used as a drink and cooking ingredient, is rated by nutritionists as a protein, and a very "efficient" protein at that.

Milk has a variety of food values. It contains more fat than protein, more sugar than fat and a considerable quantity of mineral salts and other substances. The proteins, however, are very important in the diet and everyone should have at least one glass of milk a day or its equivalent in butter, soups or sauces.

Skim milk gives most of the food value of whole milk for when the cream is taken off most of the protein and most of the mineral salts remain. What is lost is the fat which is found in butter and the vitamin A, which is found in the fat.

Milk Contains Albumin. One of the milk proteins is the same as one of the proteins of egg white albumin. The other milk protein is a phosphorus-containing compound called casein, which is the chief substance in cheese. In cottage cheese the protein is largely by casein.

Milk proteins behave in certain ways of their own when cooked. The albumin coagulates when heated, as it does in egg white. You see it on the sides of the pan almost as soon as you put the milk on the stove. But this is not the chief problem with which you are concerned in cooking milk. As long as milk is sweet, you can boil it, or you can pasteurize it, or you can just warm it, and the only thing you need bother about is to keep it from scorching and stir back into it the white coating that forms on the sides and bottom of the pan and the skin that forms on top. The coating on the sides and bottom of the pan is composed not only of albumin but some calcium that is collected with it. The skin on top is casein, calcium and some fat and probably other constituents of the milk. You do not want to lose those food values, so you stir them back into the milk.

Heat Curdles Sour Milk. Sour milk, or milk that has just begun to turn, even though not yet sour to the taste, will curdle if you heat it. In other words, the acid in the milk precipitates the casein as soon as the milk is heated; that is, the casein separates out, and you have curds and whey. This is what you want when you are making cottage cheese. In fact, cottage cheese is curd with some of the whey squeezed out.

But the cheese will be tough or tender, according to the way the milk has been heated. Heating at very low temperature (lukewarm) keeps the curds soft, tender and moist. High temperatures make it tough and dry.

Of course this same separation of the casein occurs if you let the milk sour naturally. The souring is due to "friendly germs," lactic acid bacteria, which are naturally present in milk and in the air. They act upon the milk sugar (lactose) and turn it into lactic acid. How soon this may happen depends chiefly on the temperature at which the milk is kept. In a refrigerator at 45 degrees Fahrenheit or below, good milk will stay sweet for several days, because the cold slows up the growth of the bacteria. In time, however, the milk gets sour. Sometimes, depending on conditions, in the early stages of souring, it forms "sweet clabber," the smooth, jelly-like curd that looks very much like junket. But clabbered milk is curds and whey, and curd is mostly casein, separated or precipitated by the acid in the milk.

To Prevent Curdling. Milk curdles also if you add acid to it fruit juices or tomatoes, for example—unless you do something to prevent. In making cream of tomato soup, you prevent curdling thus: First you add a little flour thickening to the tomatoes. The flour acts as a "binder," which means that it holds the molecules of casein where they are, apart from each other in the liquid. The flour also takes the edge off the acid, because the protein in the flour combines with the acid and makes it less likely to affect the casein. Second, you add the hot tomato mixture to the milk, little by little. If you were to do this the other way round, adding the milk to the tomatoes, you would be putting so little milk into so much acid that the curd would curdle. When you have combined the tomatoes and milk, heat quickly to serving temperature and serve right away. If you let the soup stand before serving, it may curdle. It is well to take precautions when you are making cream of pea and cream of asparagus soup, also, for though these vegetables contain less acid than tomatoes, they contain tannins and salts which may curdle the milk.

Action of Rennet. Another thing that will curdle milk is rennet—which is the common name for rennin, an enzyme that exists naturally in the stomach, apparently for the purpose of turning milk into a soft, easily digestible curd. The junket powder you buy in the store contains rennin from the calf's stomach, and when you add it to milk that is just warm

(it must not be hot and it must not have been boiled) you get a soft, sweet curd that is almost like a jelly, and is so tender that as soon as it is disturbed, even by a spoon to serve it, it separates into curd and whey. You make junket in individual cups to avoid disturbing the curd.

When you make a white sauce, or a milk gravy, or a batter for bread or cake, or a custard, your cooking problem has more to do with the other ingredients than with the milk. In sauces and gravies you have starch to deal with. In custards, you have eggs. In cake and batter breads, you may have starch and eggs and milk, a combination which is still another story.

In cooking cheese, however, we come back to the rule for protein cookery—low heat for tenderness. If you are cooking plain American cheddar cheese—creaming it for toast, maybe you cook the white sauce first, add the cheese and heat the mixture only until the fat in the cheese melts and blends with the sauce.

NO SECRET ABOUT COOKING FLAVORSOME CORNED BEEF

Corned beef is always a welcome change in the list of usual meats, but the problem with many housewives is how to cook it. There is no special trick, but slow cooking is necessary if you want a tender and well flavored dish. Perhaps the most famous dish is the corned beef and cabbage dish which is a combination of boiled corned beef and cabbage and potatoes, if you like.

Spiced Corned Beef. Put a four or five pound piece of bottom round or rump in a deep pan and cover with cold water. Heat slowly to the boiling point, add a small onion in which two cloves are stuck, a thin slice of lemon and a clove of garlic. Cover closely and simmer for two and one-half or three hours. Remove from water and cut in thin slices against the grain of the meat.

Pressed Corn Beef. Use the same procedure, putting in a kettle with enough water to cover and boiling until tender, allowing 35 minutes to each pound. Cool partially in the water in which it has cooked then place in a square pan, apply pressure with a weight of some kind and serve sliced when cold.

For Tender Poached Eggs. When poaching eggs, keep the water below the boiling point to have the eggs tender and jelly-like in consistency. Salt the water and heat to the boiling point, drop in the eggs, cover the pan and reduce the heat immediately to keep it below boiling. Milk may be used instead of water, in which case it is poured over the toast before serving. Tomato soup or chicken stock or thin meat gravy may also be used.

PEANUT SQUARES

Two tablespoons gelatine.
One-half cup cold water.
Two cups light brown sugar.
Three-fourths cup boiling water.
One tablespoonful lemon juice.
Two cups peanuts, chopped fine.
One-fourth teaspoonful salt.
Heat sugar, salt and boiling water to boiling point. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Add to hot syrup and stir until dissolved. Boil slowly for 15 minutes. Remove from fire and allow candy to cool slightly, and add chopped peanuts (size about 8x4 inches) that has been rinsed in cold water. Allow to cool for at least 12 hours in a cold place (not a refrigerator). With a wet, sharp knife loosen around edges of pan and turn out. Cut in cubes and roll in either chopped peanuts or powdered sugar. Other nuts may be used. Makes 100 pieces.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE

Two cups sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One cup irradiated evaporated milk.
Two squares bitter chocolate.
Two tablespoons butter.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
Cook sugar, salt, shaved chocolate and milk slowly until sugar dissolves, then rapidly to soft ball stage (236 degree F.), stirring constantly. Remove from fire, cool. Add butter, vanilla and pecans. Beat until crystalline, turn onto buttered plate and mark into squares, or knead until soft and plastic. Yield: One and one-fourth pounds.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

One tablespoon gelatine.
One-fourth cup cold water.
One-half cup boiling water.
Six level tablespoonfuls cocoa or two squares chocolate.
Four eggs.
One cup sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One teaspoonful vanilla.
Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Mix boiling water and cocoa or chocolate until smooth. Add softened gelatine to hot chocolate mixture and stir until dissolved. Add egg yolks slightly beaten, one-half cup sugar, salt and vanilla. Cook and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and the other half cup sugar. Bake pie shell and chill. Just before serving spread over pie a thin layer of whipped cream. Make one nine-inch pie.

Ripe bananas sliced into rings, pineapple juice make a delightful first course.

"I've tried them all—
KITCHEN KLENZER IS THE BEST AT ANY PRICE"

Says
Mrs. Elsie Wunderle
4345 Lee Avenue
St. Louis, Mo.

"I had changed from one cleanser to another. It was a friend's question, 'Why don't you use Kitchen Klenzer,' that made me try it, and I was simply delighted. It keeps my aluminum bright and spotless, and proves satisfactory in every other respect."

When you ask your grocer for Kitchen Klenzer, look for the red, white and blue label, and be sure you get it when you ask for it. There is only one Kitchen Klenzer. Do not accept a substitute.

Sprinkle Kitchen Klenzer freely over damp cloth. Rub briskly. If burned, use tablespoon of Kitchen Klenzer and soak over night.
HURTS ONLY DIRT

ISN'T SHE A DREAM?

"SO SLENDER AND LOVELY, IT'S A PLEASURE JUST TO LOOK AT HER!"... "SHE'S A KNOCKOUT, ALL RIGHT... BUT I LIKE YOU BETTER MYSELF!"...

... AND TO HERSELF: I'd certainly like to have her figure... I wonder how she keeps it.
... AND TO HIMSELF: All you need is a figure like hers, but I guess that's impossible!

It's easy to stay slender... I JUST DO THIS... Harsh diets are often dangerous, physicians say. Usually they are unnecessary, too. Most women can keep their figures without tricks, treatments or secrets. Two things are necessary... proper food and sufficient exercise. And thousands of charming women like this will tell you that "proper food" always includes Wonder Wheat Bread.

THERE'S a big difference between Wonder Wheat Bread and whole wheat bread. Balanced-Blend makes Wonder Wheat Bread far better in several important ways. Balanced-Blend is our own blend of choice short-patent flour and special whole wheat flour that we mill ourselves, between imported burr-stones. For one thing, Wonder Wheat Bread tastes better. Children say "It tastes like cake." Wonder Wheat Bread is easier to digest, too, hence more nourishing. Every week more families change to Wonder Wheat Bread. Get a loaf from your grocer and you'll see why. Ask for Wonder Wheat Bread.

ANGEL CAKE BAKING REQUIRES NO MAGIC

Careful Mixing, Proper Oven Temperature and Good Ingredients Needed.

The woman who can make good angel or sunshine cake is looked upon with envy by her neighbors, for most people think that some magic secret is necessary in concocting these delicacies. Maybe it is, but if so, it is a secret that can be readily learned by anyone with patience, the ability to follow directions, and to watch oven temperatures. These are the "main tricks." It is also necessary to use fine-textured flour, sifted before measuring, fine granulated sugar and fresh eggs. Here are the recipes and full directions. Each recipe calls for about five inches high and eight inches in diameter. Use an angel cake or tube pan for baking the cakes.

Angel Cake.
Put one cup egg whites (eight to ten eggs) in a large bowl and beat with a wire whisk until frothy. Sprinkle in one teaspoon cream of tartar and continue beating until the whites are stiff enough to stand up in a point when the whisk is removed. Sift flour, measure one cup, mix with one-quarter cup fine granulated sugar and sift four times. Sift one cup granulated sugar into the egg whites, beating all the while. Fold the sifted flour mixture and one teaspoon vanilla extract into the egg white mixture, folding over and over until thoroughly blended. Angel cake depends on the air mixed into it for leavening, so be careful not to stir it or mix it vigorously or the air bubbles will be broken. Put the batter by the spoonful into an ungreased tube pan, filling it two-thirds full. Place the pan on the lower shelf of the oven, light the oven and turn both burners half-cock. Bake for one hour, lowering the gas if the oven shows signs of getting more than moderately warm. If your oven has a control, set the temperature for 325 degrees and preheat before putting in the cake. When done, the cake should be very delicately browned, well risen and firm to the touch. Remove the pan from the oven and invert until the cake is entirely cold. Then loosen from the sides with a thin knife. Ice if desired when cold.

Sunshine Cake.
Beat the whites of eight eggs until frothy, add one-half teaspoon cream of tartar and continue beating until the whites are stiff. Gradually beat in one cup fine, granulated sugar, sifted, then fold in the yolks of five eggs beaten until thick and creamy, and one teaspoon grated orange rind. Sift flour, measure one cupful, mix with one-fourth teaspoon salt, and sift four times. Fold two tablespoons orange juice into the egg mixture, then fold in the sifted flour. Put in an ungreased angel cake pan and bake in the same way as angel cake. Invert until cold, remove from the pan and ice all over with orange icing. Sprinkle with chopped, toasted almonds.

Gold Cake.
There are always egg yolks left over after making either angel or sunshine cake, and one way of using them up is in a gold cake. They may also be used for such things as hollandaise sauce, baked custard, boiled custard and dressings.

For gold cake cream together one-half cup shortening and one and one-fourth cups sugar. When thoroughly blended add the well beaten yolks of six eggs, one-half cup orange juice and one teaspoon lemon juice. Mix well, then add two cups sifted flour mixed with one-fourth teaspoon baking soda, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Mix well, pour into a long narrow bread pan which has been greased and sprinkle with flour. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 50 minutes. Cool and ice with chocolate or orange icing.

TEA SQUARES

One cup butter.
One cup sugar.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One cup flour.
Two and a half cups rolled oats.
One-half pound dates.
One cup water.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
Cook dates with the water over a low flame until a paste is formed. Add lemon juice; cool.
Cream butter; stir in sugar gradually, then sifted flour and last the rolled oats and salt. Continue to stir until mixture holds together. With a broad-bladed knife, spread one-half mixture over the surface of a well oiled pan. (The layer should not be thicker than one-fourth inch). Spread filling over the bottom layer and then cover with the remaining half of the mixture. Bake in very moderate oven (325 degrees) for about 30 minutes. Remove from oven, crease into two-inch squares.

ORANGE FRILL SALAD

One tall can peaches.
Lettuce.
One large orange.
Maraschino cherries.
Drain peaches and save syrup for fruit drinks. Arrange each peach, cut side up, on serving of lettuce. Peel orange and cut into thin slices. Fold each slice over and stick into peach cavity, rosette fashion. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Serves six or seven.

POTATOES O'BRIEN

Six large potatoes peeled and diced.
One-half cup sliced onion.
Two shredded green peppers.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
Three tablespoons lard.
Put lard in a hot frying pan and add potatoes, onion and peppers. Cover and fry slowly until potatoes are brown and tender, stirring occasionally. Dust with salt and pepper and serve.

New Potatoes.

Scrub small new potatoes, cook in boiling water until tender and serve without peeling. Eaten with butter and salt or gravy they are much more nutritious than when peeled before cooking. Less of the minerals are dissolved out when cooked in this way. Serve them at least once or twice a week "au naturel."

Here's that New Way to End Kitchen-Sink Scouring That Ruins Your Hands and Consumes Your Time

New Cleaner Discovery lets You Gently WIPE Sink and Pots Clean.. No more Red, Roughened Hands...You do in Ten Seconds what has Always Taken You Minutes of Hard Labor

Your experience tells you that the only way to get your kitchen sink clean is to scour it. You scrub till your arms ache. It's your hardest job. But science has found a new way to make it your easiest. No more scouring. Sinks bright and shining in a jiffy!

This product is called BAB-O. It is a cleaning powder that works on an entirely new principle. The secret of this principle is that BAB-O dissolves grease and scum in 10 seconds. Once this is done, dirt and stains wipe off. The grease no longer makes them cling to the surfaces.

No More Harsh, Gritty Powders
BAB-O does away with old-fashioned grit powders. They get things clean, to be sure, but you do all the work. BAB-O does this work for you. Furthermore, BAB-O will not scratch or mar delicate surfaces. It saves labor, it saves time and it saves your hands. Your hands never get red and rough with BAB-O, because there is no scouring and scrubbing for your hands to do.

Please Accept Full-Size Can To Try At Our Risk

The B. T. Babbitt Company does not want you to risk a penny of your money on BAB-O until it has proved its worth to you. So Babbitt takes the risk and invites you to accept a full-size can from your grocer "on approval." This means that if you are not entirely satisfied after trying BAB-O on your hardest cleaning job, you may return the can to your grocer and receive your purchase price back without question.

So try BAB-O today at Babbitt's risk; you'll be delighted with this new-day, "no-work" cleaning powder.

THIS LOVELY MONAX MAYONNAISE BOWL

VALUE 25¢—YOURS FREE

with your purchase of 2 cans of BAB-O. Offer made solely to induce you to try BAB-O. Merely send grocer's sales slip to Dept. L-2, B. T. Babbitt, Inc., 386 4th Avenue, New York, N. Y., with your name and address. Money back guarantee also applies to this purchase.

FRIED FISH RETAIN MOST OF ESSENTIAL NUTRIENTS

Fish properly fried is a digestible food. The object of frying is not to use the fish as a blotter but to coat it to keep in the essential flavors and nutrients.

Dry the fish carefully after cleaning. Season liberally with salt and sprinkle with pepper. See that the fat or oil or butter is hot enough to form an immediate coating. Turn the fish to fry evenly. Use a pancake turner or a perforated utensil, for fish fried is very difficult to handle because of its delicate fibers.

If you like a coating of some sort roll the fish in cornmeal or fine crumbs before putting them in the pan. Egg is not necessary in combination with the meal or crumbs. If you want to give dried fish the smoky tang that one associates with Cape Cod food and that of the Eastern shore, try out cubes of salt pork and fry the fish in this.

Pan frying or sauteing simply means a minimum of lard or butter for frying. Care must be taken so that the fish does not stick and here the pancake turner is an essential instrument. For thorough frying fish must be turned several times.

WALDORF SALAD

Two cups diced crisp apples.
One cup finely cut celery.
One-half cup mayonnaise.
One-fourth cup chopped nut meats.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Mix these all together. Serve on lettuce with a spoonful of dressing and a dash of paprika on top. Six large or eight small portions.

SURPRISE SCONES

Two cups flour.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons sugar.
Two-thirds cup milk.
Fifteen dates.
Four marshmallows.
One egg yolk.
One-half cup nut meats.
Two to four tablespoons shortening.
Pit dates, and stuff with quartered marshmallows. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Work in the shortening with the finger tips or a fork. Stir with a knife, add milk to form a soft dough. Toss dough on a lightly floured board and roll out to a thickness of one-half inch. Cut in two-inch rounds. Place a stuffed date near one edge of each round of dough and press the edges of the round together to enclose the date. Brush the semi-circular scones with slightly beaten egg yolk which has been diluted with a little milk. Sprinkle with finely chopped nut meats. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Fifteen scones.

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK

Chicken Souffle

Melt four tablespoons butter or any preferred cooking fat, add five tablespoons flour and when well blended, stir in one and one-quarter cups milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until very thick, smooth and boiling. Remove from the fire, add one cup soft sharp cheese, grated or finely cut, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, a few grains cayenne pepper, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Stir to mix, then add the beaten yolks of three eggs. Stir over a slow fire for two minutes. Remove from the fire and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Pour into a greased, rather shallow baking dish and bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes, or until well puffed, firm to the touch and a golden brown. Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

Stuffed Mushrooms on Toast

Select large fresh mushrooms, allowing a pound for four to six servings. Cut off the stems, scrape them and chop fine. Wash the caps and peel off the top layer of covering. Mix the chopped stems with one cup soft fine bread crumbs, one-half teaspoon salt, a little pepper, two tablespoons melted butter and two tablespoons deviled ham, finely chopped cold meat of any kind, or grated cheese. Fill the mushroom caps with the mixture, place on a buttered baking pan and bake in a hot oven 425 degrees for 20 minutes. Make four large pieces of toast, and one and one-half cups well seasoned white sauce, or mock hollandaise sauce. Pour the sauce over the toast, arrange the mushrooms on the sauce and serve very hot.

Chicken and Mushroom Hash

Chop cooked chicken to make three cupsful, loosely packed. Mix with one-half pound chopped mushrooms, two cups soft fine bread crumbs, one small onion chopped fine, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one cup chicken gravy or milk and one cup finely cut celery. Mix well, add one beaten egg. Melt three tablespoons fat in a heavy frying pan, add the chicken mixture and pat it down evenly in the pan. Cook slowly over a low fire until well browned on bottom. Uncover and place under the broiling flame to brown the top slightly. Fold over, turn out on a hot platter and garnish with watercress and small slices of lemon. Serves six.

Chop Suey

Cut 1½ pounds lean pork in small, even-shaped pieces (loin chops are good to use). Melt three tablespoons pork fat or cooking oil in a saucepan, add the pork, one and one-half cups sliced onions and two cups sliced celery. Cook, stirring occasionally until the meat is brown. Add three cups water, one-half teaspoon salt and three tablespoons soy sauce. Cover and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Then stir in a can of bean sprouts, well drained, and three tablespoons flour mixed with little cold water. Let cook a minute or two longer and serve with plenty of flaky boiled rice. Cut the onions and celery slantingly and in very thin slices. Serves six. Cook two cups of rice, measured before cooking, for six people.

Almond Cakes

Mix two cups sifted flour with one-half cup rice flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder and one cup powdered sugar. Rub in one-fourth pound shortening, either butter, lard or a vegetable fat. When well blended, add two well-beaten eggs, one-half teaspoon almond extract and enough milk to make a dough that can be rolled between the hands. Break off tiny pieces and shape into balls not more than an inch in diameter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes or until delicately browned. Cool and pack between layers of waxed paper in a tin box. Makes about 30 small cakes.

Beef Cakes

One cup minced cooked beef, one-half cup minced ham, salt, pepper, one beaten egg, one finely minced onion. Mix all together and mold into little flat cakes. Fry in butter slowly until both sides are browned. A nice change for lunch.

A LITTLE CHAT ABOUT NEXT WEEK'S MENUS

Sunday's Roast Capon Helps Food Budget by Providing Three Dishes.

Southern strawberries have been late coming in this year on account of the cold spell, but they have recently been very good and we suggest serving them as an appetizer for Sunday dinner. One quart will make a fruit cup for eight people. Pick the berries are ripe. Wash, drain and hull them, then cut each one in half. Place them in a bowl with enough pineapple juice to cover the fruit of half a lemon and mix from oranges cut in dice. Sprinkle with one-third cup powdered sugar, cover and chill thoroughly. Mix gently before serving and serve in fruit cocktail glasses garnished with a sprig of fresh mint. If this is not available, a sprig of dill will do.

Capon for Sunday Dinner.
A good chicken or capon has been suggested as the main course for Sunday dinner this week. Served as a roasted chicken may, of course, replace it if preferred. A capon is heavier and more meaty than a chicken and costs a little more per pound. However, when the weight and edible portion is taken into consideration, there is not much difference in cost. Stuff the capon with a well-seasoned bread and every stuffing and roast in the usual manner. A six-pound capon will make three cups crumbled and mixed with one cup sliced celery, three tablespoons melted butter, one teaspoon minced onion, one teaspoon minced parsley, one beaten egg and water to moisten. One cup of chicken and it is ready to be used in the oven while the capon is cooking. Allow 40 to 50 minutes for the capon and stand in a pan of hot water to prevent too fast cooking.

Now that eggs are a bit less expensive you need not feel too extravagant in indulging your liking for angel and sunshine cake, for the whites of the eggs and the yolks, and a few drops of lemon juice.

Leftover Chicken for Hash.
There should be enough chicken left over to make the chicken and onion hash planned for Monday night. If the supply of chicken is small, you might add tinned corn or increase the amount of hash a little, or add one-half

BISCUITS OF THE OLD '49ERS WERE SOMETHING LIKE THESE Fried Biscuit.

In your armchair journey, you have come across the biscuits that the old-timers used to cook in Dutch ovens and have wondered about them, this fried biscuit should approximate those of the '49ers. They were good, too.

Mix and sift one cup flour with two teaspoons baking powder and a good pinch of salt. Work in two tablespoons cold lard or shortening. When it is like coarse corn meal add five tablespoons milk. Knead for 20 seconds. Turn out on a floured board and pat to one-fourth inch thickness. Cut out in rounds and place on a slightly greased hot griddle or iron frying pan and bake on top of stove until browned and puffed. Turn and brown on the other side.

Save all the chicken bones to make stock for the soup for Tuesday's lunch. Add one quart of water to them, with any dressing that may be left, and any odds and ends of vegetables on hand. Boil gently until reduced about half, then strain, scrape every bit of meat from the bones and add to the stock with a pint of milk, two tablespoons minced parsley, one teaspoon minced onion and three tablespoons flour mixed with a little cold milk. Let boil up once before serving.

To Cook Beets.
Beets will retain their red color if they are cooked with stems on and with the addition of a teaspoon of vinegar to the water. Start beets cooking in boiling water after washing them thoroughly. When tender, drain, cover with cold water and let stand 10 minutes, drain and peel.

BAKED SPARE RIBS

Two sections spare-ribs.
One cup fine bread crumbs.
One-fourth cup diced salt pork.
One-half cup chopped onions.
Three-fourths teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
Fry the salt pork until crisp, then remove the pieces. Cook the onions in the fat for a few minutes, then add the crisp salt pork and bread crumbs. Season with salt and pepper. Spread one section of the spare-ribs with the dressing. Cover with the other section and sew or tie in place. Sprinkle the outside with salt and pepper and rub with flour. Lay the stuffed ribs on a rack in an open roasting pan and sear in a hot oven for 20 minutes. Then cook slowly until the meat is tender.

SALMON SALAD

One cup flaked salmon
One cup sliced celery (rounds)
Lemon juice
Three tablespoons mayonnaise
Two calavos
Salt
Combine flaked salmon, sliced celery, few drops lemon juice and mayonnaise, and mix lightly. Cut calavos into halves lengthwise, remove seeds and sprinkle cut portions with lemon juice and salt. Fill centers with salmon mixture. Serve on lettuce garnished salad plates. Serves four.

CANDY APPLES ON STICK GO HAND IN HAND WITH BALMY SPRING BREEZES

Springs Breezes.
Soft spring breezes and jumping ropes and marbles aren't the only signs of spring. Candy apples on a stick are emphatically signs of the season and here is how you make them.

Candy Apples.
One cup brown sugar
One-half cup granulated sugar
One-half cup light syrup
One-half cup water
One-fourth teaspoon salt
One tablespoon butter
One teaspoon vanilla
Combine all the ingredients and cook until the syrup crackles when a bit of it is dropped in cold water. Remove from fire and add vanilla. Stick a skewer into the stem end of apples, dip into the hot syrup and place on a well oiled pan to cool.

A Breakfast Dessert.

Pour stewed, fresh rhubarb while still hot, over sliced pitted dates and serve for breakfast or dessert. Six or eight dates is a good allowance to two or three cups stewed rhubarb. Be careful to keep the rhubarb rather tart for the dates will help to sweeten it. Chill before serving.

LATTICE PEACH PIE

Two cups cooked peaches.
One and one-fourth cup liquid from peaches.
Two tablespoons granulated sugar.
Two tablespoons tapioca.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons butter.
Pastry for bottom crust and lattice top.
Slice peaches. Combine sugar, salt, liquid and tapioca in sauce pan and bring to a boil. Continue boiling 8 to 10 minutes. Add peaches, mix, and pour into a pastry-lined pie pan (9 inch). Dot with butter. Arrange strips of pastry lattice fashion over top. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 35 to 40 minutes. Serves six.

SEVEN STORY DINNER

Two cups diced celery.
Two cups thinly sliced raw potato.
One cup minced onion.
One chopped green pepper.
One pound mushrooms.
One cup diced carrots.
One cup green peas.
One No. 2 can tomatoes.
Sliced bacon.
Arrange the vegetables in order given in buttered baking dish. Cook one and one-half hours until vegetables are tender. May be browned or not before using as desired. Broil crisp bacon and place on top prior to serving.

MERINGUE CASES

Four egg whites
One-half teaspoon vanilla
One cup finely granulated sugar
One-eighth teaspoon salt
One-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar
Beat egg whites, salt, cream of tartar until stiff. Sift three tablespoons of sugar over whites and beat thoroughly. Repeat until all of the sugar has been added. Fold in the vanilla. Drop mixture by spoonful or from pastry tube on wet paper and bake 30 minutes in slow oven (275 to 300 degrees). Chopped nut meats may be added before baking. Makes 12 medium sized cases.

Chocolate Raisin Filling.

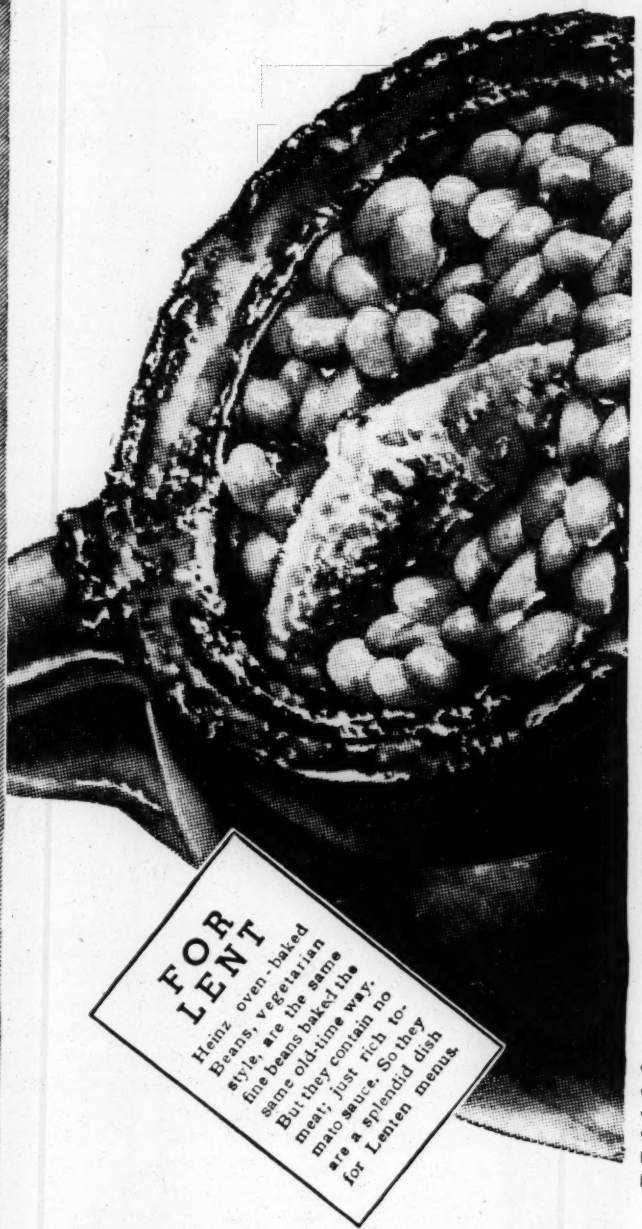

Melt three squares chocolate over hot water. Stir in one tablespoon butter and three tablespoons boiling water, then add confectioners' sugar until of the right consistency to spread. Just before spreading add one-half cup chopped raisins and one-half teaspoon grated orange or lemon peel.

To Flute Bananas.

To "flute" bananas, cucumbers, or raw or boiled whole carrots, take a fork and run the prongs lightly down the length of the fruit, or vegetable, as the case may be. Bananas or cucumbers are of course peeled first, and the carrot may be cooked or raw. Cut across in slices after fluting and the slices will have an attractive crinkly edge.

HEINZ

THE INSIDE STORY OF HEINZ BAKED BEANS

How Heinz endows the humblest of vegetables with the savory aroma, toothsome texture and delightful flavor that make baked beans America's national dish.

We went back to the golden age of bean-baking, back to Pilgrim kitchens where many long hours were devoted to preparing the important Saturday night feast. Bean-baking then was a rite. Care and labor in heaping measure went into each glorious pot of beans.

Back to the Heinz kitchens we brought the old-fashioned recipe. And every tin of beans we offer you is prepared this way: We sort the beans by hand. We wash them gleaming clean. We soak them many hours in cold water. Then we bake them thoroughly in dry oven heat. For Boston-style beans we make a sweet molasses sauce and add squares of finest pork. (We urge you to try these. They are the authentic old-time dish that delighted our New England forefathers.)

That is the inside story. Of course, Heinz-wise, we buy the finest beans, the "choice hand-picked". But it is the magic old recipe by which we bake them that makes Heinz beans such sheer delight to eat.

HEINZ

Portrait of a Salad Getting its Desserts

Add Heinz pure vinegar to your crisp fresh greens and your salad will taste its very best. For this vinegar is so made that it actually awakens and emphasizes the natural good flavor of each fruit and vegetable. It is rich and mellow because it is aged in wood. Heinz makes it of finest ingredients, and then stores it away in wooden casks to age, like fine wine. A year or two later, when the flavor is right for your salad, the vinegar is bottled and brought to your grocer... You owe it to your salad to use Heinz vinegar. Four kinds: Malt, Tarragon, White Pickling and Cider Vinegar. Also, use Heinz Olive Oil, made from superb Spanish olives at the Heinz factory in Seville, Spain.

NOURISHMENT with a Flourish!

Your good wholesome home-cooked meals take on the adventurous thrill of dining out when you put Heinz Ketchup on the table. This is one of the world's supreme sauces. Gourmets prize it, as they do a rare wine or a costly seasoning. Its recipe is a secret held by only a handful of Heinz chefs, a magic blending of uncommon Oriental spices sought out where they grow by Heinz' own buyers, and of Heinz' special extra-luscious tomatoes.

Yet of all the world's most cherished culinary delights Heinz Ketchup is the one and only one that all may enjoy. For it is in food stores everywhere, moderately priced. People do enjoy it, too: Heinz Ketchup has become the largest selling in the world.

A quick, easy FAMILY DINNER

A "hurry-up" meal can be an event! Heinz cooked Spaghetti (ready to heat and serve) is an exciting, out-of-the-ordinary dish. It intrigues the imagination and delights the palate.

We make the spaghetti from finest wheat, cook it to delicate tenderness, and stir into it a grand Italian sauce (Heinz tomatoes and spices and other things nice!)

FOR LENT:—Heinz cooked Macaroni is a first class Lenten dish. Plump tender macaroni cooked with a creamy cheese sauce. Ready to heat and enjoy. Keep it on hand!

To MAKE SURE of Baby's Vitamins --

— serve Heinz Strained Foods. Heinz rushes fresh, crisp vegetables straight from the garden to the kitchens, prepares them carefully, and cooks them in airtight utensils. Quick work and protection from the air make sure of more vitamins than are possible in foods prepared the ordinary way at home. 8 kinds: Strained Vegetable Soup, Peas, Green Beans, Tomatoes, Carrots, Beets, Spinach and Prunes.

HEINZ SOUP INSURANCE

These are some of the painstaking things Heinz does to guarantee Heinz soup will please you.

INGREDIENTS—All of them are selected with utmost care. The seasonings are brought from the Orient by Heinz' own spice buyers. Many of the vegetables are grown under Heinz supervision. Each is minutely inspected, then scrubbed clean.

COOKING—Home methods are used in the Heinz soup kitchens. Meat stocks are simmered down slowly. Cream soups are cooked with watchful care. Kettles are small and open, for best soup-supervision.

MAKING SURE—Each Heinz soup comes to you complete and perfect. There's no danger of harming its goodness, because you need not add a thing. After each soup is finished we taste it to make sure it is right.

18 PLEASING KINDS—

Bean Soup	Gumbo Creole	* Cream of Mushroom
Onion Soup	Clam Chowder	* Cream of Oyster
Consommé	Scotch Broth	* Cream of Asparagus
Pepper Pot	Mock Turtle	* Cream of Green Pea
Noodle Soup	Vegetable	* Cream of Celery

BOND LIST LACKS DEFINITE TREND

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 22.—The bond market lacked a definite trend today, but the corporate list had a steady upward movement. U. S. Government bonds were narrowly mixed at the close, a steady upward movement in the price of the foreign issues.

Some of the semi-convertible bonds and utilities continued to move upward under the momentum of yesterday's rally. Realizing gains were modest in most cases. Prime corporate loans were firm. The slump in the stock market, however, recovered some of the ground lost yesterday. German, French and Italian issues continued under pressure.

At the close obligations of National City Bank, First National City Bank, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway, Western Union, Baltimore & Annapolis, and American & Foreign Power were fractions to a point higher.

U. S. Government bonds finished 3-32nds of a point higher on 4-32nds lower.

DRIVER CRASHES INTO STORE, BACKS CAR OUT AND GOES ON

Third Time in Month Auto Has Hit East St. Louis Grocery at Route 12 Curve.

A speeding automobile, unable to make the sharp turn in State Route No. 12 at Sixteenth street and St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, crashed through the window of the grocery of Ed Guenther at that point last night, causing $150 damage. A witness said that the driver backed the car out and continued on, with the car's fenders dragging and wheels wobbling. He is being sought.

Guenther said it was the third time within the last month that an automobile has crashed into a store at the turn. There were 10 accidents at the corner during a seven-day period seven months ago, he said. Residents of the neighborhood have several times petitioned the State to place stop signs or automatic signals there, but nothing has been done, Guenther said.

PROPOSAL FOR NEW STUDY OF PROPERTY ZONING SYSTEM

Committee of City Plan Commission Named to Consider Bartholomew's Suggestion.

A committee of the City Plan Commission was appointed yesterday to consider a recommendation of Harland Bartholomew, engineer for the commission, for a complete new study of the property zoning system. Re-zoning would help in stabilizing property values, which have depreciated in the depression and as a result of smoke, Bartholomew said.

He said the blighted areas of St. Louis were larger than in many cities because of the smoke. Data as to actual property use, which the commission has gathered would be of much value in determining the extent of property which should be zoned for residential, apartment, commercial and industrial use. Bartholomew suggested that neighborhood units be adopted as the basis for rehabilitation of the city, following re-zoning. The neighborhood unit would be a comparatively small area within a rectangle of major streets.

ST. LOUIS RETAILERS OBJECT TO ANY RISE IN SALES TAX

Telegram Sent to Gov. Park by Presidents of Two Commercial Organizations.

A telegram stating that St. Louis retailers were "unanimously opposed" to the proposed 2 per cent sales tax or to any increase in the present rate of one-half of 1 per cent has been sent to Gov. Park by A. S. Werremeyer, president of the Independent Council of Retailers, and Frank M. Mayfield, president of the Associated Retailers of St. Louis.

Werremeyer, who is also chairman of the Citizens' Committee Opposed to the Sales Tax, said consumers in large numbers continued to express their opposition to the proposed 2 per cent tax yesterday by signing petitions placed in stores by the committee.

REPAIR MAN STEALS $500 GOLD LEAF OFF CHURCH SPIRE

Works for Week on Steeple at Concord, Mass., Under Pretense of Renovating It.

By the Associated Press. CONCORD, Mass., March 22.—Five years ago the First Parish Unitarian Church had its steeple and the four clock faces there adorned with gold leaf.

Recently a "repair man" suggested that the steeple be inspected. He climbed the spire and reported the leaf in good condition, but suggested some minor repairs. His work took him a week.

Shortly afterward the firm which did the original gold leafing received a check for the "repairs," but, knowing nothing about the work, made inquiries. Inspection showed the gold leaf, valued at more than $500, had been stripped from the steeple.

SAFELOWER ON TEST PAROLE

Alabama Governor Frees Roy Dickerson for Six Months.

By the Associated Press. MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 22.—Roy Dickerson, listed on prison records as a "bank robber, safe blower and confidence swindler," was given a six months' test parole by Gov. Bibb Graves yesterday.

Dickerson, 34 years old, is under a 25-year sentence for bank robbery. He escaped from Kilby prison here in 1928 and was captured in Salt Lake City, on Feb. 1, 1929. He was convicted April 8, 1928, of the $51,000 robbery of the Bank of Girard in Russell County.

SILVER SENATE THREATENS T BONUS IN JO

Thomas of Oklahoma He Will Offer Plan as Rider if Amendment Fail

FOR NEW CURRI TO PAY FOR PRO

Declares Congress voted Two Mo Measure but No Minute to Raising

WASHINGTON, March 22.—$80,000,000 work relief bill introduced in the Senate yesterday, ran into new difficulties today when Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, announced he would offer the Patman bonus rider if his silver inflation amendment failed.

Thomas' announcement opening of debate came as a surprise to administration officials who expected the bill to pass without amendment.

Speaking on his rider for the week-end adjournment, Thomas said he had spent two months of silver a month and was ready to hand, to help in relief cost. Thomas said he had spent two months of silver a month and was ready to hand, to help in relief cost.

Assails Scarcity Policy Why is it there is no money in the country to pay the bills and others? he asked. "The States has followed a making things scarce to money. The same policy has been adopted with regard to money because of that, money is scarce to the teachers and taxpayers."

Yet we are told the bill of money and our money is scarce."

Anti-Trust Proposal A proposed amendment to the anti-trust law provided by NRA was defeated by the Senate yesterday, after a vote of 43 to 33.

The amendment was offered by Senator Borah (Rep., Ind.) head of the silver amendment.

Several others, among them by McCarran (Dem.), to provide that State relief administrators be appointed by the Senate.

McCarran said his amendment was designed to "eliminate the relief administrators and he wanted to prevent appointment of 'outsiders'."

Senators should have the right of approving those who will administer relief in their own States.

Borah's demand for repeal of the anti-trust laws under NRA was a surprise to Senate leaders. He contended the Government, under the NRA, was fixing the prices of goods for market.

Some administration leaders demanded that the amendment require prosecution by the Department of Justice, between the time the National Recovery Act expires and the time the National Recovery Act expires.

Senators Glass (Dem.), in charge of the work, said he had voted against the amendment and for the amendment.

"I voted against the amendment because I'm in charge of it and I'm very much mistaken," he said.

"If anyone thinks I'm in charge of it, I voted against the amendment and for the amendment."

There has been a tyrannical rule to the tyranny of people under NRA.

"Chiselers and Grifters" Senator Ashurst (Dem.), spoke for the amendment. He said he was going to fight the amendment, but they respect the laws and are afraid of it. "Not only will your faces be scratched, but your eyes will be scratched, but your eyes will be scratched, but your eyes will be scratched."

In the absence of Senate action, Arkansas, the Democratic Senator Harrison, took the floor. He said he had prejudged the amendment and would not support it.

SILVER SENATOR THREATENS TO PUT BONUS IN JOB BILL

Thomas of Oklahoma Says
He Will Offer Patman
Plan as Rider if Inflation Amendment Fails.

FOR NEW CURRENCY TO PAY FOR PROGRAM

Declares Congress Has Devoted Two Months to Measure but Not One Minute to Raising Fund.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The $300,000,000 work relief bill, introduced in the Senate eight weeks ago, has been introduced today when Senator Thomas (Dem., Okla.) announced he would offer the Patman bonus bill as a rider if his silver inflation amendment failed.

Thomas' announcement at the opening of debate came as a blow to administration leaders who had hoped to dispose of the measure before the week-end adjournment.

Speaking on his rider, Thomas said he had introduced the measure to provide a month and a half of emergency relief to the unemployed, to help finance the relief work, and to help the unemployed by providing them with a month's wages.

Assaults Scarcity Policy.
"Why is it there is no money in the country to pay the teachers and others?" he asked. "The United States has followed a policy of making things scarce to make them dear. The same policy has been followed with regard to money and that is why there is so much unemployment and so many tax-payers can't get their money."

Anti-Trust Proposal Loses.
A proposed amendment to restore the anti-trust law provisions suspended by NRA was defeated in the Senate yesterday afternoon by a vote of 43 to 33.

The amendment was offered by Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho). It would have restored the anti-trust law provisions suspended by the National Recovery Administration (NRA) in 1933.

Head of the silver amendment, McCarran said he hoped through his amendment to eliminate "political carpetbaggers from administering relief in strange communities."

The Nevada senator said he had introduced his amendment to eliminate "political carpetbaggers from administering relief in strange communities."

McCarran Explains Aims.
In a formal statement, Senator McCarran said he hoped through his amendment to eliminate "political carpetbaggers from administering relief in strange communities."

He cited the situation in Ohio, where Gov. Davis has brought criminal libel action against Federal Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

"The fact that in one state," he said, "a state administrator appointed by Mr. Hopkins against the protest of the legislative delegation, which administrator was not even a resident of the state at the time of the appointment, now comes out with the expression:

"In the future those employed by and charged with administering the state emergency relief administration will only be persons of unquestionable loyalty to the administration and loyal to the program they are assisting in administering."

"I have no hesitancy in saying that grew out of the conditions which gave rise to the unfortunate situation in Ohio."

In keeping with this, is the recent action growing out of the incident where the Federal Administrator has tried to withhold relief funds from Maryland, which evinces an attitude on the part of the administrator to dictate the political tendencies of every state in the Union. In addition, resolutions were passed that the party placed in control by Hopkins be removed and offered the name of a resident of the State to take charge."

Seal of Biblical Ruler Among Relics of Lachish

Thought to Be That of Gedalia, Appointed by Nebuchadnezzar to Reign Over Judah, and Later Assassinated.

JERUSALEM, March 22 (Palestine Agency).—Among relics of Biblical times discovered recently at ancient Lachish is a seal from the reign of Gedalia, last of the rulers of Judah, who was murdered by a pretender to the throne. It was discovered today by a member of the archaeological expedition.

The seal is inscribed in Hebrew: "To Gedalia, who rules the house." It is presumed that the seal belonged to Gedalia ben Ahikem, who ruled the remnant of the Kingdom of Judah after Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, destroyed Jerusalem. This is thought to be the same Gedalia whose memory Jews still honor by observing the feast of Gedalia.

Gedalia, who ruled for a few years after 586 B. C., was appointed by Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, to rule over the remnant of the Kingdom of Judah. He was the son of Ahikem, the son of Shaphan, Governor.

He is believed to have held the title of high commissioner rather than King. When Sir Herbert Samuel was appointed by Great Britain as high commissioner over Palestine in 1920, he was referred to as the first Jewish high commissioner of Palestine since Gedalia.

One of the revengeful pretenders to the throne caused the assassination of Gedalia, as it is described in Second Kings, chapter 25, verse 25:

"But it came to pass in the seventh month that Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the seed royal, came and with him and smote Gedalia that he died and the Jew and the Chaldeans that were with him at Mizpah; and all the people both small and great and the captains of the forces arose and came to Egypt, for they were afraid of the Chaldeans."

Gedalia had tried to dissuade the Jewish rebels from fighting Nebuchadnezzar, for he had said, "Serve the King of Babylon and it shall be well with you."

The discovery of the seal at Lachish, now known as Tel Adduweir, is thought to indicate that Gedalia's rule extended beyond the city of Mizpah. The seal was the token left by the assassins to show that a jar or other receptacle was of correct weight or size.

Republicans—Barbour, Borah, Capper, Dickenson, Frazier, Gibson, Hastings, Metcalf, Norbeck, Nye, Schall, Townsend Vandenberg and White. Farmer-Labor—Shipstead.

Against the amendment: Democrats—Bachman Bankhead, Barkley, Bilbo, Brown, Bulow, Burke, Byrnes, Connally, Dieterich, Donahay Duffy, George, Gerry, Harrison, Hatch, Hayden, Logan, Loneragan, Minton, Murphy, Murray, Neely, O'Mahoney, Pittman, Pope, Radcliffe, Reynolds, Schwellenbach, Shepard, Thomas (Utah), Truman, Van Nuys, Wagner and Walsh. Republicans—Austin, Couzens, Cutting, Hale, Keever, McNary and Steiwer. Progressives—La Follette.

U. S. TO TRADE APPLES TO FRANCE FOR WHEAT

Will Import Grain to Be Used for Feeding in Eastern States.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 22.—Plans were announced today to exchange the American apple and the French wheat surpluses.

France has agreed to give the United States an 1,000,000 quintals (or 22,000 tons) increase in its apple and pear quota in return for an arrangement to ship a large quantity of feeding wheat to the United States.

The big apple quota is expected to absorb the American surplus and increase the export price in the United States 15 or 20 cents a box. France will benefit by disposing of a part of its 75,000,000-bushel grain surplus.

The American Government has arranged for the feeding wheat to be sold at the world price in Eastern States where there is a shortage and where French wheat would be cheaper than the domestic supply which must be shipped from the West.

The French wheat, to replace feed supply from Argentina and Canada, must be denatured by being mixed with oil cake or molasses. The exports will be subsidized by the Government to compensate for the difference between the world price and the French price, which is now $1.45 a bushel.

GLASS AND THOMAS SET SENATE LAUGHING

Oklahoman Compliments Virginian Who Isn't Sure
How to Take It.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The extent to which Senate nerves have become frayed during the seven-week battle over the Administration's $4,880,000,000 work-relief bill was illustrated by an amusing passage which occurred this afternoon between Senator Carter Glass, venerable and diminutive Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and Oklahoma's towering Senator, Elmer Thomas. Only one chair separates them.

Speaking in behalf of his silver inflation amendment, Thomas candidly declared that he did not submit it to the Appropriations Committee because he knew that Glass would oppose it, and that his influence would be sufficient to kill it.

"Nevertheless," he went on, "I want to make this statement. When the history of the Senate is written, the name of the distinguished senior Senator from Virginia will be catalogued along with the few great Senators of the United States. I do not think after that statement he can take offense at what I have said or may say hereafter."

He never taken offense at anything the Senator has said, Glass replied, "and I rise now just to remark that I have had no opportunity whatsoever to consider any bill now before the sub-committee of which I am chairman. The Senator from Virginia has sat here for more than seven weeks endeavoring to expedite the passage of a measure, the purpose of which is to feed the hungry and clothe the naked, to furnish relief and work relief to 3,500,000 people on the relief rolls. I have scarcely had an opportunity to eat my meals. The Senator must expedite that bill has been within my jurisdiction, the proponents of which have not had ample opportunity to state their views. I am but one member of a Committee of 21 Senators."

"Oh," Thomas retorted. "In monetary affairs the Senators from Virginia is not only the sub-committee, but the committee, and the United States Senate, the Congress and the financial Government of the United States. I wonder whether I can make that broader."

Glass apparently couldn't decide whether to be angry or amused. "I suppose not," he said, "but it does not require me to buy a hat of any greater dimensions than the one I wear now."

The laughter which followed seemed to break the tension. Glass is 77 years old, and weighs about 125 pounds. Thomas is 58, stands well over six feet, and tips the beam at around 220.

SENATOR ROBINSON ASSAILS TOWNSEND PENSION MEASURE

Also Tells Drug and Chemical Dealers That Huey Long's Program Is Dishonest.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas in an address last night, assailed the Townsend old age pension bill as a "wild scheme" that would cost upwards of $19,000,000,000 a year to finance and Senator Long's share the wealth plan as fundamentally communistic and "dishonest."

The Senate majority leader, addressing the drug, chemical and allied trades banquet, said: "Neither is consistent with reason, experience or sound argument. Both are violative of fundamental and generally accepted laws."

"Yet because of the distress in which so many of our people find themselves they are both looked upon with favor by many for the magic which they promise the improvident and the unfortunate."

Reviewing what he termed the "Utopian program on which Senator Long proposes to run for President," he said: "Self-respecting citizens cannot approve of any policy that denies or stifles their independence. The incentive to provide for themselves and their families, four walls and a roof above, is itself the very foundation of our present civilization."

CANADA NEGOTIATING TRADE
PACT WITH UNITED STATES
Lowering of Barriers Is Aim; Foreign Minister Informs Parliament.

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, March 22.—E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, told the Canadian Parliament today that trade agreements with several countries, including the United States and Poland, were under negotiation. In recent months an opportunity has presented itself for the first time since this Government assumed office to enter into negotiations with a view to effecting a trade agreement with the United States," he said. "These negotiations will be actively prosecuted by the Government of Canada, and every possible step will be taken to effect a satisfactory agreement having for its aim the lowering of trade barriers with consequent increased flow of trade resulting in mutual advantage."

TRANSVAAL MINE AUTHORITY SAYS FAITH IN GOLD IS UPHELD
Regards Hoarding of Metal as Proof That It Is Preferred as Value Standard.

By the Associated Press.
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, March 22.—Whatever money standards the nations of the world may fix, gold always will retain its high value, believes John Martin, president of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines.

"Even if more countries, or all countries, left the gold standard at the old parity, the part that gold would play in the monetary affairs of the world would still be pre-eminent," he told the imperial press conference here.

"The hoarding of gold by Governments, banks, corporations and individuals must mean that gold still is preferred to anything else as a store of value."

HULL INDICATES DISAPPROVAL OF GERMAN TREATY VIOLATION
Says U. S. Always Must Use Moral Influence to Encourage Adherence to All Provisions.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The American Government's disapproval of Germany's rearmament in violation of disarmament provisions of the Versailles and German-American peace treaties was expressed inferentially by Secretary of State Hull today in answer to questions of reporters.

Without mentioning the German Government by name or directly referring to its scrapping of treaty provisions, Hull declared that the United States and its people always must use every possible moral influence to encourage strict adherence to all treaty provisions.

Asked for an expression of this Government's attitude in the European crisis resulting from Reichsfuhrer Hitler's pronouncement of Germany's intention to rearm, Hull declared the United States always has asserted that treaties must constitute the foundation on which any stable peace structure must rest.

Hull said all who believe in a peaceful settlement of international problems have felt increasing concern over general tendencies of states to fail to live up to the letter and spirit of treaties in force.

MARTIN INSULL SENT BACK TO CANADA

Deported as British Subject
After Acquittal in U. S. on Embezzlement Charge.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, March 22.—Martin J. Insull, freed of charges which developed from the collapse of the utilities companies formed by his brother, Samuel, was deported to Canada today as a British subject. Insull, who had lived in the United States 40 years, was ordered deported more than a year ago when he was extradited from Canada to Chicago to be tried for embezzlement in connection with the receivership of the holding company which he headed as president. He was acquitted.

Insull arrived here this morning from Chicago, accompanied by his attorney. He had breakfast before starting on the automobile trip through the Detroit-Windsor tunnel.

"I am going back to Orillia, Ont., where my wife will join me, and we are going to live very quietly," he said. "I haven't any business plans."

He told interviewers he was in good health. On his arrival at Windsor, he retired to a hotel. Later, he went through customs formalities on the Canadian side of the river, before taking a train later in the day for Toronto.

If Insull wants to return to this country, officials said, he must apply for admittance under the British immigration quota.

AUSTRIANS TRY AIR 'BOMBING' Factories and Communities Are Theoretically "Destroyed."

WIENER-NEUSTADT, Austria, March 22.—Many factories and at least a dozen communities were theoretically "destroyed" today by aircraft in air maneuvers held in this industrial area south of Vienna.

Despite the opportunity to show a military air force, the Austrian Government used only nine sport and commercial airplanes in the demonstration. The busy streets and crowded marketplaces emptied as if by magic when the warning sirens howled and the towns appeared utterly deserted. Factory workmen hid in nearby woods.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Challenges a Lippmann Statement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN a recent syndicated article, "Huey Long's Economic Scheme," Mr. Lippmann said: "The only part of the Ford wealth that could be used for home-stands are the profits."

Regardless of profits, the assets of any corporation or individual may be pledged in the development of new enterprises without impairing efficiency. Nor does successful management require the complete ownership of assets by a few individuals, as in the case of the Ford Motor Co. Doubtless Mr. Ford himself would agree to this. Genius in industrial management rises far above mere financial interest. There is an unexplainable impulse here to find an outlet for that urge to create, to bring to life original ideas, such as unquenchable Mr. Ford's desire to design and manufacture an efficient motor car. In fact, there is much to be said in favor of divorcing management from personal financial gain.

In his zeal to make out a case against Senator Long, Mr. Lippmann has pointed the way by which wealth might be equitably distributed, if not equally distributed.

For Voting Machines.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WE have mob law because we have lawlessness, and we have lawlessness because we have too many lawyers aiding and abetting criminals.

They have a big hand in shaping our laws, and take precious good care in doing so not to deprive themselves of their jobs by making statutory intent too plain and court procedure too simple. Having obtained a code to their liking, they proceed to pick friend and foe, imbecile and slicker, so long as they can get away with it.

The simplest way to shake these vultures loose is for the State to invest in a flock of the new-fangled voting machines and, when election day rolls around, don't forget to remember who is and who isn't.

For Smokeless Burning of Soft Coal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I FULLY realize that the abatement of the smoke nuisance in St. Louis would be a good thing; however, if the city administration desires to foster this, I believe it should do so by promoting the smokeless burning of Illinois coal through stokers or other available means.

A great percentage of the coal mined in Southern Illinois finds its market in St. Louis and, if the use of natural gas were to replace that of coal in St. Louis, it would mean loss of employment to thousands engaged in the production, transportation and delivery of coal into this market. It would most certainly destroy St. Louis' greatest outside trading area, Southern Illinois. GENE ALLEN.

I have heard Mr. Harrison on the stage and off, and one could see in him everything Mr. Hill spoke of: inspiration, courage and a desire to be of service.

The Negro race can and will be an outstanding group in spite of all hardships, as witness the success in music of Roland Hayes, Paul Robeson and others; in boxing, of Joe Louis; in track, of Jesse Owens, Tolan, Metcalfe and Johnson.

Let us give credit to a coming race and aid them when we can. Mr. Harrison made good, and may God bless those who made possible his achievement.

I AM amazed at the lack of sentiment of the St. Louis Board of Education. Monday, Clifford Crosby, principal of the Dozier School, died. Wednesday he was laid to rest. Yet the school over which he presided did not close its doors for a single hour. I did not know Mr. Crosby personally, but knew him for the noble work he did over a number of years for the youth of St. Louis.

MRS. BESSIE L. RUSSELL.

THE STATE HIGHWAY CRISIS.

Missouri faces a crisis in the matter of its non-partisan Highway Department.

We have tried to warn the people of the State of the perils involved in legislation which would make the Highway Department a political plum. Since that warning was sounded, the peril has become infinitely greater. The Highway Department already has $18,000,000 to spend this year. Under an amendment which the Senate has adopted to the public works bill now going through Congress, there would be added another 27 to 28 million dollars, giving the State an approximate total of $45,000,000.

We know quite well that the people of Missouri want this great sum of money judiciously expended. They want society to be its beneficiary. If the Quinn bill, which has passed the State Senate and is now in the hands of the House Committee on Official Fees and Salaries, should pass, all the people in the Highway Department who do not happen to be listed as Democrats will be in imminent danger of being chucked out.

This bill runs contrary to the spirit of a public enterprise which has made Missouri one of the most fortunate of the states. The Highway Commission was created in the time of Gov. Hyde. It was agreed by all that if Missouri was to have effective administration of its contemplated road-making system, the proposed Highway Department would have to be above politics. It has been above politics. We have had Republican and Democratic Governors. We have had Republicans and Democrats in the road-making service. We have had the benefit of expert and honest administration, with the result that there is not a state in the Union which has got more for its road money, dollar for dollar, than Missouri has got.

The public works bill, as it now stands, proposes to allocate $925,000,000 to road making and grade separation in the United States. More than two-thirds of it would go to roads—50 per cent to the regular programs of the state highway commissions, 25 per cent to super-highways in municipalities and 25 per cent to farm-to-market roads. The balance would go to grade separation. The distribution of these great sums among the states will be based upon the relation of their population to the total population, the relation of their area to the total area of the Union, the relation of the post-road mileage to that of the whole, and the relation of their railroad mileage to the total railroad mileage of the United States.

Thus, the estimated share of Missouri will be some $27,000,000. It can all be made available as fast as contracts can be let. Under the Hayden amendment to the public works bill, all these moneys would be turned over intact to state highway departments. So the State Highway Department of Missouri or any other state, assumes a greater significance than it has ever before had. Our Highway Department, one of the best in the states, a public body as far removed from political influence as ever a public body was, becomes to us the only assurance we have that some $45,000,000, or almost $4,000,000 per month, will be spent for the benefit of the people.

It is commonly reported that the House Committee on Official Fees and Salaries, of which Glenn Evans of Macou County is chairman, is fully cognizant of its responsibility. The committee met last Tuesday and did nothing about the Quinn bill. The Quinn bill, you may recall, would require everyone in the State Highway Department to list his or her politics. Mr. Evans and some of his committeemen feel that this would not be good for road making and would not be good for grade separation. To their great credit, they are deliberating the matter. Presumably, they will have another meeting next Tuesday.

We realize the political pressure under which these men are placed. The men in the Highway Department are, for the most part, quite unknown to us. We judge them not by their political affiliations but by their highways. The United States is rotten with political manipulation of funds voted by Congress for the relief of the people and the improvement of their public service. Missouri has her good name to defend. She has a great highway tradition to perpetuate. Honesty is her policy.

It should be so in this great crisis. What we do with this $45,000,000 is a test of our capacity for self-government. Either we are a wise people or a foolish people. If we are a wise people, we will follow the tradition which has made our highway system one of the best in the world.

Hands off the Highway Department!

"IF VILLON DWELT IN BUCKINGHAM."

Were that vagabond French poet alive today, and speaking the tongue of Shakespeare, he would, we feel sure, do a stirring ballad—"If Villon Dwelt in Buckingham."

The plight of the champion English tennis player, Perry, provides the theme. He has had a part in pictures which would not him something like $50,000. But if he takes the money, he will forfeit his amateur standing, which would be a catastrophe on which, in the imperial metaphor, the sun never sets. British influence was brought to bear on the international lawn tennis body so to amend its rules as to permit Perry to take the coin and retain the kudos of the simon pure. That august tribunal virtuously refused to close its eyes for a second. It stood uncompromisingly on the letter of the law and, in effect, removed "fifty grand" from Perry's billfold.

Now what would Monsieur Francois Villon do if he were King George? He would see that Perry were reimbursed, and if he had to pick all the pockets of all the Dukes and Earls at the Court of St. James's well, that would be no trick at all for Francois.

There are no such poets now, alas, and there never were such Kings.

A BENEFIT TO ST. LOUIS.

The Young Men's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, which is engaged in a membership campaign, belongs in any list of organizations which are working for a better St. Louis. Thanks to its interest in the city's historic past, handsome markers now indicate the sites of structures and events which stand out in the story of St. Louis. It was one of the first to join in the fight for permanent registration of voters, and shares in the credit for the introduction of a bill at Jefferson City to effect this sensible and economical reform.

Recognizing that no paint-up, clean-up campaign could be successful if it did not include the improvement of downtown property as well as that in residential sections, the Young Men's Division has made a point of working for the renovation of property in business districts. Still other worthwhile activities could be listed, such as its sponsorship of the model airplane exhibition, its interest in the preservation of the boyhood home of Eugene Field, its "get out the vote" campaigns and its sponsorship of radio talks on civic affairs. These and other projects of this organization of the city's younger business men constitute a desirable challenge to their elders.

NO VIGILANTES.

We have every sympathy for the drive Mayor Dickmann is making against careless driving and traffic accidents, but we do not think it wise to organize 10,000 citizens to report traffic violations.

This same suggestion came up some years ago, when the Traffic Council organized several hundred vigilantes to report traffic violations. Motorists complained of the abuses inherent in such a resort. As a result, identification cards with which the vigilantes were supplied were recalled.

It will be the same if the attempt is renewed. The people cannot do the work of the police, and to ask them to do it is to expose them to even worse evils than that at which the effort is aimed.

Taking fixers out of the courts, and not putting civilian spies in the streets, is the way to traffic reform.

QUOTING LLOYD GEORGE.

Anent Germany's rearmament program, we reprint the following from an article by David Lloyd George, which appeared in the Post-Dispatch on Sept. 18, 1932:

There were four men primarily responsible for framing the Treaty of Versailles, which terminated the greatest war in human history—M. Clemenceau, President Wilson, Signor Orlando and myself.

It not only recast national boundaries in two continents, but it sought to inaugurate a new reign of peaceful adjustment in international disputes by substituting machinery of justice for mechanism of force. To carry out this idea practically, we imposed upon Germany, accused of trampling by organized violence on international right, the most ruthless destruction of its peccant armaments.

When the German delegates displayed natural hesitation about accepting these conditions, which reduced their Fatherland to impotence in an armed world, Clemenceau wrote them a letter, on behalf and at the request of his colleagues, assuring the Germans that their disarmament would be treated as a prelude to steps for general reduction of armaments by the other nations.

This pledge is also expressed in the Covenant of the League of Nations. It was accepted by all the signatories to the treaty and ratified by their senates.

Two out of four who drafted that solemn undertaking have passed away—Clemenceau and Wilson. Signor Orlando and I remain.

As one of the two survivors, I have no hesitation in accepting the German view that the victorious nations have shamelessly broken faith on the question of armaments.

No comment on Germany's current defiance of the Versailles Treaty, and the reaction of the other nations thereto, could be more penetrating than these words of England's war-time Prime Minister, written two and a half years ago.

DUST OVER KANSAS.

Dry dust has swirled out of the Western plains again, visiting itself on Kansas, less severely on Missouri, proceeding toward the East. And the meteorologists and agricultural experts lay the blame on parched soil and chance winds. Nothing of the sort. We are satisfied with no such naive explanation. If Kansas has borne the brunt of the suffocating cloud, we see in that a divine reprimand—if Kansas wants to be dry, then let it be good and dry.

Stories of fabulous war profits continue to clutter the news, but where are those profits now?

ILLINOIS COAL AND ST. LOUIS.

Congressman Everett M. Dirksen, who represents the Peoria district, has announced that he will join the protest of the Southern Illinois Reciprocal Trade Association against the proposal to construct a public works pipe line to convey natural gas from Texas to St. Louis. He argues that wide use of natural gas here would materially reduce an important market for the coal mined in his State.

The Post-Dispatch regrets that Mr. Dirksen, who has proved himself one of the most progressive Republicans in Congress, should take this stand. We are just as anxious as he is that the coal-producing communities of Illinois should be prosperous. The St. Louis trading area extends far into Illinois. Residents of Southern and Central Illinois cities and towns come to St. Louis for many things and a sizable share of St. Louis products is retailed in their home stores. Self-interest alone would lead us to wish for an adequate market for the great natural resource which lies underground in our neighbor State. We hope to see the coal people make their own fuel smokeless.

At the same time, St. Louis cannot do other than seek relief from the blight which grips the city with smoggy, choking fumes each winter. The smoke evil, if it goes unchecked, will send St. Louis into a decline and this in turn will have its effect on the consumption of Illinois products in the city. Thus, it is not enough to look at the question from one side. There are two points of view, but we have enough confidence in the future and progress to believe that they can be reconciled.

We invite the business interests of Southern Illinois to see our mutual problem in this light and with that conviction. We would not ask them to sacrifice themselves for us, nor can they expect us to sacrifice ourselves for them. There is a common end to be gained, one in the realization of which both Southern Illinois and St. Louis will be happier.

Dust clouds force schools to close in a Kansas town. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

PRIZE REMARK.

Just as a very small footnote on the tremendous diplomatic happenings in Europe, we quote as follows from a dispatch from Paris telling of the vote of confidence in Premier Flaminio: "The vote of approval was recorded after Flaminio delivered a vigorous attack on the German program and enunciated a policy designed to 'make sure of national defenses and at the same time carry on for general disarmament.'" We submit this for the Paradox Prize of 1935.

THE OLD DIGGINGS AIN'T WHAT THEY USED TO BE.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The President's Leadership

ACCORDING to what may be called pre-Roosevelt standards, the enactment in about 75 days of a five-billion-dollar appropriation for public works would have been considered rapid-fire legislation. That it does not concede the prevailing hourly rate of wages, and that it is not marked for contractors' profits, would in any other time have been regarded as a unique example of effective presidential leadership.

What other President in time of peace has ever carried Congress with him so successfully in a big matter touching its own cherished prerogatives, on a matter where powerful pressure groups were at work, and has done it without raising an unholy rumpus?

Yet the impression exists that the President is no longer as effectively in control of Congress as he was in the first half of his term. The impression is undoubtedly correct. But it is well to remember that the control which Mr. Roosevelt formerly exercised was wholly abnormal, that it was, in effect, a kind of temporary dictatorship in a grave emergency; no one in his senses would wish to perpetuate it one moment longer than is absolutely necessary.

The critics who cried out last year that Mr. Roosevelt was omnipotent, and who describe him this year as impotent, cannot have it both ways. If he ceases to dictate to Congress, he must persuade Congress. And persuasion takes longer and calls for more compromises than dictation.

Not nearly enough attention has been paid by any of us, I think, to the fact that the President took a different view of the elections last fall than that which was popularly adopted. Most of the commentators, myself included, jumped to the conclusion that such a tremendous Democratic majority meant an enhancement of Mr. Roosevelt's power to rule Congress.

Mr. Roosevelt seems to have taken a different view, and to have detected several things which did not show on the surface of his electoral triumphs. One was a deep American dislike of dictatorial methods of government. Another was that the crisis had been sufficiently overcome to make both unnecessary and undesirable hasty rubber-stamp legislation. Another was that there was discontent both at the left and to the right of him that needed to be aired and would be more manageable if it were openly debated.

Whether these were the considerations that weighed with him is a matter of speculation. It is clear, however, that before this Congress assembled, he had decided to resort to a different type of leadership than that which he employed in the first half of his term. His earlier method was, in substance, to present a series of bills and have them enacted on the theory that there should be little debate and that he should have a free hand.

In the present session, though he asked for a free hand in the work relief expenditures, his method has been to offer a series of suggestions and let Congress deliberate and legislate at its leisure. He did not complain about deliberation on the work relief bill, and on the other important measures, such as social insurance, the banking bill, even the utility bill, he is not asking Congress to sign on the dotted line.

It was a wise and necessary change of method, and it reveals once more his remarkable gift for understanding the movement of the political tides. Yet it seems to me that while his judgment was unerring when he decided to abandon the method of dictation and to revert to the method of persuasion, he has made a serious miscalculation.

In accepting the revival of Congress as a deliberative body, he seems not to have taken into account sufficiently the fact that a deliberative assembly moves slowly. Now, if Congress acts slowly because it deliberates, then Congress can get through the business in hand only if there are not too many measures to deliberate about. A choice has to be made between a large program carried out under presidential domination and a short program enacted with congressional freedom.

But actually, the President has suggested to Congress the biggest program it has ever had to deal with, and has at the same time relaxed his pressure and let debate run on. The result is congestion, a veritable traffic jam of new bills, and indigestion, resulting from more measures than anyone can seriously consider. Unless something decisive and effective is done to reduce the program before Congress, there is every likelihood that the congestion and the indigestion will result in humiliating defeats, long delays followed by frantic, ill-considered lawmaking when the hot weather sets in, and a general sense of frustration.

If all the big measures now before Congress, plus those—as, for example, the one dealing with the railroads—which are to come, have to be enacted this year, the proper remedy would be to establish cloture and gag rules to limit debate and force through the whole program. This is a justifiable remedy to meet an emergency.

But some of the most contentious measures are clearly not necessary to meet an emergency, and it would be wrong and foolish to force through the social insurance program, the reorganization of the Federal Reserve System and the regulation of utilities by such devices. They require popular understanding and popular consent if they are to work, and so they need free debate and deliberation.

The proper remedy, therefore, is to make a two-year legislative program out of what is now too large a one-year program. The measures that are not urgent and are highly controversial should not be dropped. But they should be put over for final decision to the next session.

That will still leave enough for Congress to do. If, for example, it determines the future of the NRA, passes the less controversial sections of the banking bill, establishes old-age pensions, modifies and improves the machinery for dealing with labor disputes, helps the railroads and the merchant marine, and deals with the evils of the super-holding company in the utilities, it will have done a lot. It will have done as much as a free Congress can hope to do reasonably well in another 90 days.

For the administration, a reduced program of this sort would be a great blessing. For putting even these measures through Congress is a job, and at the same time the administration has to conserve enough energy to make plans to spend four billion dollars to meet the grave world currency crisis which may be setting in motion another wave of deflation, and to find its way safely

The Gov. Davey Issue

From the Springfield (Mass.) Daily Republican.

THE issue of "corrupt political interference," with the Relief Administration in Ohio by State politicians is the cause of the break between Gov. Davey and the Federal Relief Administrator, who has the backing of the President. Gov. Davey's record in other affairs since his inauguration has been so discreditable that even in Ohio President's course will gain a large body of supporters.

There is cause for the complete federalization of Federal relief expenditures in Ohio, aside from the charge of political corruption. Gov. Davey recently informed Mr. Hopkins that he would not ask the State Legislature to appropriate money for relief purposes. The Governor left the whole burden of taking care of the unemployed in Ohio on the back of the Federal Government.

The logic of the situation requires no position. Under the circumstances, the Federal Government is justified in directing the expenditure of its own money. A state that refuses to share the burden of its needs is a free front for complaint to its rights are ignored in case the Federal relief authorities deal directly with its distressed citizens.

We are hearing much these days about the bribery of the states by the expenditure of the Government at Washington, not simply through work relief projects, or public works in general, but also through the direct Federal assistance known as the debt. There are states' rights champions who seem to resent Federal supervision of the Government's own funds within a state.

This case of Ohio, like the case of Louisiana, which has been contributing less than 2 per cent of the cost of unemployment relief, is a reminder that the states themselves are mainly to blame if centralization is making a rapid advance in the emergency of the depression.

Not long ago, the Saturday Evening Post in an editorial, "Swallowing the States," made this forecast: "There is the likelihood that in the not distant future the nation's Government will be obliged to administer its swollen powers through 10 or 12 regional centers, which in turn will operate through district centers." If we should ever be centralized, that might as easily happen as has already happened in Germany, where the old political subdivisions have been abolished. It is idle in America to complain of centralization if the states are unwilling, or even unable, to pull their own weight.

through the treacherous difficulties of the international situation.

No fair-minded and responsible man will think less of the President if he should come out and say that he did not wish an overburdened Congress or the executive branch of the Government, that he was displaying his whole program, but that there were certain measures which were so urgent and others which could be dealt with next winter.

There would be some comment that he had been forced to "retreat" and some cries from those whose pet reforms had been postponed, but all that would not matter. For when the people come to judge the President in 1936, they will judge him by the total result, and not by the details of his strategy and his tactics.

Inflation Is

CHICAGO.

THERE is no doubt going to have legislation for a very effective House and the Senate this purpose in existence. The 12 points of the Nye committee are excellent.

Gen. Johnson's Article

Inflation Is the Curse of War, He Says, and Nye Plan to Do Away With Profits Offers No Way to Control it.

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

CHICAGO, March 22.

THERE is no doubt that we are going to have legislation to take the profits out of war and to provide for a very effective mobilization of industry in war. Both the House and the Senate have bills for this purpose in existence or in prospect. The 12 points submitted by the Nye committee are nearly all excellent.

I don't know what valid personal objection could be made to limitation of income to $10,000 during a war. Yet, when you start to apply the law of general rule to the infinite variety of circumstances in a country of 125,000,000 people, you get into trouble.

Think of the employment of servants, gardeners, chauffeurs and managers that would instantly be destroyed if nobody had an income of more than $10,000. Think, also, of the support of schools, churches, libraries and hospitals that would vanish.

All this might somehow be adjusted, but the gentlemen who framed these proposals obviously know very little about war.

Modern war is a fearful thing. Its cost depends far more on economy than it does on arms. The nation that can most quickly develop its economy with chemicals and steel wins. The trick is to turn the peacetime industrial machine into a war-time industrial machine with the maximum of speed and efficiency. If the first step is to impose some fantastic and untried scheme which will confuse and possibly wreck the machine, it is an assurance of defeat. While I approve of most of the Nye suggestions in detail, there is a sort of smell about them that suggests a desire to punish wealth rather than to win a war.

I am all for taking the profits out of war. In fact B. M. Baruch invented the idea 16 years ago, and has been fighting for it in season and out of season ever since. The difference between his plan and this Nye plan is that he knows what he is talking about.

Drafting the managers of every business in the country and putting them into uniforms is plainly a demagogic gesture. If the idea is that the Government shall, by military orders and through this device, run every business, it will result in a paralyzing inefficiency, which would invite disaster.

If it does not mean that, it is merely silly. A captain is traditionally the head of a hundred soldiers and a Colonel of about a thousand. The titles belong to an immortal service and mean something of honor and sacrifice in deadly danger. The calling of a butcher or baker is no less honorable, but it is a little hairy to call a man "Captain" or "Colonel" and ask him to bring around a few slices of bologna.

Limitation of income is quite another matter, but you don't have to put a Sam Browne belt on a man to tax him.

The trouble with the Nye suggestion is that it offers no way to control inflation, which is the real cause of war, and that it seems to proceed from an utter ignorance of the economics of modern war.

700 DOGS ENTERED FOR THE ARENA SHOW

Exhibition Will Open Tomorrow—Champion to Be Chosen Sunday.

The twenty-third annual dog show of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club will open tomorrow in the west building of the Arena, with more than 700 entrants representing kennels from various sections of the country.

The show will open at 10 a. m. and close Sunday night when the best dog will be chosen. Dr. Henry Jarrett, of Chestnut Hill, Pa., judge of the working breeds, will select the champion of champions.

Judging will begin tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be resumed at night. Judging Sunday will begin at 10 a. m. and will continue throughout the day. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Besides Dr. Jarrett, the judges will be Dr. Arthur A. Mitten of Philadelphia, sporting dogs; Charles G. Hopton of New York, toy breeds; Paul Hamer of Atlanta, Ga., terriers; and Robert Alexander Ross of Quebec, Canada, hounds. They are among the most widely known judges in the country and often have officiated at the Westminster Kennel Club's show in New York, the world's principal dog show.

Four Judging Rings.

Tomorrow afternoon the judges will appraise pointers, cocker spaniels, bulldogs, German shepherds, airedale terriers, bull terriers, Cairn terriers, Irish terriers, Kerry blue terriers, Manchester terriers, Schnauzers, Welsh terriers, smooth fox terriers and West Highland white terriers.

The four judging rings at night will be occupied by wire-haired fox terriers, doberman pinschers, Boston terriers and English and Irish setters.

Besides the regular events several entertainment features will be presented, including an exhibition of trained dogs handled by H. F. Owen. The program will include a high-jumping dachshund, a doberman pinscher which leaps through hoops of fire, a German shepherd which extinguishes matches by biting them, and other German shepherds which go through a "police demonstration."

Two foxhounds, born 10 months ago without forepaws, will be shown by Robert Quail of Kirkwood.

Parade of Champions.

Children will handle dogs in the ring in a special event Sunday afternoon, with ribbons going to the handlers rather than to their pets. A group of debutantes will aid in presenting it. A parade of champions with 36 in line, all of them championship winners at various shows, will be held Sunday evening prior to the selection of the best dog in the show.

The newly organized Dachshund Club of St. Louis will be represented at the show for the first time. Its members exhibiting most of the 21 dachshunds in the show. More than 100 of about 300 entries from out of town had reached the city today and were quartered in the stables behind the Arena.

Before benching of the dogs an examination is made by the club's veterinarians. Thus far, according to Gerald B. O'Reilly, president of the club, there never has been a case of distemper at any show sponsored by the organization.

Champion Entries.

Accredited champions entered in the show comprise: Labrador retriever—Bentley Diva, owned by Prentice Taggart, New York.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MR. and MRS. JAMES O'MALLEY DAVIES, who divide their time between St. Louis and London, will sail on the Olympic April 5 and will spend the summer in their English home, returning to St. Louis next fall.

They returned to St. Louis a day or two ago with her brother, Joseph Moon, from a Southern trip. Mr. and Mrs. Davies have been in Uspenka Island for several weeks and later joined Mr. Moon in Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lonsdale, who have been at the Park Plaza for the winter, will take possession of their country home, "Cherry Hill," at Sappington, Mo., next week.

Mrs. Herbert Lawrence Parker, 39 Washington terrace, returned home a few days ago from Phoenix, Ariz., where she has been spending the past few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Pflager, 19 Kingsbury place. Mr. Pflager makes occasional business trips to St. Louis.

Mrs. Pflager, who is recuperating from an illness, will remain in the West another month. Mrs. Parker's daughter, Mrs. William Scott Snead of Montclair, N. J., and her twin sons, are visiting friends in Hot Springs, Va., for the spring vacation. Mrs. Snead plans to come to St. Louis later in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Lee, of Hotel Chastain, returned yesterday morning from a Mediterranean cruise. The St. Louisans visited Southern ports on the Aquitania and after spending a week in Paris and London, sailed for the United States aboard the Majestic, arriving in New York Wednesday evening.

from a short trip to Hot Springs, Ark. They were joined there by W. N. Bemis of Prescott, Ark., formerly of St. Louis.

Mrs. William K. Stanard, 35 Brentmoor Park, and her daughter, Mrs. Lonsden McCandless, 40 Brentmoor Park, are expected home Monday or Tuesday from a three-weeks' stay at Jokake Inn, which is just outside Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Danforth, 17 West Brentmoor Park, will arrive Saturday or Sunday from the East. They sailed March 9 for a cruise to Bermuda.

Mrs. Edward T. Cave, 4554 Pershing avenue, and her daughters, Miss Eleanor and Miss Edna Cave, will be home the latter part of this month from a prolonged visit in California and a cruise to Honolulu. They were accompanied by Miss Alice Sabine of Omaha, Neb., who visited them in St. Louis before their departure.

Miss Ruth Duhme, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Duhme Jr., 76 Arundel place, will leave Saturday to spend 10 days with her brother, Richard Duhme, who is studying sculpture at the Pennsylvania Academy in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Low, 6330 Alexander drive, will return some time next week from the Nautilus Hotel at Miami Beach, where they have been spending the winter season. Mrs. Charles C. Skinner, who spent several days in St. Louis with her sister, Mrs. Luther Avon Blue, 5112 Westminster place, and her father, Oregon E. Scott, 5211 Westminster place, are expected to her home in Norfolk, Va. Mrs. Blue entertained informally for her sister at a tea last Friday following the symphony concert.

WASHINGTON, March 22.

It is not being shouted from the rooftops, but Herr Hitler's bombshell announcing rearmament for Germany threw the President's foreign affairs advisers into two distinct camps.

Right after the Hitler bomb, General Douglas MacArthur went over to the White House and acted as spokesman for one camp. What he said, in effect, was:

"Nothing is going to stop Germany from rearming. Certainly no diplomatic note sent by us will. This is a European problem and our cue is to get out."

Another White House conference was held with Secretary of State Hull and Norman Davis, itinerant ambassador for disarmament, as chief spokesmen.

Davis leaned toward some form of American protest to Germany. He felt that this was justified under the German-American peace pact which Germany promised the United States to adhere to the disarmament provisions of the Versailles Treaty. These are the provisions which Hitler scattered to the winds.

Davis also believed that Roosevelt should show Europe that the United States was lining up definitely with its former allies—France and Britain. Secretary Hull was inclined to agree with him.

Diplomats vs. Military.

It is emphasized more than ever the split which is increasing between the State Department and military-naval officers in regard to major foreign policy. The split is also evident in regard to the Far East.

The President, though moving cautiously, is inclined to side with the military-naval group. This is what the latter proposes: A policy of complete isolation except as regard to Latin America. Canada, possibly Australia. Speedy withdrawal from the Philippines and Guam, making Hawaii the first line of Pacific defense. A huge army and navy. No trading with belligerents during the next war—which they expect soon—and a proclamation by the President withdrawing the protection of the flag from certain types of American shipping.

The other group takes its cue largely from Davis. Ambassador Davis has been almost the only adviser the Administration has had on disarmament.

His chief handicap has been that of optimism. Like Herbert Hoover, who prosperity, he saw disarmament perpetually around the corner.

As a result, State Department advisers were not at all prepared for the recent blows Hitler dealt disarmament. The army and navy have been much better posted.

Chief Hull, due to his close friendship with Davis—they are both charming Tennessee gentlemen—accepted his advice. Mr. Hull also is a great idealist, a Woodrow Wilson believer in co-operation with other nations. He leans toward the idea that the British are our natural friends, will help us in the Far East, that we should give them moral, perhaps material support.

Diplomatic Chess Board.

WHICH ever view triumphs, it will have to win out in the most complicated and jumbled chess game the American diplomatic corps has ever played.

It is a chess game in which Russia has become one of the principal pieces. Her vast breadth of territory stretches some 5,000 miles from Poland to Japan. And on both sides Japan and her two allies, Germany and Poland, stand ready to bite off large and luscious mouthfuls.

Japan sees the minerals and raw materials of Siberia making her independent of the outside world. Poland and Germany see the Russian Ukraine as a corridor which would give them an outlet on the Black Sea, fulfill Bismarck's dream of a Germany stretching from Hamburg to Asia Minor.

Hitler has been working on the same policy. In recent secret conversations with the British Ambassador in Berlin he has been all too lucid on the point that Germany does not want colonies across the seas. She wants to expand in Europe.

The Ukraine—with the co-operation of Poland—offers the easiest outlet.

Russia vs. Britain.

THIS is one factor behind the projected trip of Capt. Anthony Eden to Moscow. The French want Britain's traveling ambassador to patch up a working alliance with Russia.

The British, however, are skeptical. The Russians are their natural potential rivals for influence in India. So the British inclination, according to Government reports, is to let the Germans expand at the expense of Russia, keep the western front inviolate.

In this they have the support of the Little Entente. These countries—Roumania, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia—prefer a powerful Germany as neighbor rather than a powerful Russia. War between Germany and Russia, they think, especially with Japan barging in, would kill the Soviet regime. The threat of Communism, which they fear within their own borders, would disappear.

But the French are opposed. Germany, with a corridor through to the Black Sea, would be the most powerful force on the continent. France would be put back on a par with Spain.

So France opposes the policy of her chief allies—the Little Entente—and of her most powerful friend, Great Britain.

The whole complicated picture changes from week to week, the only thing unchanging being the prospect that war is likely.

HOUSE DEFERS ACTION ON STATE LIQUOR BILL

Flood of Amendments Prevents Vote on Control Measure This Week.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The House today deferred action on passage of the Senate liquor-control bill, when it became apparent from the flood of amendments offered, that the bill could not be put to a final vote this week. No time was set for calling the bill up again, but House leaders said it would not be reached before Tuesday or Wednesday.

So far the House has considered about 25 amendments to the bill, 10 of which have been adopted. The amendments adopted have made little change in the bill, as passed by the Senate. The measure is intended to give the State control department more power to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquor.

When the bill is passed by the House, it must be returned to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendments.

Tavern Amendment Voted Down.

The House defeated an amendment by Representative Russell of St. Louis County, which would have permitted the licensing of taverns to sell intoxicating liquor in St. Louis County, by the drink, in unincorporated areas and in incorporated towns of less than 500 population, if a petition for licensing of the tavern is signed by a majority of the taxpayers in the school district in which the tavern would be.

Under the present law no licenses for sale of intoxicating liquor by the drink may be issued in incorporated areas and towns of less than 500 population are barred from having establishments selling liquor by the drink.

An amendment by Representative Ifrig of St. Charles County, which would permit towns of less than 500 population to vote on the question of whether sale of intoxicating liquor by the drink would be permitted, was defeated by a vote of more than three to one. Under the present law sale of intoxicating liquor by the drink is permitted in cities of more than 20,000 and cities and towns with a population of more than 500 and less than 20,000 may vote on whether such sale shall be permitted.

When the bill was laid over this afternoon, members indicated at least 20 or 25 more amendments would be offered when the bill is called up again. Among those to be submitted will be several proposing to give counties or municipalities the right to vote on local option.

Seven amendments were adopted yesterday.

Two Committee Proposals Beaten. Without a record vote, the House defeated a House Criminal Justice Committee amendment to the bill, which would have given the State Liquor Control Supervisor and his inspectors the power of police officers, and the authority to make arrests for violations of the liquor control law.

The House also defeated a committee amendment which would have increased the salary of the State Liquor Control Supervisor. E. J. Becker of Kansas City, to $7500 a year. The House then approved provision of the Senate bill increasing the salary of the Supervisor from $3600 to $4500 a year.

The House also adopted a committee amendment reducing the requirement that holders of permits to sell intoxicating liquors in original packages, not to be consumed on the premises where sold, must have on hand a stock of merchandise, other than liquor, with a value of $1500 to a requirement of such a stock valued at $1000.

Tax Increase Was Voted Down. Three amendments by Representative Whitaker of Hickory County, which were intended to increase the State tax rate on spirits from 80 cents a gallon to $1.10, to block reduction in the tax rates on light and fortified wines were rejected by the House.

The Senate bill proposing revision of the 32 per cent beer and 40 per cent brandy and 50 per cent wine and 60 per cent spirits proposed in the Senate bill in the tax rates on light and fortified wines were rejected by the House.

WOMAN TAKING $3000 TO MEXICAN BANDITS

Member of Gold Hunting Party Was Released to Get Ransom for Two Men.

By the Associated Press.

EL PASO, Tex., March 22.—Prepared to pay $3000 ransom, she said, for the release of L. F. Vremsack, an American treasure seeker held by bandits in Mexico, Mrs. Mary McKinney, one of his companions in the venture, was journeying today to Zacatecas, Mexico. She expected to reach her destination tonight.

Mrs. McKinney said she knew Mark Fowler, American mining engineer, also reported held by bandits in Zacatecas.

"I don't believe that Mr. Fowler was kidnaped by the same bandits who kidnaped us, although his name is only a short distance from where we were kidnaped," she said.

The young widow told a story, which Mexican officials have as yet been unable to confirm.

"We were hunting a treasure in Zacatecas, near Jalisco," said Mrs. McKinney. "Mr. Vremsack, Elias Romo, a native guide, and I were riding horseback through a valley when about 30 bandits surrounded us."

"The bandits took our arms and led us up a mountain. They kept us there without food for 15 hours. Then the bandits told me that I could go and get ransom money and then they would turn Mr. Vremsack loose. The bandit leader, a man who said he was Juan Laredo, threatened us with death if we did not do as he said."

BARBARA HUTTON MDIVANI

TO SAIL FOR U. S. TOMORROW

Hendon Sends Baggage to Southampton; Intends to Get Reno Divorce From Prince.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 22.—Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani, her husband somewhere in Spain, and marital freedom reportedly available in Reno, ordered her car prepared to go for a trip tomorrow to Southampton, where she and her cousin, Jimmy Donahue, will board the S. S. Bremen for the United States.

Her baggage, 17 cabin trunks and five suitcases, left their hotel this afternoon for Southampton.

Apparently interested in the preparations for departure, was Count Hatzewitz, a Dane who talked of his "long friendship" with the princess of the Woolworth millions. He has been seen with her frequently during the last few days. "I have known her for years," said the Count, "and I have seen her often here and on the continent. I have known Jimmy, too, for a long time. We are very good friends." Princess Mdivani said she was coming back to Europe after she had received a divorce in Reno from Prince Alexis Mdivani.

The trunks, as they were taken from the hotel, were inscribed with gold coronets painted prominently above the initials "R. H. M." The tags on the luggage bore the inscription: "H. H. Princess Mdivani."

CLERK HELD UP FOR $40

Two Men Get $40 in Cigar Store at 4989 Thrush Avenue.

Earl Aubuchon, clerk in a cigar store at 4989 Chouteau avenue, was robbed of $40 last night by two men armed with revolvers, who held up Aubuchon and two other men in the store.

Michael Corcoran, driver for the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co., stopped at a company store at 4989 Thrush avenue early today and was met by two men armed with revolvers, who had forced the door to the store. They searched him, but refused to take 50 cents, all the money he had, then searched the store for cigarettes and fled.

WOMAN'S STORY OF BEACH KILLING

Evangelist's Wife Says She Found Victim in Auto With Her Daughter.

By the Associated Press.

PASCAGOULA, Miss., March 22.—Tentatively charged with murder for the killing of Adelbert Ewing, 32 years old, Mrs. Vivian Lucille Payne, 42, and her husband, J. J. Payne, an evangelist, of North Fairfield, O., were held today in jail to await a preliminary hearing.

Ewing, also of north Fairfield, and the Paynes were members of a two-family beach camping party. They had been in Pascagoula for several days, apparently the best of friends.

Officers quoted Mrs. Payne as saying after her arrest that Ewing was shot once in the head and killed after she had found him in an automobile early yesterday in a compromising position with 15-year-old Gladys Mae Kelley, her daughter by a former marriage. The girl was questioned as a material witness but was not detained.

Officers said Mrs. Payne told them she went to the tent where her daughter usually slept and found that she was missing. She said she found the girl and Ewing wrapped in a blanket in an automobile and it was then that one bullet was fired into Ewing's head.

"I shot and killed Mr. Ewing because I knew he had wronged my precious little girl," the officers quoted Mrs. Payne as saying.

The girl, the Sheriff said, told him Ewing had reached the car from his family's tent to relieve her on watch over the camp property when Mrs. Payne appeared. She said she left the scene before the shooting occurred on the beach at Pascagoula near the seaway.

SHAWNEETOWN BRIDGE OVER OHIO URGED AT PWA HEARING

Construction of $1,860,000 Toll Structure Advocated by Kentuckians.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A delegation from Shawneetown, Ill., and Morganfield, Ky., appeared at a Public Works Administration hearing Wednesday in support of an application for an allotment of $1,860,000 for construction of a bridge across the Ohio River at Shawneetown.

They were accompanied by Representatives Parsons (Dem.), Illinois, and Cary (Dem.), Kentucky. Cary said the hearing was called to offer the group an opportunity "to show the necessity for the bridge and the traffic possibilities affecting the retirement of bonds."

The Kentucky Congressman said it would be a self-liquidating project, and that the City of Shawneetown, authorized under Illinois law to issue bonds for such a project, would borrow the necessary money from the PWA and collect tolls at the bridge to retire bonds.

"The bridge would be on the route of the old Shawnee Trail," Cary said, "and would connect U. S. Highway 13 in Illinois with Highway 41 in Kentucky. The Kentucky end of the bridge would be near Uniontown."

Dr. E. M. Roseberry, Neosho, Dies. By the Associated Press. NEOSHO, Mo., March 22.—Dr. Ernest Mozart Roseberry, 68 years old, Neosho physician, who formerly was active in Newton County Democratic politics, died last night of a heart attack. Dr. Roseberry served two terms in the Missouri Legislature during the administration of Gov. Folk and once campaigned for Congress, playing his violin as he stumped the district.

COMMERCE CHAMBER GROUP BACKS REGISTRATION BILL

Says Permanent Enrollment Would Save City at Least $70,000 Annually.

Adoption of a system of permanent registration of voters in St. Louis would save taxpayers a minimum of $70,000 annually, the Young Men's Division of the Chamber of Commerce said in a telegram sent yesterday to Gil Bourk, chairman of the Missouri House Election Committee. He urged favorable action on the bill providing for permanent registration in St. Louis.

A sound registration system has been established in Detroit, Rochester, Omaha and other cities through legislation similar to the bill, the telegram said. Enactment of the measure would "safeguard the sanctity of the ballot system," it was declared and principles incorporated in the bill have been approved by the Brookings Institute and the National Municipal Research Bureau.

MAN AT CURB HIT BY AUTO

Crushed Against Trolley Pole at 18th and Washington.

John McKean, 60-year-old salesman, was injured seriously when crushed against a trolley pole by an automobile at Eighteenth street and Washington avenue last night.

McKean, who resides at the Marquette Hotel, was standing at the curb when an eastbound automobile driven by Richard Stewart, 18 years old, 3520 Linden avenue, East St. Louis, swerved around a street car and hit him. He was taken to City Hospital, where physicians said he had suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and a fractured left leg. Stewart was arrested.

'MORE THAN SEASONAL' GAIN IN EMPLOYMENT

Labor Department Reports 200,000 Increase in February Over January.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Labor Department reported today that there was "more than seasonal" increase in factory employment in February—3.2 per cent—accompanied by a $10,800,000 increase in weekly payrolls.

Officials said the gain in the number of persons on the payrolls of several nonmanufacturing industries during February increased total employment by 200,000 over January's figure.

Gains in both employment and payrolls are usual in February, but this year's increase was said to be greater than that of any previous year in the last 16, except 1934.

Increase in Employment and Payrolls in Illinois.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The Illinois Department of Labor in a report last night said employment in the State increased 2.4 per cent in February over January and payrolls increased 4.3 per cent.

The department said the figures showed "a positive growth" greater than the usual January-February increase. The average increase in the last 12 years was 0.8 per cent for employment and 2.2 per cent for payrolls.

"As compared with the same month of last year," the report said, "the indexes of employment and payrolls indicate a relatively higher level of industrial activity. The index of employment rose from 68.0 in February of 1934 to 72.5 in February of this year, and the index of payrolls moved up from 48.8 to 56.7."

Manufacturing enterprises showed the greatest advance.

GEORGE C. GRIFFITH, HEAD OF LUMBER COMPANY, DIES

Body to Be Sent to Springfield, Mich., His Birthplace, for Burial.

By the Associated Press.

George C. Griffith, president of the National Tie and Lumber Co., died yesterday of cerebral hemorrhage at Missouri Baptist Hospital. He was 79 years old and resided at the Gatesworth Apartment Hotel.

Mr. Griffith came to St. Louis in 1904 from Springfield, Mich., and founded a stove company bearing his name; later he organized the tie and lumber firm, and became a partner in the Bagnell Timber Co., also manufacturers of railroad ties.

The body will be removed from Lupton Chapel, 4449 Olive street, this evening, and sent to Springfield for burial Sunday. Surviving are his wife and a son, George A. Griffith.

8 MORE STUDENTS ARRESTED FOR PASSING ANTI-WAR BILLS

They Say Berkeley (Cal.) Ordinance Against Handbills Violates Right of Free Speech.

By the Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., March 22.—Eight more University of California students, including five girls, were arrested yesterday for distributing anti-war handbills.

Like the four girls and five men arrested on similar charges Wednesday, they will appear in Police Court Monday. All have been released without bond.

President Robert Gordon Sprout of the university issued a statement saying the school would not be involved in the handbill controversy. A student statement declaring "enforcement of the (anti-advertising handbill) ordinance against us is a clear violation of our constitutional right of free speech."

SUNDAY MOVIES OPPOSED BY WEBSTER GROVES GROUP

Campaign Started Against Repeal of Ordinance Barring Shows on the Sabbath.

By the Associated Press.

A meeting to form plans to oppose repeal of a Webster Groves ordinance which keeps moving picture theaters closed on Sundays was held last night in Webster Groves. About 75 attended and committees were chosen to carry out a campaign. Appeals will be made to churches, organizations and civic bodies to oppose repeal.

A petition has been filed with the City Clerk for the referendum, which will be submitted at the city election, April 2.

The ordinance barring Sunday moving pictures was passed by the Council in 1909 and has been upheld by referendums in 1923 and 1929. There is only one moving picture theater in Webster Groves.

PROF. E. B. WAGGONER DIES

Former McKendree College Teacher Succumbs at Lebanon, Ill.

By the Associated Press.

Prof. Edward Baker Waggoner, who for 40 years was a teacher of science at McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., and who was curator of the college museum in recent years, died last night of infirmities of age at his home in Lebanon. He was 82 years old.

He had not been active the last two years because of a paralytic stroke. For 20 years he was superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Lebanon. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ella Cowan Waggoner, and six children, three of whom are teachers. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday from his home to the Methodist Episcopal Church, with burial in College Hill Cemetery.

EDUCATOR ATTACKS 'POKER GAME' RELIEF

Prof. Sophonisba Breckinridge Assails Unequal Percentages in Allotments to States.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Current methods of distributing Federal relief funds to the States, attacked as a "poker game" today by Prof. Sophonisba P. Breckinridge, University of Chicago social scientist, writing in the Social Service Review.

The publication is edited by Grace Abbott, former chief of the children's bureau of the Department of Labor.

"Does anyone," the article inquires, "even the Federal Administrator himself, understand why such very large percentages of the relief burden of certain states are carried by the FERA while so much less is done for other states?"

Pointing out that Kansas, with 15 per cent of its population on relief, received only 67.8 per cent of its relief funds from the FERA while North Carolina, with 8 per cent on relief, received 88.6 per cent, Dr. Breckinridge says:

"The Federal Emergency Relief Act of 1933 gave the Administrator a free hand except for the first half of the first $500,000 that he had for relief funds. That half was to be distributed to the different states on a statutory matching basis."

"Since then the Administrator has depended entirely on his own discretion, and it would seem to outsiders as if he had been playing a game of poker with the Governors of the different states, as if the Governors who were able to go to Washington with the poker faces came back with the largest percentage grants."

The article cites other comparative figures as follows:

Virginia, with only 7 per cent of the population on relief, gets 75 per cent of her relief expenditures from the Federal Government and West Virginia with 22 per cent on relief get only $5.5 per cent.

"Drought-stricken South Dakota, with 35 per cent on relief, got 43.3 per cent of her relief expenditures from the Federal Administration, but Arkansas, with only 16 per cent on relief, got 95 per cent; similarly, Mississippi with 13 per cent on relief got 99.2 per cent of her expenditures, Louisiana with only 13 per cent got 98 per cent of her expenditures, Tennessee with only 11 per cent on relief got 96 per cent of her expenditures."

"There does not seem to be 'rhyme or reason' in a system that gives, for example, the State of Oregon, with 10 per cent of its population on relief, 93.4 per cent of its relief expenditures; and Washington, with 11 per cent on relief, only 81 per cent."

"It is not easy to understand why Michigan, with 16 per cent of its population on relief, should get only 64.3 per cent of her expenditures while Wisconsin with 14 per cent on relief should get 75 per cent, and Indiana with 13 per cent on relief should get only 62.6 per cent of her expenditures."

MISS EVA J. ROSS APPOINTED

To Join Albertus Magnus College Faculty, New Haven, Conn.

Miss Eva J. Ross, a writer, and lecturer on economics and sociology at Maryville and Fontbonne Colleges, has been appointed to the faculty of Albertus Magnus College at New Haven, Conn. It was announced yesterday by officials of that college.

In 1932 Miss Ross accepted the position as lecturer at the college here. She will remain here until June, assuming her new duties at the fall.

Confirmed as Aurora Postmaster.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Frank R. Dalton, as postmaster at Aurora, Ill.

The Republican voted yesterday.

Board of Education members of the various wards will vote as they desire, and there was no indication of which candidates would have the greatest support of members. He expressed favoring re-election of Blumeyer, a Republican, but said he would not vote for him as he was not a member of the board, and that he was not a member of the board.

Indorsements would be the Democratic City that members would informal state. For the strongest endorsement of support from the organization, were of Ward and "Euler" Hough and Edward Republicans.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE ENDORSES CANDIDATES

Quinn, Coleman, Davis and Mrs. Caulfield Supported by Civic Group.

Indorsement of four candidates for the four places on the Board of Education to be filled in the April 2 election was voted yesterday by the Citizens' School Board Committee, a civic group.

Those indorsed were: Thomas F. Quinn, president of the Building Trades Council, and Frank B. Coleman, lawyer, Democrats, and Mrs. Henry S. Caulfield and Albert J. Davis, stock broker, Republicans. Candidates of Coleman, Mrs. Caulfield and Davis were sponsored by the committee, which wanted William C. Connett, banker and Democrat, to run for the fourth place. Connett declined to run and Quinn was chosen for the fourth indorsement.

Two Democrats and two Republicans were elected to the board under a new bipartisan law, with all electors voting for candidates of both parties. W. J. Fitzmaurice, president of Central Trades and Labor Union, argued in behalf of Quinn's candidacy before the committee.

Committee's Resolution.
A resolution adopted by the committee asserted that under the bipartisan law "there is real danger to the public school system unless the board is awake to the situation. Its members may be led by the new law, must not become the playing of party politics."

In addition, the resolution said: "In sponsoring these candidates, we have fully considered the qualifications of all candidates and can thoroughly approve these four as possessing a very high standard of ability for board membership. They are outstanding, civic-minded citizens who possess a high degree of intelligence, are experienced in public affairs, and are free of selfish political motives. No mistake can be made in placing school affairs in the hands of such as these. They deserve the support of all citizens, irrespective of political affiliations, who believe in keeping partisan politics and other selfish interests out of the schools. The committee will make a broad and vigorous campaign to acquaint the voting public with the fitness of these candidates for school board membership. In doing so it believes it will be performing a sacred duty."

Mrs. Paul Blackwelder was made chairman of the organization's Campaign Committee. She will set up a number of subcommittees. Mrs. Caulfield and Coleman, addressing the citizens' group yesterday, said they would give nonpartisan service to the board.

Position of Alliance.
The Public School Patrons' Alliance, which heretofore has voted indorsement of Board of Education candidates under the nonpartisan system, has decided not to back candidates under the bipartisan law. It was reiterated in a statement today by J. Harry Pohlman, president of the alliance, an effort to have the bipartisan law held unconstitutional will be pursued. The alliance has held that the law was unconstitutional because it infringed the right of citizens by limiting membership on the board to members of the two major parties.

This stand was taken, Pohlman said, because the alliance has always striven to keep political influence out of the schools. Five different methods of raising the question of legality of the law have been taken under consideration, he added, with the prospect that suit will be filed in the Supreme Court of Missouri, possibly after the coming session. The alliance's Executive Committee has held several meetings in determining this policy.

Position of G. O. P. Committee.
The Republican City Committee voted yesterday not to indorse Board of Education candidate. The members of the committee from the various wards will slate candidates whom they desire. Chairman Pape said there was no indication as to which candidates would receive the greatest support from committee members. He expressed himself as favoring re-election of Arthur A. Blumeyer, a Republican member of the board, but said he had not made up his mind as to others.

It appeared probable that formal indorsements would not be voted by the Democratic City Committee, but that members would work out an informal slate. Party leaders said the strongest candidates, in point of support from the Democratic organization, were Quinn, Joseph J. Ward and "Duke" Sheahan, Democrats, and Blumeyer, William J. Davis and Edward A. Ferrenbach, Republicans.

TWO HURT IN PLANE ACCIDENT
Farmer-Pilot and Highway Engineer Crash Near Malden, Mo.
BREASTON, Mo., March 22.—Edward McMullin, farmer, and G. J. Phillips, maintenance engineer of the State Highway Department, were injured late yesterday when their airplane crashed in a field near Malden while they were flying from Kennett to Sikeston.

McMullin's injuries are serious. He was immediately taken to a hospital at Cape Girardeau. Phillips said they were flying above the clouds and descended to get their bearings. When McMullin, the pilot, tried again to gain altitude, a fuel control wire broke. The plane went into a loop and flew upside down for more than a mile before it crashed.

PEACE DISTURBANCE APPEAL TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Tony Sansone Jr. and Tony Busalacki Do Not Testify at Second Hearing.

Charges of general peace disturbance against Tony Sansone Jr., proprietor of a night club at 521A Washington avenue, and Tony Busalacki, 1204 North Sixth street, were taken under advisement until April 18 by Judge Dickmann in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday.

The case was heard on appeal from Police Court, where both defendants were fined $200. Detectives testified yesterday the two men were fighting on the first floor hall of the Municipal Courts Building Jan. 14. The defendants did not testify.

William J. Hough, attorney for Sansone, asserted the city must show which defendant was the aggressor to make a case, and obtained permission to file a brief on the point.

LINCOLN STEFFENS SUED ON STOCK IN CLOSED BANK

Receiver Charges Californian Transferred Property to Wife to Evade Liability.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Lincoln Steffens and his wife, Ella Winter, both writers and champions of radical political beliefs, were sued in Federal Court yesterday by H. W. Douglas, receiver for the California National Bank of Sacramento, which closed in 1933.

The suit alleges Steffens transferred title to valuable property to his wife in attempting to evade liability as a stockholder. A restraining order is sought to prevent disposal of the property. Sale of sufficient assets to satisfy a judgment against the Steffenses Feb. 5, 1934, also is requested, and the Court is asked to annul all property transfers by Steffens to his wife.

Listed as property transferred were a $35,000 note signed by "Owen D. Young of New York"; three town lots in Carmel, Cal., worth $15,000; $90,000 worth of bonds and all Steffens' book royalties and stocks in various corporations. The bank, a $1000 American Power & Light bond; a $1000 Canadian Government bond; $2000 in Kansas City Southern Railway bonds and $5000 in bonds of the Central Railway of Georgia. Steffens was described as having owned 150 shares of stock in the closed bank. The suit said he was assessed $15,000 under the liability provisions when the bank closed, but did not pay it.

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago

—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

It was a matter of pride with a host in Colonial days that his guests should smoke tobacco grown on his own plantation.

Today the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina—
"Have a cigarette"

TODAY people all over the world use tobacco in one form or another.

They chew it, they smoke it in pipes, they smoke cigars and cigarettes, and here is what an eminent physician said about cigarettes:

"I have been something of a student of cigarettes, and it is my belief that they offer the mildest and purest form in which tobacco is used."

Yes, nowadays the cigarette is the most popular form in which tobacco is used. A good cigarette certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Have a Chesterfield—

For one thing—they're milder.

For another thing—they taste better.

NEW MEXICO SUPREME COURT REPRIMANDS ONE MEMBER

Also Imposes on Him the Costs of Inquiry Into His Handling of Trust Funds.

SANTA FE, N. M., March 22.—The New Mexico Supreme Court reprimanded one of its members, Justice A. L. Zinn yesterday and imposed on him the costs of an inquiry into his professional affairs.

The court's action was taken on the findings of a committee of the State Bar Association that Justice Zinn, before he became a member of the court and while acting as a special tax attorney, had improperly "co-mingled" trust funds with his own.

POSTAL RECEIPTS IN ST. LOUIS

Increase for First 20 Days of March Over Period Year Ago.

Postal receipts in St. Louis for the first 20 days in March totaled $547,663, an increase of $24,737 over the corresponding 20-day period in 1934. Postmaster W. Rufus Jackson announced yesterday at the monthly luncheon meeting of the St. Louis Postoffice Study Club held at the Marquette Hotel.

He also announced that the sale of the United States Savings Bonds totaled $523,218. The bonds were placed on sale March 1.

RANTOUL AIR SCHOOL'S FATE UP TO CONGRESS

Report of Special Board Says Morale There is Low Due to Living Conditions.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Representative Dobbins (Dem.), Illinois, said yesterday he was "encouraged, but would make no predictions" concerning the retention of the Chanute air corps technical school at Rantoul, Ill.

He said that he had studied the recommendations of the special board which had reported to Secretary Dorn of the War Department that it advised moving the school to Denver, and that he believed it was the purpose of the War Department to place the decision on the transfer upon the shoulders of Congress.

He produced a letter from Secretary Dorn to Representative McSwain, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, in which it said that the board had submitted its report "with the request that the Congress finally decide this matter, so that the necessary appropriation may be obtained to push the project to fruition."

Dobbins prepared a digest of the "confidential" report of the air corps officials on the location of the school.

It detailed a visit March 4 to 7, inclusive, 1934, in which the board said it had questioned a committee of seven men from Rantoul and 13 from Champaign and Urbana.

Morale Said to Be Low.

Dobbins said the board found morale at Chanute exceedingly low "and believed this condition to be the result of very poor living conditions, the isolation of the station, the inability of the neighboring town to absorb or co-operate sufficiently with the school, and the generally poor reputation that the station has."

"These deplorable morale conditions were brought to the attention of both the committee from Rantoul and Champaign-Urbana," Dobbins quoted the report as saying. "They expressed surprise that any responsibility for this should be placed on the neighboring towns and cities, and states it was the fault of the army for not bringing it to their attention sooner."

The board reported that it had gone into the matter fully with the committee on how to improve conditions at the field, but that three months later it was reported by the commanding officer at Chanute Field that "neither community had taken a single step to improve the situation."

Dobbins said the report criticized the district for its climate, its temperature and its humidity. It said the cost of food was too high, that transportation was faulty, that there was little recreation either in Rantoul or Champaign-Urbana, and that the cost of servants was too high for the services rendered.

Few Social Opportunities.

The report said that although there were considerable dances and other social activity at Champaign-Urbana, especially in connection with the University of Illinois, it said little if nothing had been done to encourage enlisted and commissioned men to take part in these activities.

The board was quoted by Dobbins that the sections were apparently excellent for recruits, "as there is always a waiting list of individuals who pay their own way to get to the school," the best recruits, the board said, come from the neighboring farms.

Before concluding with the statement that the board advises moving the field from Rantoul, it stated that the best location it was able to find was at Denver, and it recommended that the site offered by that city be acquired by the department.

It decided that servants there were obtainable at $3 to $10 per week, rentals were very reasonable, and that recreational facilities were superior. It also asserted that there was sufficient ground available at low cost for expansion.

Dobbins said that he had every reason to believe that the whole matter of whether Chanute would be transferred would be threshed out on the floor of the House. He said that he was studying plans for combating the claims of Denver.

In reply to an offer of State Senator Cass Clifford of Champaign to put through a memorial in the General Assembly demanding the retention of Chanute at Rantoul, Dobbins said he had asked that such action be delayed for a few days until he could find the best methods of combating the Denver advocates.

CELEBRATION OF ANNIVERSARY OF KING GEORGE'S ACCESSION

London Boroughs to Spend $100,000 for Decorations; May 6 to Be National Holiday.

LONDON, March 22.—The color and gaiety of bygone days will return to England this summer at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King George's accession to the throne.

Every city, town and village will be embellished with flowers, flags and bunting for the high carnival centering around May 6, the actual anniversary, which will be a national holiday. There will be parades and pageants.

The official period for the celebrations is a fortnight, but most of the decorations—which are to be weatherproof—will remain weeks longer. Manufacturers of flags and bunting are working overtime.

Various boroughs of London have approved expenditures of more than $100,000 for decorations, while Brighton, England's favorite seaside resort, has set aside $30,000 for fireworks and other frills.

BORAH TALKS TO ROOSEVELT

Holds First Private Discussion With the President.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, frequent administration critic, was invited to luncheon today at the White House.

President Roosevelt and Borah have never held a private discussion, although the Senator has been at other White House conferences with groups. It is the practice of the President to share his luncheon period each day with a caller, usually a Government aid and occasionally a congressional leader. It was Borah who proposed yesterday to restore the anti-trust laws through an amendment to the relief bill. It was voted down.

February Rolls in Illinois Show Increase Over January.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission yesterday announced 318,165 families were on relief in February, an increase of 465 over January and 471 over February, 1934.

Cook County had 151,988 families on relief and downstate 166,167. Despite the increase, the commission said, expenditures of $12,174,858 for relief in February were $353,385 less than in the preceding month with administrative expenses totaling $1,051,926 or 8.64 per cent of the total cost. The January administration cost was 9.26 per cent, the commission said.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Just how far—if at all—should chivalry go in 1935?
This idea of protecting the poor little woman—and shouldering the blame for everything she does—should—or shouldn't—that be expected of Modern Males?
And is such protection either a favor or a compliment to the Dear Little Woman herself?
Why'm I asking?
Because of one of those typical office jams. The boss away—one woman and four men left in charge of the office. An important letter arrived. The woman should have typed it and didn't. She forgot. So it went unanswered, and a week later there was heck to pay, and the boss going wild and wanting to know how come.
Simply the four gallant gentlemen took the blame, and the woman let 'em.

A common enough situation. You see it happen in every place where men and women work together. And, of course, it's done 1000 times out of 1000 divorces.

Right, you'll probably say. But is it quite right? Should women be so privileged and protected in these days of feminine freedom and equality?
If a woman is really entitled to the same equality, should—or shouldn't—she be the whole way? If she's fit to compete in business with men—she's fit from men—assume the responsibilities of men—shouldn't she also face the consequences of her blunders she may make? Or should men step in and save her from consequences?

I believe she should—and they should. If women wish to be treated as people, they should pay the price.

IT'S AS CONTEMPTIBLE FOR A WOMAN TO "CRY OFF" AS IT IS FOR A MAN. AND AS BAD FOR HER CHARACTER.

If a woman can't take it in public, she shouldn't start. And with shame I am forced to admit that many of us girls can't.

Were magnificent workers as everything is going nicely. We don't shrewd and tireless. But if something goes wrong and we immediately look for someone, usually a man, to shoulder the blame. And what's the poor boy for? He doesn't take the rap, he's a poor dog. And if he does—then what?

There is little hesitation. Men pride themselves on being chivalrous almost as much in 1935 as in 1776. And most women are foolish enough to think that's flat-out to their sex. But it doesn't always follow. Chivalry isn't always prompted by consideration—often it's based upon vanity. Many a male has made himself a fool by protecting a dumb female. And women never had a lower moral rating than when chivalry was in flower.

So don't be so sure that you've found a Swift One, sister, merely because you've shifted the burden of responsibility. You've side-tracked trouble temporarily. But there's a judgment day coming!

And this applies not only to our business relationships, but to private life as well. I cannot see that anything is gained by the popular practice of expecting the man to be the savior on all occasions. This practice, I believe, begins in the nursery. The Junior is wrathfully entitled—never—NEVER—to "the little sister." But why shouldn't the sister be walloped if she has a word to say upon herself? She demands and enjoys all the privileges of the brother, doesn't she? Then why not let her take the trimming if she deserves it?

No, no! I see that sister should be protected—from the consequences of her own cussedness. And she has become a Mrs. Why, for example, should gentlemen invariably shoulder the onus of unpopular divorce proceedings?

Because a child needs to respect its mother? Is the popular theory. But a child doesn't need to respect its mother any more than it needs to respect its father. And if a mother isn't worth respecting, why lower union standards by giving her first-class recognition?

All of which isn't going to make a woman any more like the rest of my sex. BUT WHAT'S YOUR ANSWER, LADIES?

Sims to Oppose Culbertson in Bridge Match

Wives Will Be Partners of Experts in 150-Rubber Contest.

By P. Hal Sims

(With Apologies to Mrs. Culbertson) Beginning Monday, March 25, Mrs. Sims and myself will meet Ely Culbertson and Mrs. Josephine Culbertson in a match at contract bridge, of 150 rubbers, this match continuing 21 days.

I understand from the wise birds around New York that Mr. Culbertson is willing to lay 8 to 5 that he wins this match. Of course, something must have happened to him to make him take such a pessimistic view. When he played Lenz and Jacoby he laid 10 to 1.

Now, in the matter of odds, what small bets I have made were made even money and I don't agree with Mr. Culbertson on the 8-to-5 business. I think one of the first things one should learn about competitive sport is that it is very dangerous to underestimate one's opponents. For instance, let us say that Mr. Culbertson starts in this match, having underestimated the ability of Mrs. Sims and myself, and early in the match we catch him out on a limb where nothing but pessimism could have brought him. Perhaps the realization then that he is up against a somewhat stronger team than he thought he was may work to upset his morale. It is a well-known fact that people who are very optimistic go to the other extreme when their optimism leaves them—for instance, if it is true that if Mr. Culbertson loses, it will cost him over a million dollars, I don't know whether you have ever had the sinking feeling that comes when you are faced with the possibility of losing a million dollars, or the possibility that you have been over-optimistic and that your optimism has really gotten you in the predicament in which you find yourself. But, to say the least, if this contingency should arise, I feel that it would be very disconcerting to Mr. Culbertson.

As to our reasons for playing the Culbertson-Sims match, Mrs. Sims and I will be thrilled, probably, from start to finish. There is nothing that either of us loves more than competition. We are prepared, if worst comes to worst, to lose, but we are, naturally, trying our best to win. This is a game, and the word "game" implies chance. For instance, we might hold overwhelming cards and be victorious in that way, or we might hold bad cards and lose on that account, or we might be more skillful and opportunities might present themselves for us to get the swing hand. So might the Culbertsons. But in any case, we are regarding it as a sporting event, and although Mr. Culbertson talks a great deal about the money side of it, I am sure that both Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson will enjoy the competitive side.

One of the reasons why contract has gripped the imagination of 20,000,000 people is that it is a sporting game and offers a great chance for precision, character study and brilliance. Each partner and each opponent has this chance on practically every hand. On many hands where your opponents have nothing to do, they pass continually, and on one hand you may bid seven and make six or you may bid four and make seven. The losses are about equal on both hands. Any game in which you can beat yourself is necessarily a sporting game. I, a mediocre tennis player, might go out and beat Tilden for a set if all of Tilden's beautiful shots just hit the top of the net and bounced the wrong way. It would mean that on this particular day Tilden had beaten himself.

Games that have sporting features are always popular and, contrary to the pigeon-like writings of bridge experts, there is no yardstick that can handle the vast possibilities of hands that occur in contract bridge. What you can do is to have a method for types, and as a great many hands of the same type come up, you may gain through method a proficiency that, in the long run, will surely beat the fellow who has no method for handling types. But let me impress upon you that there is no mathematical formula that can handle contract bridge.

Lamb and Spaghetti Pie.
One-quarter package spaghetti, one cup diced lamb, one tablespoon parsley, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon thyme, three tablespoons butter, one and one-half cups cooked peas. Boil spaghetti in salted water until tender. Brown meat in butter. Line a buttered baking dish with half the spaghetti and fill with meat and peas. Pour one-half cup water in the meat pan, seasoning with parsley, thyme, salt and a dash of Worcestershire meat. Then cover with remaining spaghetti. Dot with butter and bake for a half hour in a fairly hot oven.

Concentration Is Acquired With Practice

By the Rev. J. F. Newton

"TAKE two men of equal ability," wrote the late Lord Riddell; "one succeeds and the other fails. What is the reason? One has the power of concentration and the other has not learned it."

The man who fails sees that he is missing the mark, but he does not know why it is so. Day by day the successful man does more work, does it more easily, and does all his work a shade better.

No success can be won without concentration of two kinds—first, on the main project; and second, on its details. To focus on the main project and forget the details, means failure.

By the same token, to concentrate on the details and lose sight of the main objective, is to lose out. One does not see the wood for the trees—he is all tangled up in things trivial.

Emerson was right, "Concentration is the secret of success in politics, in war, in trade, in short, in all the management of human affairs."

Now, the way I feel about this match is as follows: Contract is a hobby with both Mrs. Sims and myself, but as yet we have not reaped any of the great harvest that Mr. Culbertson tells about. In fact, I don't know of any way to make money out of bridge except in playing for a stake. Otherwise the game has always cost me a considerable amount of money every year.

As to our reasons for playing the Culbertson-Sims match, Mrs. Sims and I will be thrilled, probably, from start to finish. There is nothing that either of us loves more than competition. We are prepared, if worst comes to worst, to lose, but we are, naturally, trying our best to win. This is a game, and the word "game" implies chance. For instance, we might hold overwhelming cards and be victorious in that way, or we might hold bad cards and lose on that account, or we might be more skillful and opportunities might present themselves for us to get the swing hand. So might the Culbertsons. Tomato and Cabbage Salad.
One small firm head of cabbage, three medium-sized tomatoes, one finely chopped onion, one cucumber, one green pepper, lettuce, mayonnaise. Shred the cabbage finely and add it to the onion and half of both pepper and cucumber, diced. Mix well with French or mayonnaise dressing. Peel tomatoes and cut into eighths. Pile the cabbage mixture in a salad bowl on leaves of lettuce and garnish with the tomatoes and the rest of the cucumber and pepper.

A Novelty for the Party.
An entertaining centerpiece for the table at the children's party is a large imitation pie made out of cardboard. Inside the pie is a small toy or game for each child, with a string attached leading to the child's place at the table. At a signal the strings are pulled and the favors come to view.

Sweet Potato Casserole.
Two cups cooked and seasoned sweet potatoes, mashed, two tablespoons brown sugar, one-third cup hot water, 10 large ginger snaps, three-fourths cup butter. Pour hot water over this. Crumble ginger snaps finely and mix well with softened butter. Spread over top of potatoes. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes. May be used as a vegetable or a filling dessert.

Better Wear.
Silk undergarments should be washed after each wearing to prevent the acids from perspiration weakening the fabric.

Miscellaneous Problems of Social Usage

The Crooked Finger When Eating—Taking Advantage of Friendliness.

By Emily Post.

Dear Mrs. Post: I CAN remember that away back in 1897 the pretentious habit of crooking the little finger when eating or drinking was being laughed out of style. So I was much surprised to be told by a younger friend that now in 1935 this custom was being revived as "the latest." Is this true?

Answer: Not by anybody who is anybody. So must be by nobody!

Dear Mrs. Post: My employer and I, but even so they have been very generous with their invitations to us. At first this hostess called me "Mrs. Brown" but since about the third party at her house she calls me "Mary," which was of her own choosing. Should I call her "Frances" instead of "Mrs. Jones" or what ought I to do?

Answer: Unless she tells you to call her by her first name it would be the greatest offense to taste that you could possibly commit to call her anything except "Mrs. Jones"—ever. To take an all when given an inch would be perfectly illustrated were you to return her gesture of friendliness to you by utter lack of sensibility. It is true that certain older women neither win nor care for the courteous consideration of younger people, but you are giving no evidence that Mrs. Jones is one of these.

Dear Mrs. Post: It is all very well for you to say that it is all right for teetotalers to go to the cocktail parties of their friends because there will be tomato juice or other non-alcoholic cocktails for them. I have gone with this assurance several times only to find myself confronted with nothing but strong cocktails. Is there any way to make sure before turning down an invitation?

Answer: Perhaps you could explain, "I'd love to come to your party, Edith, but you know I don't drink anything stronger than tomato juice," to which Edith will probably answer that there will be tomato juice for you and others who prefer it. And she may be delighted that you gave her this idea, if she hadn't thought about it before.

Dear Mrs. Post: How can I invite girl friends for bridge and then include their boy friends after bridge for cocktails?

Answer: Ask the girls to play bridge at three o'clock and the men to come in for cocktails, at about half after five. Or if you prefer, write the invitations on your visiting cards.

Says Genevieve the kitchen critic:
"A thought that often cheers me up is that it's never too late to delay still longer."

But people who're trying to take things out of politics aren't doing nearly so well as those who're willing to take things while in politics.

WELL, PROSECUTOR MOORE, WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF IT?
(Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)
Roy Smith, of Liberal, has made a complaint to Prosecutor Moore against Chas. Garner that is caused by a situation at least unusual.

Mr. Smith says Garner will stand and look steadily through the window of his filling station or he will follow him about wherever he goes, for a time. If he and his wife get in the car in the evening, Garner will get into his car and keep along after them throughout the drive.

He will meet Roy on the street, stop and look steadily at him, perhaps grinning, but saying nothing. Never through any of this obvious and enigmatic shadowing, does Garner ever say a word.

Garner is said to have fixed his peculiar attention upon another Liberal man, some time ago, dogging his footsteps, gazing at him, tagging him, yet never saying a word. It continued until the object of his persecution is declared to have moved out of town.

Dear Mrs. Post: It is all very well for you to say that it is all right for teetotalers to go to the cocktail parties of their friends because there will be tomato juice or other non-alcoholic cocktails for them. Spring Blouses Match Moods Of the Wearer

Styles Range From Frilly to Severely Tailored Lines and Colors.

By Dorothy Roe

NEW YORK, March 22. YOU must pick a blouse to match every mood from the coldest blossoming out in Fifth Avenue shops.

Your blouse may be as tailored and severe as your new spring suit, or it may be a paradox of femininity and frills.

The style moguls say either frills is on the up and up, and in to be on the safe side we would suggest trying out both.

For your businesslike morning mood, there is the Southern gentility of the frilly blouse, the frilly blouse, with pleated frills at the throat and wrist, a pleated bosom buttoned down the front and a little black taffeta bow tie. It suggests the tailored perfection of the Kentucky Currier who slipped his mint julep at some wide front porch in the days before the war.

Or you may prefer the elegant tailored blouse of white lines, equipped with an exact replica of a man's dress collar, a black tie and studs as well as cuff links. This is shown also in pastel blues, and in tullecloth damask, and you may substitute a colored tie.

The shirtwaist blouse of striped silk shirting is still on the upgrade, depending for its chic on tailored perfection of detail.

For your frivolous moods there is the lace blouse, newly bloused in a correct accessory for the tailored suit, and as feminine and silly as your heart could desire.

It is shown in both shirtwaist style and in the more elaborate frilly versions, and either is effective.

The lace and net blouse with a tailored collar, pleated or frilled bosom and buttons down the front is one of those paradoxes in which the designers delight this season. It adds a charming feminine note to the spring tailor, and has a hint of Gibsonian primness.

It may be had in starched lace in the softer net and lace styles and comes in white, pastels and even black.

The lace blouse with frilly jab also comes into its own this spring, sponsored for wear either with the tailored daytime suit or with the dressier cocktail suit.

And another newcomer in the frivolous blouse contingent is the hand-made batiste number with lace frills and insertion, as dainty as a baby's christening robe and as frothy as an ice-cream soda. It strikes a welcome note of contrast in the ultra-tailored mode.

Pieces for Patching
If you have any extra pieces of the garment that is to be patched, have them dyed along with the article. Then you are all set for patching when that inevitable time comes along.

Make large biscuits one-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups flour, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Mix with cream made of frosting.

Dear Martha Carr:
OW can you give me a polished picture has been looking. I used some had a polish and wax bought from a can. I saw in the other evening about in warm water, but it didn't work.

You can use the warm water now (a) to a teaspoon of water. I think you would be a reliable place, when it is sold, and get furniture polishes.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
ILL you please some of the good stores are in. I have heard there are but do not know where, as I live out of town.

If you wish these to send me a stamped envelope.

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I FIND it necessary to come to you for advice. It seems to me a complicated case. I have gone with a boy for more than three years and I realize that, with the exception of a few faults, he is a very good boy. But I do not find it possible to marry this boy as he has a mother, two sisters and two small brothers to support.

I am working for a doctor now and there is future in my work. As I never intend to marry him, my mother says I ought to give up this boy. She says when I do decide to marry, I cannot just jump into it the next day, as no one would consider me that way. What to do? What to do?

I have quit the boy several times, but he has always come back and I accepted him willingly. I am 19 and think I should come to some decision.

WORRIED.

If you feel sure that this boy must go on endlessly supporting all these people, really not very kind to allow him to feel that you will diff with him indefinitely. It would seem that some of his family might contribute a little to the family fund by doing a little work. Certainly you should be honest with him and tell him you feel, in the circumstances, it is best not to give much of him. If you care to do so, you could say that you do not wish to end the friendship entirely; he will know on what terms he is accepted and can make his choice.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I WOULD a navy blue serge coat with too old-fashioned this spring? I have one, but must do some altering on it. I know the navy blue would be stylish, but I don't know about the serge.

I also saw in one of your letters that gray is out of style. I have a light gray crepe with blue and white taffeta sleeves and tie. I have a navy blue straw hat.

J. V.

I believe your coat, if you can change it some according to the lines of the new blue spring coats, would be quite all right. There is such variety in the cuts, however, that it may do with very little change.

Wash your gray dress with this color it will be all right. As happens nearly every spring, gray and the lighter tints are not much worn, even gray has been especially scarce this spring. But more of it is coming in now, and it is a pleasant surprise for spring. If you can buy a new dress and blue shoes, you will have a very nice outfit (but don't buy these in gray).

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WILL you kindly give me a recipe for hot cross buns?

MARY ANN.

Hot Cross Buns—One cup scalded milk, one-fourth cup sugar, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon yeast, one yeast cake dissolved in scalded milk, warm water, three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon, three cups flour, one egg, well beaten, one-fourth cup raisins, stoned and quartered, or one-fourth cup currants.

And butter, sugar and salt to taste. When lukewarm add dissolved yeast cake, cinnamon, flour and eggs when thoroughly mixed and knead, cover and let rise until light.

Make large biscuits, place in pan and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Moderate heat oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit). Garnish each with cross made of ornamental frosting.

Dear Martha Carr:
HOW can you clean furniture with a polished finish? My furniture has become smeared with wax and I used some polish and wax in it (which I bought from a canvasser) and it left my furniture very ugly-looking. I saw in the paper the other evening about using vinegar and warm water, but neglected to cut it out.

C. W. B.

You can use the vinegar and warm water now (a tablespoonful of vinegar to a cup of water). After this you would be wise to go to a reliable place where good furniture polish is sold, and get one of the safe furniture polishes.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WILL you please tell me where some of the good used clothing stores are in St. Louis? I have heard there are such places, but do not know where to find them as I live out of town.

A. G. S.

With these names, you will be able to send me self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WILL you please tell me if hunters need hunting and fishing licenses. If they do, at what age must they begin to take a license?

DUMB.

Anyone who is hunting has to take a license, excepting when hunting on their own property. Ask the City Hall or write State Game and Fish Commissioner, Jefferson City, Mo.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
Anyone has extra furniture they would like to give a worthy person, she would certainly be glad to get it. This is a girl 16, married, and her husband is unable to find a steady job. He is working now for one dollar a week. They stay in a small place and she is an expectant mother. She would be glad to work for this, but is unable to just Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. now. If she had a little furniture they could have a place for themselves as the father is not able to keep them. They would call for things.

A FRIEND.

Tell this young man to inquire at the Good Will Industries. He might be able to do a little work for some furniture, an arrangement they sometimes make, if people are deserving.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
COULD you tell me how to remove letters and colors from flour sacks, feed sacks, etc?

JEAN.

The old-fashioned javelle water, which you can buy at any drugist will take these out, usually. A tablespoonful to a small bowl of water. When you see the colors have faded out, rinse in clear water. Do not allow to dry before rinsing as this is like to rot the cloth.

The Variations In Pressure Of the Blood

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE variations in blood pressure that result naturally were discussed yesterday in this column. By naturally, I mean such variations as occur during the day, during the year, in different climates and races of men.

But there are other things which influence the blood pressure, and these are the things which we have control. Among agents that are extrinsic, the most marked change is made by tobacco. A normal healthy man smoking a cigar will have Dr. Clendening's blood pressure raised about 20 to 25 points. This is not quite so true in the confirmed smoker but is fairly true all the time.

Alcohol appears to have no influence whatever upon the blood pressure, one way or the other. Psychological states have a very marked effect upon blood pressure, and heated argument may raise the systolic pressure in a short time as much as 40 points. A professor who lectured to a class from 11:55 to 1:40 at 2 minutes after 1. By 1:22 it had sunk to 110. Muscular exertion, such as a contest in a game of football, may raise the systolic pressure. External temperature has slight influence on it, but if the temperature is changed in the form of a bath, the influence may be considerable.

Neither coffee nor tea raises the blood pressure to any extent, but both increase the rate of the passage of blood through the heart and kidneys and other organs.

It is not to be understood that this means that the use of tobacco will create a permanent state of high blood pressure. Indeed, people who have normal circulatory systems can and, as everybody can observe, do smoke through a long life without ever developing anything resembling the state called high blood pressure.

There are few substances which we ordinarily take which lower blood pressure to any extent. The drugs known as the nitrites do this, but they are used only for medicinal purposes.

Low blood pressure is not of any real significance unless it becomes very low. People frequently ask me what they should do for low blood pressure. My invariable answer is: "Get down on your knees and thank God for it."

It means, in my opinion, that the individual has an elastic set of arteries and that they will continue to stay elastic and that a long life is in store for him.

This applies to moderately low pressure. When blood pressure is very low, it means that there is a general debilitated condition of the body. Specifically, this debilitated condition is usually tuberculosis. Dr. Lander Brunton of England told a story of taking the blood pressure of every member of a class of medical students. One of them had an extremely low and persistently low reading. He was carefully examined but no cause for it could be found. Two years later Dr. Brunton was visiting a tuberculosis sanatorium when one of the patients approached him and recalled to him his identity as the student with the low pressure. He had developed unmistakable signs of tuberculosis a year and a half after the low blood pressure reading was made.

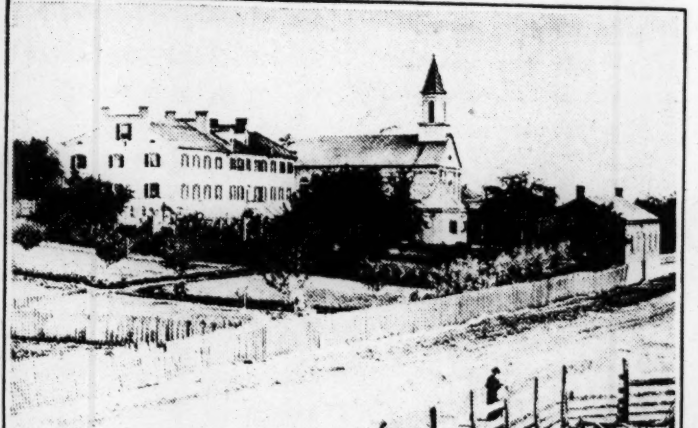

Dr. Brunton used to say that pressure he found a very low blood pressure he instinctively thought of tuberculosis.

MOTHER DUCHESNE

The St. Charles Nun Who May Become America's First Saint

SACRED HEART CONVENT... one result of Mother Duchesne's work.

By Marguerite Martyn.
THREE first-class miracles wrought by the intercession of Venerable Mother Philippine Duchesne remain to be proved beyond all shadow of doubt and then her name will be enshrined in the catalogue of saints of the Roman Catholic Church. When that last remaining step toward her canonization is accomplished, the nun, who in 1818 came from France and founded a log hut in St. Charles, what has grown to be the vast order of the Sacred Heart in this country, may be the first woman to be canonized as a saint in America. Since last Sunday when the Congregation of Rites in Rome in solemn session, formally accepted "the proof of her heroic virtues," the cause is further advanced than that of seven others now candidates for sainthood in the United States.

A hundred years used ordinarily to be consumed in the process of making a saint but even the Catholic Church, these days, seems to be speeding things up. Mother Duchesne was proposed for beatification in 1893 at which time an ecclesiastical court sat in St. Louis and postulates and vice-postulates were appointed to collect evidence on her life and works. In 1899 the late Bishop (then Father) Gillilan and Edward Papin took to Rome the testimony which was voluminous and the Cause of Canonization was allowed to be officially introduced. Much of this testimony was in the form of documents, letters and records written in Mother Duchesne's own fine French hand. Everything had to be examined and verified to the last degree. Many causes for beatification are introduced and progress favorably to a certain point where they are held up or even thrown out of consideration on some technicality or point unproved.

Now, having arrived at the final stage, it is thought that, what with improved methods of communication and making proofs, Mother Duchesne's canonization may be completed within a few years. When that time comes the bells of Rome's 400 churches will ring peans of praise. There will be ceremonies and processions such as are witnessed only upon the accession of a new saint in the calendar and the memory of the nun who once lived in St. Louis shall be celebrated every year throughout the universal church with pious devotion.

"Only the miracles now have to be proved," said Mother O'Loane, dean of the College, which is the mother house of the Southern vicariate of the Sacred Heart. "The evidence of numerous cures attributed to prayers directed through Mother Duchesne have been submitted. Just which cases will be accepted for final examination by the Congregation of Rites and which will prove decisive factors, we do not know. The cause of Mother Duchesne is well known to Catholics all over the world. To advance her cause many select her as a special pleader, and we know of innumerable cures and other manifestations of grace attributed to her. But a first-class miracle," said Mother O'Loane with emphasis, "must be a positive, sudden, overnight cure of some organic disease which has been proclaimed by physicians to be beyond all medical skill. It must have witnesses and must be attested by X-rays and all the other scientific proofs available and sworn to by accredited physicians before it is acceptable. The three miracles which will decide the sanctification of Mother Duchesne will have to be such as those which decided the cause of Madeleine Sophie Barat, who was canonized in 1925. One of these was the cure of Sister Coin, who was dying of tuberculosis. One day X-rays showed her lungs entirely diseased. She was breathing her last breaths. A novena was made to Mother Barat. The next day X-rays showed Sister Coin's lungs entirely restored and to this day she is carrying on in the best of health in Baltimore.

"Another miraculous cure accepted on behalf of Mother Barat was that of Nancy Bakewell, later Mrs. O. M. Monroe of De Soto, and a member of the numerous Bakewell family here in St. Louis. On September 17, 1867, she was cured overnight of a hip disease, following the application of relics of Mother Barat and a novena made to her at the Sacred Heart convent then on Dilworth street.

"Evidence of cures just as miraculous have been submitted on behalf of Mother Duchesne," declared Mother O'Loane. The cases came from scattered quarters of the world. None, I believe from North America. We would not mention one case in favor of another lest we seem to be trying to influence the jury. Everything must be absolutely fair. All the thing religious was proscribed. We had to assume the title, Dames du Sacre Cœur because "religieuse" was taboo in France and "Ladies" or "Madames" is merely the literal translation.

"I thought it was because the first recruits came from the ladies of the nobility," the interviewer suggested.

"That may be true," responded Mother Callan. "But we are not proud as is so often said of us. We are organized on the pattern of the Jesuits who have lay Brothers and Fathers. We have the Sisters who assist with the intention of devoting themselves to domestic duties and the Mothers who come in with the purpose of advancing education but there are no class distinctions really. The Marthas are respected equally with the Marys."

MOTHER DUCHESNE always wanted to serve in the foreign mission field, related Mother Callan. Her chance did not come until she was 49 years old when Mgr. Du Bourg, Bishop of Louisiana and the Floridas, came to France telling how badly both nuns and priests were needed in the large French territory bordering the Mississippi. Mother Duchesne begged to be allowed to return with him and organized a company of four others of our Order, Mothers Aude and Berthold and Sisters Lamarque and Manteau. Together they embarked on a small sailing vessel bound for New Orleans. For 70 days they tossed on tempestuous seas with moldy biscuits to eat and stagnant water to drink, and there was still another peril. The crew looked askance at the nuns and suggested casting lots to decide which was the Jonas causing the storms. When the storms would subside the grim Captain would say, "Sing your hymns, sister. I believe they bring us favorable winds." Writing later to her Mother General, Philippine said: "Neither the perils of the deep nor the cowardice of my heart shall I hide from you. A storm at sea is a terrifying sight. Above the tempest and the roaring winds rise the shouts of the sailors, but even more dismal and terrifying is their silence."

Arriving at New Orleans on the Feast of the Sacred Heart, May 29, 1818, Mother Duchesne developed scurvy and seemed doomed to die at the very threshold of her promised land. At length on Aug. 20 the party arrived by boat at St. Louis, the voyage taking 40 days, only to find that St. Charles, a more flourishing settlement, offered

Poor Butterfly, She Loved His Dough

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

THERE will be no more breach of promise cases in New York State. Some of our best families are getting ready to move.

The Assembly says gold will not heal a broken heart. It will not heal a broken dish either. But it will buy plenty of glue.

The Senators say they have abolished legalized blackmail. Gold will not restore wasted affection. That's nice for the sugar daddies. But how about poor butterfly 'neath the blossoms waiting?

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. With the help of the Assembly he can promise in haste and repeat at leisure.
